ANOTHER SUGAR SAVER-CYNTHIA TALKS ABOUT MANY THINGS-ATTRACTIVE HAIR ORNAMENT

MRS. WILSON EXPLAINS PROPER USE OF HONEY

ing Purposes as Well as for Dressing for Waffles and Hot Cakes

Recipe for Cake and Various Puddings Made in This Sugarless Way Promise Delicious Re-

By MRS, M. A. WILSON

I pher once compared the delicate fraggance and flavor of honey to the mystic distilled dow from the honeyers. Hence is the distilled metter of the fragrant flowers and is a product of the busy bee, which, by many chemical changes, blends the truit sugars and essential of s of the flowers into this

The laboratory unalysis of honey shows that it is the concentrated soin tion of invert sugars of the thorers with the various essential oils. It is a delicious natural sweetening that should be foodly

One-half vap of honry.
Two well-heaten eggs.
One toblespoon of solad oil.

One-half teaspoon of cinnettion. One-half teaspoon of grated lemon

Beat to mix. Grease the custard cups well, then place raisins in the bottom of each cup, fill with the prepared custard and bake in a slew even until firm. Cornstarch Pudding

Place in a saucepan Two cops of milk. One-half cup of cornstacch, One-half cup of cornstacch, One-half cup of houry.

Stir to blend thoroughly the starch and then place on stove and bring to a boil. Cock slowly for five minutes. Flavor, rinse the custard curs with cold water and fill in the custards. Se-To serve, unmold and serve with Nut and Raisin Calo Place in a mixing bowl.

One cup of havey, One-half cup of shortening, Valks of two eggs.

Beat hard to blend and then add

One half cup of milk.
One cup of mely chopped pennits.
One cup of medded vaisium.
Four cups of sifted floor.

One teaspoon of natmen Three level tablespoons of haking

Honey Icing

Place in a saucepan one and one smart evening gowns, though as yet well form a soft ball when tried in cold water. Then pour he a fine stream upon the stiffly beaten white of egg. Beat Perhaps that will be revived next of feeling.

They are worn extensively on the water or not it was worth white. "Yes, I got your letter." Miss Tally observed dryly. "How is everything here?" Julia queried cagerly. He voice held a world though the mix and then spread on spring.

Mrs. Wilson Answers Queries

My dear Mrs. Wilson: Will you kindly publish in the paper a recipe for making one gallon of chowchow with same of gallon of chowchow with green lomatoes, onions, peppers, etc? Also recipe for one-half gallon of Chili sauce, made with ripe tomatoes, onions, peppers, etc. A NEWS READER.

Chowehow

Wash and cut into large pieces suffi-Place in a china bowl and add There and cover with Let stand one bull day. Then drain the and place in a preserving kettle and who

Can Be Used for Sweeten- Where You Can See Mrs. Wilson's Movies

> These interesting cooking picture at are so popular among the house ives of the city will be shown again They will be bited as follows

LEBANON CRUME CAKE Saturday - Market Street Theatre

he has office of the theatre or sena self-eddressed envelope to the opor of the Woman's Page.

One grapher cap of maximal time tablespoon of provides, Our traspoon of termeric. the onne of masterd seed.
One cap of viscous.
Mix thoroughly before adding to the chow and then stir to blend thoroughly and cook for fifteen minutes. Fill into all glass lars and seek while not.

Chili Sance:

One-half basket of temators. Scald and remove the skins and cores. Cut

Best to mix thoroughly and then cut and fold in the stiffly beaten white of one egg. Turn into a well greased and floured pan and bake in a slow oven for fifty minutes. Use the white of the second egg for the ising.

The feature of this black satin frock is the large red rose which relieves and accentuates its blackness. The sleeves are of beaded net a Daily Fashion Talk by Florence Rose of the second egg for the ising. The feature of this black satin frock

A RTIFICIAL flowers have found pable of suffering for an ideal, but her practical nature would have demanded

But mind you, in wearing the artiial flower on your evening frack you

(Monday—Something that came as a complete surprise.) But mind you, in wearing the artificial flower on your evening frack you must be very cantious. To have it arriver right it should have been part of the original idea of the one who designed the evening frock. The well-dressed woman no longer buys artificial flowers separately and then nins them on her evening frocks to suit her fancy. They are part of the design of the frock and the greatest thought is speat by the designer to see that they are put just designer to see that they are put just designer to see that they are nut just in the right place and that just the right sort and color of flower is used.

In the freek shown there is a large red rose. The freek itself is of black satio. The sleeves are of bended net and the shoulder straps are bands of black sequines, which add immensely to the radiance of the shoulders in the evening. And just to give you a bit of a surprise and to relieve the freek of heing all black there is this gorgeous

To Reduce Double Chin

the third tomatees to measure three pints. In the content of small onions, and cover with

One pint of small onions, and cover with

One cup of smilt.

Let stand one half day. Then drain and place in a preserving kettle and the compose of the pint of cashifoness, parboiled.

One dozen green peppers, cut into less.

One pint of small onions.

There is always a demand and a very reasonable one for evening frorks that give the effect of being low necked and short-sleeved without actually revealing the arm too freely. The wise woman double chin? Understand, it isn't a large one, and I thought that perhaps by massaging it a certain way same could be gotten rid of.

A CONSTANT READER.

Massage and exercise will undoubtedly help to reduce a double chin, but you would have to consult a physical culture expert or a masseur before attempting the double chin? Understand, it isn't a large one, and I thought that perhaps by massaging it a certain way same could be gotten rid of.

A CONSTANT READER.

Massage and exercise will undoubtedly help to reduce a double chin, but you would have to consult a physical culture appears in afterward.

One plut the effect of being low necked and advice in regard to reducing a slight double chin? Understand, it isn't a large one, and I thought that perhaps by massaging it a certain way same could be gotten rid of.

A CONSTANT READER.

Massage and exercise will undoubtedly help to reduce a double chin, but you would have to cons

The Testing of-Julia Grant

By HAZEL DEVO BATCHELOR

Julia's Decision to Go to the Hospital READ THIS FIRST

 Julin Grant is engaged to Dan Curson when out of a clear sky he tells her be love, another woman, but after the other woman turns him down he comes back to Julia and she promises a second time to marry him. After she has given her promise she discovers that she no longer loves Dan, but Dr. John Norville, a man she has met in the hospital where she has gone to learn nursing. Further complications develop when sister, Lacy, is in love with Dan, and Julin tells Dan that she does not love him, hoping that he will re-lease her. When Dan refuses to do so, Julia feels bound to her promise.

NOW 60 ON WITH THE STORY. "OF COURSE there's on v one thing to do." Martin Blake kept insisting. "You can't go on with this thing. Surely you aren't planning to do so." In this quaint, enjet room of Mar.

come into Julia's life and, strange to say, had diregred it at a time when Julia was hearthroken, and new she

She remembered the short experience she had had in the hospital and a little surge of emotion sweat through her, bringing with it a sudden temptation to drow in there just for a moment. They made the best of it, though, and then there is the strongly of such a thing made her sheart heat suddenly faster. She had a quick memory of a nervous, eager throwing his head back on his shoulders, he went out of her life forever, O surely that could not be wrong, that was in the first made in the property that could not be wrong, that was in the first made in the property of the went out of her life forever, O surely that could not be wrong, that was in the first made in the property of the went out of her life forever, O surely that could not be wrong, that was in the property of the could not be wrong, that was in the property of the went out of her life forever, O surely that could not be wrong, that was in the property of the went out of her life forever, O surely that could not be wrong, that went they had to stand up until the second show started. Then the move faster might change its mind, and then the heart that hid them move faster might change its mind, and then the heart that hid them move faster might change its mind, and then the heart that hid then move faster might change its mind, and then the heart that hid then move faster might change its mind, and then the heart that hid then move faster might change its mind, and then the heart that hid then also and the property of the was home it started to rain, and because four property of the was home it started to rain, and because four property and failed utterly to raise her middled in our disappointment and our page and our pity and our bad surprised to raid our rage and our pity and our bad surprised to raid our rage and our pity and our bad surprised to read one in this evening's mental ailments as well as physical down the long corridor to Miss Tully's office at the end. A brisk voice hade

Julia turned to the right and walked and stood a minute in the blaze of sun shine that came through the west win-dow. Miss Tully remembered afterward the book in the girl's eyes, Julia Grant!

Julia smiled faintly. "Yes I'm here, you see. You got my letter?" She dropped into a chair by the big desk. Her weariness of a few minutes ago had Her weariness of a few minutes ago had left her, she looked radiant, full of hope, happy. Since her precipitate flight from the hosnital Julia had not heard from Miss Tully. She had written a little note to the superintendent which had nover been answered. It was a strange little note in which Julia tried to say good by without explaining anything, but Miss Tully, who had drawn her own conclusions and knew as well as she knew how to hold down her job that John Norville loved Julia Grant, had read between the lines and Grant, had read between the lines and understood everything. What she did not understand was Julia's attitude in throwing her happiness away. It was not that Miss Tully herself was incapractical nature would have demanded the whether or not it was worth while

The Woman's Exchange

To Remove White Paint

To Reduce Double Chin

HIGH COMBS AGAIN

Dear Madam—I thank you very of them, one for each much for your kindness. The plants it! It is attractive are given away and letters that in closed stamps I have answered. Your all for fifty cents. voman's page is really a delight at oy. MRS. W. B. A. This letter is published in order that those who saw the offer of the plants and wrote to ask for them may know that their letters were not overlooked. It is impossible to answer personally all the letters that were written in reference to these plants, for it seemed that all Philadelphia wanted to have them!

The Question Corner Today's Inquiries I. How can an electric fan beto warm a room?

What is rottenstone?
What is nottenstone?
It what unusual style are many of the skirts of afternoon dresses

4. What is the meaning of the 5. Describe a practical cuff button that will not slip out of a silk shirtwaist? 6. What will remove a slove polish

Yesterday's Answers

1. A convenient substitute for the washing machine is a wire frying basket, which can be filled full of dishes, set in a pan of hot, soapy water and kept moving until the dishes are washed. A pretty way of using ostrici feathers on an evening dress i to make them the edging of the

to make them the edging of the top of a full overskirt of silk net. White wool can be distinguished from white cotton by its creamy tint. Cotton is dead white. A bridesmaid may wear a short veil of tulic arranged to fall from the back or side of her head, instead of a hat. Borax and water will starch fine organdic collars and cuffs evenly. A pretty lace veil that is practical for abouping or traveling has a band of plain mesh just across the eyes, thereby relieving eye strain.

of them, one for each week—think of it! It is attractively decorated—in short, is ornamental as well as useful—for fifty cents.

He same time.

Am wondering if Lonesome is a young man or a settled man. I hope if he does meet a girl or woman he cares for he will not let her know he has money until he is sure she loves him short, is ornamental as well as useful—at all for fifty cents.

"If you want something just simply delicious—all crisp and crunchy and, to the something and crisp and crunchy and, to the sentimiscent suap of her white teeth. I urged her on impatiently, "But what it is it?" The very best molasses popcorn I ever atc. she answered solar emily, "it comes in sheets and every grain of popcorn is big and fat, and. The molasses is crisp and there's coconnut, nice little chunks that give it the best flavor you ever tasted. It costs only forty-five cents a pound, and it's so light that there's a LOT in a pound." I straightway went and bought me song for his woonderful molasses popcorn, and Peter sits by me as I write, devouring it with an expression of absolute contentment on his face.

"Did I hear you mention that you were afraid moths would get integrate precious new coat of yours?" inq. red Peter as he deposited a mysterious-looking package on the table. "You did. indeed." I returned promptly, "for at the price of clothing, it's about my most valuable possession." "Well, then, here." said Peter, taking from the wrapping paper a neat little black wooden box with three holes in the top, "is soniething that will protect not only YOU'R coat, but MY overceat, too, and the whole closet of clothes as well." It's called an automatic cedar chest, and you stand it on the floor—and you stand it on the floor and you stand it on the floor—and you stand it on the floor and you stand it on the floor—and you stand it on the floor—an

For names of shops address Woman Page Editor, or phone Walnut 3000, For Drying Hair

If you are so fortunate as to own both an electric fan and an electric toaster, you will never have any diffi-culty in drying your hair. Place the fan behind the toaster, yourself in front of the toaster, and turn on the sheetri-city. It works like a dryer at a profes-sional sheappears by a Fascinating Name?

They Write of Many Things to Cynthia

Pear Cynthia—We all remember rely. and it is with pleasure that notifie another letter from her in recolumn. She asks that some one ideals answer her letter, and I with ideals answer her letter, and I am taking her at her word.

True enough, 'Judy,' the subject of kissing has been worn threadhare. I suppose that if Cynthia had existed in olden days the same subject would have been discussed as freely as now, with exactly the same results. It really rests with the two concerned as to the morals of the thing. If a girl feels that she is saving everything of that nature for the man she is to marry she is to be all the more respected, and she has every right to expect the same thing of the right to expect the same thing of the man. Personally, I have three of the fluest sisters that were ever created, and I feel exactly the same way as you do about it you do about it.

On the other hand, if a girl does not have that inhorn womanly instinct to preserve what is most precious, then she is losing nothing in giving something of which she does not appreciate the full value. A man does and will respect the girl who refuses him, and if she is anywhere near what she ought to be she will respect this property in the present of the state to be she will respect him the more for not asking her. It is too valuable a thing to be treated lightly, and soon thing to be treated lightly, and soon loses its value and significance.

As to sex equality: From time immemorial man has had the free hand, and as long as he did not overstep all bounds his sins were forgiven. Why, I do not know, but the fact remains. There is no plausible reason that a man should be privileged to indulge in questionable practices and see questionable shows and then go direct to a sweet,

Perhaps they are where she is to be considered. And I give the ex-marine who answered her credit for what he said. He knows what he is talking about. The best friend I have is a marine.

He is not one of these mushy fellows who only want to be kissing a girl all the time, but he is a real pal.

She has never met a real first-class marine or she wouldn't have written what she did. And if the ex-marine needs any help when he goes to an old maid's home to make application for a room for the Marine Hater tell him I'll be right on the job to help him out. I hope you will find room for this in your column and if I had not written as much already I could tell the Marine Hater a whole lot more.

LUCILLE LEATHERNECK.

Cheers Lonesome

Another Knock, "Old Bachelor' I thank you.

Dear Cynthia—Please print these lines to old Bachelor. I thank you.

To old Bachelor. I have come across your letter in the Evening Public of the only ones you can't trust. Don't forget there are also men. Just phim a truer love than theirs does not whim a truer love than theirs does not him a truer love than theirs does not whim a truer love than theirs does not whim a truer love than theirs does not what he was in the venue are the conse are not to say that girls are not the only ones you can't trust. Don't forget there are also men. Just prove a woman he will strive to work his way.

No doubt you will say that if a man loves a woman he will strive to work his way up; but let me tell you that nowadays it takes money to make what you way up; but let me tell you that nowadays it takes money to make what jou way up; but let me tell you that nowadays it takes money to make what you we and when he goes to an old maid's home to make application for a room for the Marine Hater tell him you was a what jou way

Cheers Lonesome

The familiar smell of cleanliness and autisentics was wafted to her before size life here, it stabbed her heart with a louring to be back. A nurse looked in a record softly accompanying to the back her inquiringly and hurried on, a small tray in her band. She looked roy and recording and morbid introspection. A hospital was a jamacea for meantly aliments as well as physical.

The familiar smell of cleanliness and and failed atterly to raise her out of the gloom. Then when they go out of the gloom that madded in our disappointment and the when they go out of the gloom. Then when they go out of the gloom the sum of the provide the base of the chin will go down.

I muddled in our disappointment and the letters sent to you reason the finth he are were than to follow such their they go out of the gl

WOOLENS SILKS AND DRESS GOODS Can You Suggest

Dear Cynthia: I always enjoy my self by reading your column in the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER and find it is very interesting. Kindly give me a very fascinating pet name for my husband which will be opposite the name he calls me (Tootie or Toots). Also, I have fabricated over a simple little thing which I could not help to keep peace, and l find now he is slow to believe me in anything. Can you inform of any way to get him to have faith in me again. Thanks, and highly appreciated, MEDITATION.

with. Not only for the sake of Prince Charming, but for other reasons. Girls kiss a fellow and then blame him for kiss a fellow and their girls of today getting familiar.

I think it is time the girls of today were waking up. A fellow cannot be expected to resist a chance for kisses.

A fellow will be a perfect gentleman, older than the woman he is to marry if it is not necessary, why is it do signific. A fellow will be a perfect gentleman, and then comes that kiss.

When a girl kisses a fellow she has no respect for herself, so how can he respect her? I am not an old maid, but a lively, athletic, seventeen-year-old girl, keep my father's home and respect myself. I advise Cynthia to keep herself a secret.

Mystery is good for what ails you, and so readers save some kisses before it is too late.

May be a perfect gentleman, older than the woman in the woma for the way I acted and would like to be friends again.

She has told one of her friends that I am too young and too small for her though she is only seventeen and a few inches shorter than I. Upon hearing this it only enraged me the more, and I don't know whether I love her or am envious of her.

She has often told me she keep steady company with someone else, but still I think I love her, I will not get till I hear from you.

LOVESICK OR LONESOME.

It was not very nice of this young girl to break an engagement and give no excuse. But it was a pity you were rude to her afterward. rude to her afterward.

It would be well to go see some other girls, too. For your own peace of mind, speak to this young girl and say you want to apologize for having been rude in not speaking, but that naturally you felt badly about her having broken the engagement. Do not suggest another engagement, however, and be sure to go see other girls You must know plents. ee other girls You must know plea tremely happy. It is usually considere better for the man to be older than the woman if it is a question of years. At the idea in general is that as the man is the head of the household he is murrentitled to respect if he is a little olds than the woman. There are men, however, who are older in experience and knowledge than many a woman several years older. As in many cases these things all depend on the persons themselves and their own point of view

Bad Advice, Sivera

Dear Cynthia-Here I am again. This time in answer to "A Live Wire, Should a girl marry for love or oney? Money by all means. Remember the old saying, "when per-Remember the old saying, "when poyerty comes in the door, love flies out the window." How far can you go and how long can you exist on love?
Not very far, I assure you. Understand, I do not mean that a girl should marry the first rich man that comes along, one whom she absolutely dislikes; but as long as she can tolerate him and he likes her, she need not be afraid to take a chance.

Why if a man is good to you trast

Why, if a man is good to you, treats you right and gives you everything your heart desires, you can't help but love him just for his goodness alone if for ands like wildfire, so, girls at the control of mine married a man much older than herself, one whom she didn't even like, simply for his wealth. Now (she would scratch your

IF YOU LOVE _ Flowers you will be interested in THE CENTURY FLOWER SHOP

Well made cocoa contains nothing that is harmful and much that is beneficial.

It is practically all nutrition.

Choice Recipe book free.

Walter Baker & Co. Ltd.

