MRS. HARMON GIVES AN ALIBI FOR CLUB

Asserts Women Feared Losing President, So Didn't Indorse Her for Welfare Post

NOT CANDIDATE, SHE SAYS

"The club members felt they would lose their president if they indorsed me for assistant director of public welfare if, by a very remote chance, I should be selected for that office.'

This was the explanation given today by Mrs. Archibald R. Harmon, of the action of the Women's Republican Club last night, after a bitter debate, in refusing to indorse her for the office of assistant in the new city department. "Are you a candidate for the office?" Mrs. Harmon was asked.

"I am not, nor had I ever thought about it." was the reply.

Mrs. Harmon, who is president of the club, further stated that the name of Mrs. Jane Deeter Rippin, of New York, was not in the minds of the club members when they indorsed "a Philadelphia weman" for the assistant direct continued Mrs. Harmon. "We are not a Republican club. We are simply Republican women banded together to study citizenship. We want to teach women the value of pulling together. We want to study national and inter-national questions for social betterment and we desire to engender a great sis-

Mrs. Harmon said she was out of the room last night, greeting another speaker when the resolution containing her name was introduced.

"When I returned the room was in a turnoil." she said.

"When I returned the room was in a turmed!" she said.

The action of the club indorsing a woman came after a long discussion at a meeting in the Hotel Adelphia. Mrs. Harmon was chairman of the Patterson women's committee in the last mayorally primary campaign. Her name for assistant director was presented by some of her supporters.

Mrs. Hurlburt Leads Opposition Immediately bitter opposition to the resolution developed under the lender ship of Mrs. C. Stanley Huribut, 2105 this place, wouldn't it look as though the club was organized merely for the purpose of helping you to get an ap-pointment." Mrs. Huribut asked Mrs.

"I don't see how it could be taken that way." replied Mrs. Harmon. "I don't see how it could be taken any other way and that is the way I would look at it," retorted Mrs. Hurl-but but.

Mrs. Harmon said the situation was embarrassing to her and later she suggested that the resolution be changed to read 'a woman of Philadelphia.'

Speakers at the meeting included Councilman William Lewis of the Thirty-second ward, who said he favors a woman for director of public welfare, and Louis Berry, who was active in the Patterson campaign.

Mrs. Harmon asserted that she is free from factionalism and that, speaking for herself and other members of the Patterson woman's committee, 'if any one tells you we are Patterson women that was all settled at the primary.'
