Mrs. Baldwin Urges Child-Welfare Work at Sunday School Meeting

OFFICERS ARE RE-ELECTED

Trenton, Nov. 13.—Featured by a pageant titled "The Rights of the Child," the second day of the convention of the New Jersey Sunday School convention came to a close last night in the First Presbyterian Church. Thirty children from various parts of the state participated in the pageant, which was staged under the supervision of Mrs. Frank C. Everett, Mrs. J. V. Condit, Mrs. Hugh Trout and Mrs. J. B. Garrison, all of this city.

The purpose of the pageant was to impress upon the delegates the importance of child welfare work and the session was presided over by the pastor, an impressive speech delivered earlier in the day by Mrs. M. J. Baldwin, a leading figure in state and international associations. Mrs. Baldwin showed that most child welfare workers overlooked the fact that while there were agencies for good among the children there were at the same time other elements which were continually working to bring out the ruination of the young. She dwelt upon the importance of energetic efforts to overcome these bad influences and urged upon the delegates the necessity for frequent conferences by parent and teacher organizations as well as other community societies which work for moral betterment.

Among the important matters up before the convention was election of officers, but this piece of business was speedily disposed of when all of the old officers were again chosen to serve for the ensuing year. Harry S. Jackson, of Asbury Park, was re-elected president; Edward W. Dunham, of this city, treasurer; the Rev. Samuel D. Price, of Montclair, recording secretary. Vice presidents—First district (comprising Atlantic, Cape May, Cumberland and Salem), the Rev. A. W. Soane, Flemington; fifth district (Sussex, Warren, Morris), E. C. Searies, Chester; sixth district (Passaic, Bergen, Hudson), the Rev. H. C. Cronin, City City; seventh district (Essex and Union), W. C. Hubbard, Plainfield.

WOMEN ENVY MRS. WILSON
First Lady of the Land Secures Magnificent Fur Coat

Nov. 13.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, first lady of the land, will wear a magnificent fur coat when she leaves for Europe. The coat, which was made in Chicago and delivered to her yesterday, is made of minkskin. The furrier who made the coat said today it is one of the most elaborate pieces of fur ordered in this country this year. He said the selection was made by Mrs. Wilson herself when he was summoned to Washington several weeks ago to display his lines.

The upper part of the coat is a detachable throat collar of minkskin, fourteen inches wide and seventy inches long. The lower part is of mole and has a sweep of 220 inches, the bottom being forty-five inches from the upper folds of the collar.

There are wrist snaps, in draping of mole, which is lined with turquoise blue to the wet to match the kolinsky lining and finished with rose embroidered tulle. In the draping alone more than 200 moleskins were used.

ROBBED ON HONEYMOON

$35,000 Stolen from Spanish Nobles After Leaving Saratoga

New York, Nov. 13.—A couple who identified themselves as the Count and Countess Los Condes De Arcon Tales, of Madrid, Spain, have reported the robbery of jewelry, clothing and other articles, worth between $25,000 and $35,000, from trunks.

The count and countess arrived here after a month's tour of the country on their honeymoon. From Saratoga, Pa., their last stopping place, they had checked six trunks to New York a few days ago. When the first two trunks arrived the count and countess discovered that every article of value in them had been stolen.

MORMON ADVOCATE HISSED

Dr. Talmadge, Defending Sect. Denied at Conference

Pittsburgh, Nov. 13.—Dr. James E. Talmadge, of Salt Lake City, Utah, after addressing delegates to the World's Christian Citizenship Conference, was roundly hissed.

Dr. Talmadge read a letter, dated November 3, and signed by Hardon Bennion, acting governor of Utah, denying assertions as to alleged bigamous marriages in the Mormon Church.

The postmaster general was urged, in a committee report, to exclude from the mails Mormon Church books or doctrines which teach polygamy, and that the Mormon Church government is superior to all other governments.

The committee said Mormonism is as dangerous to the world as the millitarism was thirty years ago.

"JAZZ" AWAKES CUPID

Serenade Arouses Officials for Wedding of Society Girl and Drummer

St. Louis, Nov. 13.—Miss Grace Roberts, nineteen years old, daughter of E. Mason Roberts, president of the American Beverage Co., eloped to Clayton at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning and was married there half an hour later to Paul W. Sporleder, drummer in an orchestra in a motion-picture theatre.

The bride, who is popular in society, told officials at Clayton that she had known Mr. Sporleder for six weeks.

The night janitor at the courthouse informed the party the officials had refused and that it would be impossible for them to obtain a marriage license at that hour. The party which accompanied them had musical instruments in the automobile and awoke the clerk and justice with a "jazz" serenade.

Very Beautiful Mahogany-Cased PLAYER PIANOS $525

Payable—$3.50 Weekly.
Included—Free: Supply of Music Rolls; Bench; Tuning for a Year.

This is a time to try stores—and a time for you to prove them. Inordinate demand for everything that makes for pleasure and adornment has cleared the country of goods—and "goods" we must call them, be they silks, shoes, clothes or pianos.

Two other things have happened—Scarcity of material and workers has raised production costs. Scarcity has led dealers to bid against each other, for supplies—and that has raised prices. It takes the strong store—of large output and staunch purpose—to win for you in such markets.

This is a Noteworthy Offer

And we must confess that it is limited. We bought these player-pianos long ago—and the maker, though late, was true, and he delivered the goods.

These Player-Pianos are Fully Guaranteed by Gimbel Brothers—We Know Them

Musically good; in case-work, beautiful—in numbers so few, that we must suggest prompt choosing.

Can't come to the store at once? Then, will you not fill in the coupon and mail it to us?

The Christmas piano—of any good make must be chosen promptly—there never were so few—there never were so many asking for them.

Diamonds—An Occasion of Very Special Interest

To buy Diamonds of a reputable, established store is to make a deal many times better than buying the best of bonds. Diamonds have increased in value six fold in some dozen years—and will continue to grow in value.

Of Large Holdings—that have increased in value 48%—We Let Out These Fine Values to Prompt Buyers

Solitaire Diamond Rings—

Set in gold, $30, $50, $65.

Set in gold, with prongs of platinum, $65, $75, $80, $85, $90, $95, $100.

Tiffany-style mountings—gold, with platinum holding the stone; some in all gold, $85 to $525.

Many of the solitaire rings show tiny, but real-cut diamonds on the shank. Each ring is a marvel of the jeweler's art—platinum, pierced and engraved—the top may be oval or octagon or square or round—the rings are hand-made, much of the work of microscopic fineness—$550, $600, $650, $775, $850.

Diamond Rings, in Fancy Mountings

These include Princesse, Marquise, sports-style—several large full-cut diamonds, variously surrounded with smaller stones—$100, $150, $165, $210, $225, $275, $325.

And at every price we are passing to you most of the enhanced value.

Bar Pins, Diamond-set—

Here is one at $1000—the bar outlined with diamonds and an octagon center holds a large, fine stone.

A Corinthian Bar—eleven diamonds, octagon set, each stone surrounded with small stones, $675.

And a Bar Pin, milgram and pierced platinum, encrusted with diamonds. Large center stone, $550.

Fifteen large diamonds, pointed with tiny stones, are gathered as a Bar Pin, $650.

We could fill columns with these brief descriptions.

Diamond Bar Pins, gold set, from $50; platinum set, from $125.

Diamond-Set Wrist Watches—

$135, $175, $250, $350, $400—this one a poem in platinum with many full-cut stones; a 17-jewel watch, or, at $900 an 18-jewel watch, the case set with forty-four diamonds.

Diamond Bracelets, $30 and by easy steps to $175; with diamonds and sapphires, $100 to $175.

Diamond Scarf Pins—

Set in gold, $15 to $60.

Set in platinum, $20 to $75.

This is an offering quite without recent precedent.

We consider these gems from the cool-headed viewpoint of experts. Nothing added for the poetry of their beauty—instead, all the recent price advances have been kept off.
