Nancy Wynne Tells of Three Debutante Teas Today. She Anticipates Hearing Ole Hanson on Friday Night

THREE teas today. Sarah Fox and Evelyn Smith to be introduced, and Frances Leech. Sarah will be given a party at the old Wister house, 400 Locust street, now owned by the Continental Dames. And Evelyn will have a tea at the Bellevue-Stratford, while the Leech tea will be in West Philadelphia.

Sarah Fox is the youngest daughter of the Joseph Mikie Foxes, of the Dell, Torrance. Her sister, Jean, came out three years ago, and another sister, Maida, was a debutante of five or six seasons ago. Maida has been married several years now.

Dr. Fox is a brother of Mr. Charles P. Fox, who married Miss Mary Large, and of Mrs. George W. Norris, who was Miss Sarah Fox, and for whom Sarah was named.

EVELYN SMITH is the daughter of Mrs. Harry Clifton Adams, whose first husband was the late Harry Smith, you know. A few years ago Mrs. Adams married her first husband's brother-in-law, Mr. Adams, whose first wife had been a Miss Mabel Smith and who died some years before, too.

At Cape May three summers ago, Mr. and Mrs. Adams were in an automobile accident and Mr. Adams was killed. Mrs. Adams was ill for a long time after that, but finally recovered entirely.

Evelyn is Mrs. Adams' second daughter, the first, Margaret, is now Mrs. Tommy Hart.

FRANCES LEECH will be introduced by her grandmother, Mrs. William Henry Williams, at her home, 8040 Spruce street. Most of the season's buds will receive with the three debutantes this afternoon, and I do hope the weather will be better than it was yesterday.

I SAW Lisa Norris and Mrs. Joe Bailey walking up Walnut street on Monday afternoon. They were wearing those new long crepe hats which are the height of the fashion.

Not that they were very long, as neither Lisa nor Ethel wear long frocks. Lisa's was of brown fur, very full about the shoulders, and she wore a small blue-green toque of duvetyne cloth. Ethel is in black for her mother, Mrs. George Hahn, who died some weeks ago.

AREN'T you interested in Ole Hanson's coming here on Friday night to speak for the benefit of the tubercular soldiers? He won the admiration of the country when he handled strike matters so well in Seattle as mayor.

Understand the Chamber of Commerce and members of the Red Cross are greatly interested in this meeting Friday night.

Of course, helping the tubercular is one of the works of the Red Cross, and of course, the men of the Chamber of Commerce are interested beyond everything to hear Ole Hanson, always a strong friend of George H. Strawbridge, of Bala, is one of those who invited him here to speak.

WOULD you believe that there are two other rummage sales "on the tapis" this week, besides the one for the Presbyterian orphanage, I told you about? There's a huge one taking the entire week going on at 215 South Broad street under the auspices of the Emergency Aid. And then the Habington Hospital is having a big one, too. Theirs is uptown. A lady thinks that rather a good idea, don't you?

Most of the sales have been around the same places and so this one in the old postoffice building at 1927 Columbia avenue will doubtless have an entirely different clientele.

Among the women interested in the Habington sale are Mrs. Clarence Bartlett, Miss Gertrude Allen, Mrs. Gideon Boericke, Mrs. John Boericke, Mrs. Duncan Campbell, Mrs. Thomas Carmichael, Mrs. George M. Thomas, Jr., Mrs. Walter Madeira, Mrs. John Wittaker, Mrs. John Grubel, Mrs. Dillwyn Wister, Mrs. Edmund Lewis and several others whose names I do not remember.

MARY is two and a half years old, but she seems to have decided regarding powers and deal of her own. The other day she was given an apple and she bit into it with relish. Then just as suddenly, she decided she did not want that apple and so she threw it far across the lawn.

"Why, Mary," said mother, "that's a sin."

"No, it isn't, mother, it's an apple," said our literal wee friend, NANCY WYNNE.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES
