MOON ESTATE OVER $200,000

Former Congressman Leaves Fortune to Relatives—Other Wills Probated

More than $200,000 was left to relatives in the will of former Congressman Reuben O. Moon, which was admitted to probate today. Congressman Moon, who died on October 28 at the Bellevue-Stratford, divided the sum between his widow, Mrs. A. Moon, a daughter, Mabel M. Moon, and two granddaughters.

Beneficiaries were also the beneficiaries in four other wills admitted to probate today. They were as follows: Adolph Bode, 1845 W. 11th street, $10,000; Reginald Barnes, 11th and Chestnut, $15,000; Eliza J. Logan, 5402 Larchwood avenue, $67,000; and Maria N. Bartholomew, Concord, Mass., $10,000.

MINISTER DECLINES CALL

The Rev. J. B. C. Mackie, Haddonfield, Remains

The Rev. Joseph B. C. Mackie, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Haddonfield, N. J., for the third time has declined a call to head the Fourth Presbyterian Church, of Pittsburgh. This is one of Pittsburgh's fashionable churches. The salary offered, $1,300 a year, is nearly double that of Mackie now receives. His salary in Haddonfield is $550 a year. He has been in his present charge nearly three years. The Haddonfield church is the largest and most important church in the West Jersey Presbytery and has among its members many well-to-do persons, including several millionaires.

"STOKOWSKI'S LUNCHEON"

Leader of Orchestra Presided at Today's Meeting

"Stokowski's Luncheon," as the last luncheon of the Philadelphia Orchestra $1,000,000 endowment fund campaign, has been designated, was the crowning feature of the day. The luncheon was given at the Hotel Ritz-Carlton this noon with hundreds of workers in attendance and Sir Johnston Ford, Robertson, as the guest of honor and principal speaker.

Use of "Photo-play" Upheld

COUNCILS TAKE UP LOAN SUBSTITUTE

Item of $250,000 for Camden Bridge Features Measure Introduced Today

TOTAL SET AT $2,000,000

A new $2,000,000 temporary loan bill, including $250,000 for the Philadelphia-Camden bridge, will be the most important matter to be discussed by Councils at its meeting this afternoon.

Traffic regulation bills probably will not be considered.
Chairman Gaffney, of Councils' finance committee, is expected to introduce a bill providing for the $2,000,000 loan collection, with the understanding that the city comply with the provision requiring the completion of the Art Palace on the Parkway within five years. The measure is a formal matter, and makes the city responsible for any taxes that may be collected on the loan by the federal authorities.

The only action in Councils today, in connection with the Elkins budget, will be the introduction of the ordinance accepting the gift. No other ordinance will be presented. It was explained, because the Fairmount Park Commission and Mayor Smith have not yet received official notification of the gift.
The items of the $2,000,000 temporary loan bill were agreed upon last week, and as reported today, the bill is expected to finally pass Councils at the next session this month. The item of most general interest is the $250,000 set aside for the city's share in the first year's work on the Philadelphia-Camden bridge. The largest single item is one for $185,000 for the police payroll till the end of the year.

City Solicitor Sees No Violation of Blue Law—Aviator Discharged
Lieutenant John C. Howard, charged with violating the blue law of 1794 by taking a passenger for an airplane ride on Sunday, was discharged this morning by Magistrate Baker.

Magistrate Baker on October 21 held the case for a further hearing. In the meantime he obtained an opinion from City Solicitor Connelly which stated to take passengers for rides in airplanes Sunday is not a violation of the law, and last Sunday the magistrate took a ride himself, when he went to the field to investigate conditions.

SHE WEARS PARIS PANTALOONS

Knee trousers of the knickerbocker style will be worn by American women in a short time if the prediction of Miss A. Sheer, of New York, who returned to the United States from Paris, comes true. Miss Sheer wears 'em. They are a sort of harem variety, made of dark cloth, caught at the knees and trimmed with gold braid. "There is really no reasonable argument against pantaloons," Miss Sheer said. "They certainly are comfortable and allow the wearer greater freedom. The farmerettes showed skirts were a thing of the past. Certainly if one wore pantaloons one would be different, but the women of America are nothing if not different."

WOMEN TO HEAR DR. ADLER

Will Tell How Jews Are Affected by Peace Conference Action

"A Statement of the Action of the Peace Conference as Affecting the Jews" will be the subject of Dr. Adler's talk before the Council of Jewish Women on November 11. The meeting will be held at 2:30 in the afternoon in Mercantile Club and a musical program by Mrs. Alexander Lieberman and Mrs. Adolph Loeb is scheduled in addition to business.

The Council of Jewish Women will be twenty-five years old this winter, and in celebration of the silver anniversary a festive afternoon is being planned for December 9.

One hundred slaughterers of council members have been invited to take part in a dancing feature and a short play that will be given, illustrating the growth of the council, which at present numbers more than 1200 members.

In charge of the anniversary festivities are Mrs. Harry Bissinger, chairman; Mrs. Richard Blum, Mrs. Henry Brown, Mrs. Walter Dalsimer, Mrs. Milton Katzenberg, Mrs. Mark Leibold, Mrs. Joseph A. Longheim, Mrs. Jacques Moss, Mrs. Isaac Plant, Mrs. Joseph N. Stollenberg and Mrs. Lester Wolf.

WARNING TO NAVIGATORS

U. S. Engineer Locates Wrecks Sunk in Delaware River

Lieutenant Colonel W. B. Ladd, United States engineer, issued a general warning of the presence of the following wrecks to navigation in the Delaware river:

The dredge Independence, lying in the east side of Lehigh range about 675 feet east of the channel center line at a point about 1000 feet below the entrance to the Delaware and Lehigh canal. This wreck is now being removed.

A lighter said to be the Egan, lying in the west side of Lehigh range, about 280 feet west of the channel center line at a point about 2000 feet below Florence from Works in about eleven feet of water.

A canal boat, said to be the Volante, lying on the west side of Lehigh range about 600 feet east of the channel center line at a point about 800 feet below the wharf at Robbing, N. J.

The dredge Reliance, lying on the east side of Lehigh range about 400 feet west of the centerline of the channel at a point about 900 feet below the upper end of Money Island.

The boy fell from the handlebars of a playmate's bicycle on to a fender of a passing automobile. His father is a well-known business man and both his parents are prominent socially in Germantown. One of the boy's brothers is a student at Princeton, and another is Bradrick Dinsmore, German town Academy athlete.
