

WOMAN IS KILLED; 18 HURT IN STREETS

Speeding Motorist Flees After Dragging Victim Nearly a Block, Witnesses Say

FRIEND ESCAPES INJURY

One woman was killed and eighteen persons were injured in street accidents in this city and Camden yesterday. All were auto accidents excepting one, in which a woman was injured by a trolley car. In two of them, one of which was fatal, the drivers escaped arrest.

Mrs. Margaret Pollock, 1204 South Twenty-second street, was instantly killed and her body dragged for nearly a block by a speeding automobile which struck her as she was crossing Spruce street near Fifty-ninth last night.

When the driver of the automobile, a high-powered limousine, which witnesses say was going at the rate of forty miles an hour when it hit Mrs. Pollock, saw that the woman was struck he put on more speed. At Fifty-eighth street the body was dropped to the street and the machine was soon out of sight.

Became Confused

Mrs. Pollock was crossing the street in company with Mrs. Margaret Lowther, 1128 South Twenty-second street. Noticing the machine coming toward her she became confused. There was a crash and the car—Mrs. Pollock's body dragging from a fender—sped along Spruce street. Mrs. Lowther, who was in the front seat, was thrown from the car to halt, but he hurried on.

Physicians at the University Hospital said almost every bone was broken. Police have a description of the limousine.

Struck by an automobile at Broad street and Susquehanna avenue as she was on her way home from church, Mrs. Buck, seventy-seven years old, 2107 Clarion street, sustained a fracture of a rib and other injuries. She was taken to the Women's Homeopathic Hospital.

Mrs. Joseph Kowalski, 4724 Milnor street, is in a critical condition in the Frankford Hospital as the result of injuries received when she was struck by a trolley car at Orthodox and Beranda streets. She may have a fractured skull.

Car and Cycle Collide

Thrown from his motorcycle when it collided with an automobile on the Northeast boulevard, John Fitzpatrick, 1242 South Thirty-third street, sustained severe injuries to his right leg. He was taken to the Frankford Hospital by Albert Micholowski, Mercier street, driver of the automobile.

Fred Williamson and his son, Fred, Jr., 1712 Morris street, were both slightly injured when a motor truck struck the car they were driving on South street. When the accident occurred the driver of the truck and a man with him fled, and though fired at by a policeman, they escaped. The Williamson boys were treated at the Howard Hospital.

Stephen Businski, Camden, was struck by an automobile at Broadway and Bulson street yesterday and badly bruised. Twelve-year-old Richard Kaslen, of Woodlawn, was also badly bruised when struck by an automobile at Broadway and Sycamore street. Cuts on the face were sustained by William Casio, 215 Federal street, Camden, when he was struck by a motorcar. He was treated at the Cooper Hospital.

Struck by an automobile last night at Broadway and Kaighn avenue, Camden, Marie Engle, eleven years old, of 416 Kaighn avenue, is in a serious condition today in Cooper Hospital. The girl stepped from the path of one machine directly into that of another.

Louis Schuler, 325 Spruce street, driver of the machine, was held in $1000 bail for a hearing.

Mary McKee, 2033 Cedar avenue, Bessie Buckley, 5619 Chestnut street, and F. J. Mahon, 3844 De Lancey street, were slightly injured yesterday when an automobile in which they were riding collided with another at Fifty-fifth street and Cedar avenue. All were taken to the Misericordia Hospital.

A. B. Vogt, Sixty-third street near Lamsdown avenue, driver of the other automobile, was held in $400 bail for a further hearing.

Six persons, four of them children, were hurt when a motorcar in which they were riding overturned on the Old York road near Janison. They were John McIntyre and his two children, and Mrs. Frank Seese and her two children, all of Bridgeport. All were treated for slight injuries at the Abington Memorial Hospital.

PENNA. NURSE HONORED

Miss Alice Fitzgerald Appointed Chief of Red Cross League

New York, Nov. 3.—Miss Alice Fitzgerald, chief nurse of the American Red Cross commission to Europe, has been appointed chief nurse of the League of Red Cross Societies, according to a cable message from Geneva, in which she is named as the American Red Cross representative.

A graduate of Johns Hopkins Training School for Nurses, Miss Fitzgerald was sent overseas by group in prominent Bostonians in March, 1916, as an Edith Cavell memorial nurse with the British expeditionary forces. After serving in Italy she assumed the duties of all American Red Cross nurses in the Service de Sante of the French Government.

QUITS PULPIT AFTER 27 YRS.

Dr. I. Mench Chambers, of Merchantville, Surprises Congregation

Merchantville, N. J., Nov. 3.—The Rev. Dr. I. Mench Chambers, for twenty-seven years pastor of the Merchantville Presbyterian Church and one of the best known ministers in the West Jersey Presbytery, surprised his congregation yesterday by resigning. No reason for his action was given. To a delegation of members of the church who waited on him later in the day to urge him to reconsider his action Doctor Chambers intimated that since the death of Mrs. Chambers about a year ago he had felt like seeking some field away from the scene of his bereavement. He said he had not accepted any call elsewhere.

Members of the congregation at an informal conference later in the day raised a purse of $1000 for the pastor. Doctor Chambers was the founder of the Synodicate of Love, which distributes helpful literature throughout all English-speaking countries, and he has contributed many poems to this besides having written a number of successful books. He was recently moderator of the Presbyterian synod of New Jersey.

Kills Chum; Then Shoots Himself

Alvinston, Ont., Nov. 3.—Heartbroken because he had accidentally shot and killed his chum, Russel Barnes, while out hunting, John Horsepoet in turn shot and killed himself.

N. J. REPUBLICANS AGGRESSIVE TO END

Election of Bugbee as Governor Confidently Claimed on Eve of Election

SHARPLY ASSAIL EDWARDS

Trenton, Nov. 3.—"Last statements" and confident "claims" by Republican and Democratic leaders mark the close of the red-hot campaign for governor that has kept New Jersey in a condition of lively excitement during two or three weeks last past.

State Comptroller Newton A. K. Bugbee, the Republican candidate for governor, said today he expected a 35,000 majority at tomorrow's election. State Senator Edward I. Edwards, his Democratic opponent, places his own majority at about the same figure.

The Republican claims are marked by an aggressiveness not manifest in those of the Democrats.

Ex-Governor Edward S. Stokes, who has been held marshal for the Bugbee campaign and a most adroit political manager, being asked for an estimate of tomorrow's result, replied: "The argument is in the prediction has been made, the case is before the jury and, like Dr. Moran, I prefer to do my talking after the result."

Stokes Attacks Nullification

The "prediction" included the 35,000 Bugbee plurality, while the "argument" on which the latter's campaign has been waged in large measure refers to what Stokes declares to be the Democratic party's opposition to a part of our constitution, its determination to "nullify" the eighteenth amendment.

Against this attitude Stokes places the pledge of Mr. Bugbee to "maintain and defend the constitution and the law."

Undoubtedly the prohibition issue has been cutting a large swath in the political campaign in this state, accentuated within the last week by President Wilson's veto of the dry bill enforcement act, the charge having gained currency from Republican sources that the veto was prompted by Mr. Wilson's desire to help the candidacy of Edwards and swing New Jersey to the Democratic party.

United States Senator Frelinghuysen's suggestion to this effect brought a hot retort from Joseph Tumulty, private secretary to the President, who sought to show Frelinghuysen's own personal inconsistency on the prohibition issue.

Republican leaders point out that Edwards can take little comfort out of the veto message which declares that the eighteenth amendment is now part of the fundamental law of the land, a position which Bugbee has all along urged, and one which Edwards has told his auditors he would do what he could to render innocuous as far as it affected New Jersey, in the event of his election as governor.

Bugbee's followers have made all the capital possible out of this so-called "nullification" attitude of his opponent and the Democratic campaigners.

There has been an outright endorsement of Bugbee's candidacy by the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League. This is taken to mean that Bugbee will get the solid dry vote and that very little of it will get to Lane, the out-and-out prohibition gubernatorial candidate.

The woman suffrage proposition, which Edwards favors and which Bugbee would leave to a state referendum, seems to have aroused little interest or else the interest in it has been overshadowed by the prohibition issue.

Bugbee Charges Plot in Hudson

Charges of contemplated frauds on a wholesale scale in Hudson county are made by Mr. Bugbee in a long statement in which he says Prosecutor Pierre P. Garvon, of that county, has exposed the attempt of Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, to steal the election by means of fraudulent registration. Bugbee says affidavits have been obtained which show that dead men, New York gunmen, service men and priests, overseas and others not legally entitled to vote in Hudson county, have been placed on the registry lists for the purpose of giving that county which has been the honor of Hague ever since this campaign opened.

Mr. Bugbee adds that ample measures have been taken to defeat the attempt and to punish the would-be ballot tamers.

Frelinghuysen Raps Edwards

Senator Frelinghuysen's statement boosting the Republican candidate, sharply criticizes the conduct of Mr. Edwards when the latter was state comptroller, declaring that when a statute was passed directing the distribution of certain school funds which have long been delayed, it was Mr. Edwards who ignored the law and withheld for nearly a year from the school districts the necessary funds.

"The state board of education openly protested by resolution against this action on Mr. Edwards' part," says Senator Frelinghuysen, "and it was never satisfactorily explained to me, as vice-president of the state board of education, why Mr. Edwards withheld these funds, although he personally admitted to me at the time that he had $200,000 of the school funds deposited in the bank of which he was president."

"Mr. Bugbee, on the contrary, during his connection with the state as comptroller has promptly distributed the school funds without unnecessary delay, and has consistently supported and encouraged the cause of educational policy at all times."

Democratic Setback in Central Jersey

Democratic gubernatorial hopes in central Jersey have suffered a severe setback by the withdrawal of several of the most prominent leaders of the party from campaign activities for Senator Edwards since the latter announced his defiance of the federal constitution. On top of this defection, which was very noticeable when the Edwards cohorts endeavored to conduct a campaign tour of the county Friday, comes another shock in the editorial announcement of the Freehold Transcript, most influential Democratic organ in this section of the state, declaring that all Democrats owe it to their party and their country to vote against Edwards and any legislative candidate who subscribes to the same policy of nullification.

"Mr. Edwards asks us to give his candidacy thoughtful consideration," says the Transcript. "We have done so; it has furnished food for thought for many heretofore quite regular Democrats, but we, like many others, are obliged to decline to vote for Mr. Edwards."

Edwards Seeks Fraud in Camden

The headquarters of the Edward I. Edwards campaign committee in Jersey City claim that an attempt will be made to frustrate the will of the people of Camden county in the use of repeated or a fraudulent count of the votes. Immediately upon the receipt of this information Senator Edwards issued this statement:

"When I assume the office of governor, my first official act will be to thoroughly investigate the honesty of the election as conducted in Camden county. Heretofore elections conducted in the county of Camden have been fraudulent on the part of the Republican organization. The records of the original count proved that."

"I give fair warning that any one connected in any way with the perpetration of fraud will surely go to jail. I know that I will have support of the decent people of Camden county, who do not want any repetition of former election scandals."

BUGBEE DENOUNCES "RED" DEMOCRATS

Palmyra, N. J., Nov. 3.—With a cavalcade of twenty-five automobiles and accompanied by more than 700 prominent citizens, State Comptroller Newton A. K. Bugbee, Republican candidate for governor, toured Burlington county today before leaving to close his campaign in Morris county, where he is scheduled to address meetings in Morristown, Roseton and Dover.

Mr. Bugbee arrived in Mount Holly shortly before 8 o'clock this morning and spoke to an early audience at the court house, leaving Mount Holly, the party proceeded to Smithville, Pomerton, Vincocton, Lambertton, Medford, Marlton, Moorestown, Palmyra, Riverton and Riverside, where lunch was served at noon.

In the afternoon the itinerary included Bridgeboro, Burlington, Florence, Roseling, Bordentown and Columbus.

In addressing an audience here, Mr. Bugbee said:

"My Democratic opponent and the Democratic party have no issue, even in the closing hour of the campaign, excepting we are again the government. They offer no program for the benefit of the State; no adjustment for industrial problems; no plan for state development; nothing is said about relieving the high cost of living; nothing about bettering transportation and marketing facilities for the farmers; nothing said about meeting the requirements of our school system made necessary by the war; nothing about reducing the burden of taxation now resting upon our people."

"They ask to be put in power in this state for the sole purpose of destroying the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States. And this they could not do if placed in power, and they know it. They know the supreme law of the land is impregnable against any assault that might be made upon it—but they stand—like Bolsheviks and anarchists they are 'agin' the government."

WOMEN WAIT IN VAIN FOR FIANCES AT PIER

Danish and Swedish Brides-to-Be Sent to Gloucester Immigration Station

Long before the Frederick VIII tied up at Catharine street pier on Friday, two women were eagerly scanning the men on the wharf. Over and over again they looked long and well at each man until they found he wasn't the man. They weren't flirting—they were engaged to be married—all the other women on the ship were either married or else only had "hopes."

These two, one a native of Sweden, the other of Denmark, had the golden promise from two of their countrymen and glowing with anticipation, they looked forward to the realization of their dreams.

When the big liner finally got comfortably settled and its passengers and their baggage began getting off they looked again. There were crowds on the wharf and more on the street outside. But the two long-looked-for husbands-to-be were not among them.

These two women of flaxen hair and rosy complexion were taken to the Gloucester immigrant station, where they will be held pending an investigation and the arrival of their fiancés.

Their names are Kirsten Dargaard, a Marie Berggren, a twenty-two year old native of Sweden.
