WOMEN VOTERS' HEAD TO GIVE VIEWS HERE

Mrs. Charles H. Brooks Will Explain Policies of League at Suffrage Convention

Policies of the League of Women Voters will be explained on Tuesday next by Mrs. Charles H. Brooks, national chairman of the organization. Mrs. Brooks, who will attend the convention of the Pennsylvania Women Suffrage Association at the Bellevue-Stratford will be the first representative of the League of Women Voters to speak in this city.

The league has branches in every state where women vote and the suffrage association, through the machinery of next week's convention, will be turned into the Pennsylvania League of Women Citizens, affiliated with the organization headed by Mrs. Brooks.

The league has departments on citizenship, civics, economics and other matters dealing with the body politic. In some of the states it has had a large part in getting the passage or enforcement of legislation or reforms.

FLOWER SHOW ON AT CHESTNUT HILL

Dr. A. V. Mattison Carries Off Many Opening-Night Prizes at Annual Exhibit

CHRYSANTHEMUMS FEATURE

Unusually fine specimens of chrysanthemums feature the eighteenth annual exhibition of the Chestnut Hill Horticultural Society, being held in the Lutheran Church parish house, Southampton and Geranotown avenues. A large pink bloom, "Daylight," introduced by Dr. A. V. Mattison, especially attracts the attention of chrysanthemum lovers who visit the show.

Doctor Mattison, whose gardener is O. A. Muller, carried off many prizes at the opening of the show last night, among them being a silver plate awarded by Charles Bros., Chestnut Hill, for the best display of cut flowers.

Chrysanthemums are not the only flowers which attract persons to the exhibition. Roses, carnations, foliage plants and vegetables, all fine specimens, are displayed. The show will close tonight.

A certificate of merit was awarded to Adolf Muller, of the DeKalb Nurseries, Norristown, for a very fine exhibit of foliage plants. Countess von Holstein received a similar award for a display of the Aaron Ward roses.

Pennsylvania sweet potatoes, almost a foot long and proportionately large in circumference, were the subject of much comment. For this entry a certificate of merit was awarded to Charles N. Welsh, gardener, John Little.

Arthur E. Newhall, Jr., president of the society, received a certificate of merit for a dish of fine Ribwort pears. His gardener is George Robertson.

Prizes for gardeners having the largest number of entries, donated by Mrs. Edward N. Benson, were awarded to John Little and to Lawrence LaHiff.

Florists who acted as judges of the exhibition were Edward Cox, chairman; William Boyce and William Morison.

Among the exhibitors who attended the opening of the show were Countess von Holstein, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wright, Mrs. Charles W. Hogg and Charles N. Welsh. Many others are expected today.

CORPS RETURNS FLAGS

Veterans Give Business Men Standards Carried During War

Tattered and stained from their service overseas, two flags presented to the Flota Business Men's Association in June, 1917, were last night returned to their donors.

The flags were presented to the corps at the training camp at Allentown and were carried overseas by the organization. They now occupy a place of honor in the association's headquarters, 2544 Germantown avenue. Major W. C. Hagen returned the standards to the association.

Following her talk, Mrs. Wilson demonstrated cake-making and egg-less mayonnaise dressing.

The Paragraph Club has nearly 100 members and has six departments for the study of art, civics, current events, literature, music and domestic science.

SUBURBS CAN AID LIVING-COST WAR

Mrs. Wilson, Evening Public Ledger Food Expert, Tells Beverly, N. J., Women How

WOULD BOYCOTT LUXURIES

Spanning the distance between the suburban districts and the big cities and eliminating the middleman is a solution for the problem of high prices.

Mrs. Mary A. Wilson, food expert of the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER, told the women of Beverly, N. J.

Sixty women, members of the Paragraph Club, and an equal number of children from the public schools of the town where domestic science courses are begun in the fifth grade, attended the economy talk and learned that saving in the country was as necessary as saving in the big cities.

"I should like to see the contact between the suburban districts and the cities so close that there would be no room for the middleman to squeeze through with his profiteering," said Mrs. Wilson.

"The women in the rural districts have as big a responsibility in solving the problem of high costs as the organized women in the cities who are getting together to combat the profiteer. They should boycott the high-priced foods. Those near to the sources of food supplies should save and contribute their small savings to those who live in the larger cities. Creating a surplus in necessary foods is the only sure way of bringing the cost of living down."

Following her talk, Mrs. Wilson demonstrated cake-making and egg-less mayonnaise dressing.

The Paragraph Club has nearly 100 members and has six departments for the study of art, civics, current events, literature, music and domestic science.

Mrs. A. H. Macpherson is president of the club and other officers include Mrs. Philip S. Clarkson, Mrs. Herbert J. Cook, Mrs. William T. Kirk, Miss Martha B. Smith, Mrs. J. Fletcher Street, Mrs. Matthew Purcell and Mrs. J. Lindsay Clarkson.

PORTS' ACTIVITIES SHATTER RECORDS

Imports for Nine Months of 1919 Show Increase of $62,828,608

EXPORTS RISE $26,142,628

All records for imports and exports are broken by the port of Philadelphia, according to figures in the monthly report of George F. Sproule, secretary to the Commissioners of Navigation.

During the first nine months of this year Philadelphia exported and imported $88,971,136 worth more commodities than during the same period in 1918.

Of this gain the figures for increase in exports are $26,142,628, and the gain for imports totals $62,828,608 over the first nine months last year.

The establishment of sixteen new ship lines in the nine-month period, connecting this city with all parts of the world, are largely responsible for the increase in imported commodities. Gains in imports are registered in raw sugar, chalk, chrome and iron ores, baganias, corkwood, salt and molasses.

Corn, rye and flour from corn, rye and wheat, refined sugar, molasses, pork products, petroleum, coal and condensed milk are things which have made the value of exports increase.

An increase of 568 foreign vessels arrived this year, as compared with the number for the nine-month period in 1918. The additional tonnage represented by the increased number of ships is 1,821,526.

SOCIETY WOMEN HELP FIGHT ARDMORE FIRE

Three Main Line Matrons Rescue Red Cross Records After Gas Explosion

The rescue of Red Cross data and material was the sole thought in the minds of the three Main Line society women who yesterday prevented the spread of a fire on the second floor of the Merion Title Building at Ardmore.

Mrs. Alexander Brown and Mrs. Henry C. Earnshaw, of Bryn Mawr, and Mrs. Harland C. Nicholson, of Ardmore, were the three women who proved themselves heroines when an explosion in a room opposite the Red Cross headquarters threatened to develop into a serious blaze.

William Jennings, an employe of an electrical concern, was working in the room and struck a match near a leaking gas pipe. There was a roar and a sheet of flame shot up. The Red Cross workers across the hall, who had just finished a meeting, rushed into the hall.

Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Earnshaw and Mrs. Nicholson obtained a fire extinguisher and kept the fire down until help arrived.

Mrs. Brown confessed this morning that they were terrified for a moment, but that the main thought in the minds of all of them, was saving Red Cross material which was stored in their room.

Jennings was burned about the head and was taken to the Bryn Mawr Hospital in Mrs. Earnshaw's automobile.

HALLAHAN'S GOOD SHOES

Sane and Thoughtful Men will read and act quickly—for the man with $7.50 in his pocket today commands as good a pair of shoes, at any of our stores, as $10 will ordinarily buy. This is entirely incidental to a big business; and we're not looking cost too closely in the face. The price is absurdly low; but high prices don't make good shoes, and good shoes are the only kind that go out of a HALLAHAN store.

Fresh, reasonable, handsome, stylish footwear—quality and workmanship unquestionably good. They're Goodyear-welted, have oak blucher—in English, medium and broad-toe lasts, in about 40 styles. Gunmetal, brown, cord-tan and mahogany.

Tomorrow Last Great Day

The Fur Event Extraordinary

If you would save on Furs to the immense extent in this Sale's opportunities, then you must determine to shop here tomorrow without fail:

We bought $110,000.00 Worth of Fur Skins from a prominent New York Skin dealer at price concessions enabling us to offer you 25 to 30 Per Cent Savings!

This was a mutually satisfactory deal—this skin merchant needed ready cash to buy out his partner's interest, his capital being tied up in the voluminous stocks of raw skins that flooded his warehouse. This is the case with the majority of large mercantile ventures, but we saw the opportunity. Our offer was small compared to the value of the goods, but tempting enough to the man who wanted the money. He accepted. We bought. And then manufactured. Now the goods are here, but we must announce the Last Day of This Sale for Tomorrow:
