The present sugar famine is one of the worst this city has experienced. It has the sugar shortage of last year distanced. The time when every member of the family was entitled to a pound a week looms like a senson of plents in retrospect. The present ration is just about one fourth of that.

And the curious part of it is that last summer the sugar equalization board wondered what it was going to the sugar amount—four times as large amount—four times as large amount—four times as large. This was a considerably larger amount—four times as large. The experts figured—than was permitted during the time-of-war regulation.
