

DO YOU DRINK WATER? If so, use the best— POLAND WATER

AMERICA'S LEADING NATURAL TABLE AND MEDICINAL WATER FOR OVER HALF A CENTURY

Deaths of a Day WILLIAM M. McFADDEN

Was Chief Draftsman of Highway Supervisors for 27 Years

William M. McFadden, who for twenty-seven years was chief draftsman of the board of highway supervisors, died at his home, 121 West Washington lane, yesterday morning at 6 o'clock, following an attack of heart disease.

Mr. McFadden was born in Germantown, and was the son of the late Dr. W. H. and Sarah Youen McFadden. He is survived by two children, Marion Eleanor and William M.

William G. Hughes Funeral services for William G. Hughes, a naval officer during the Civil War, took place this afternoon.

Berton Marks, an employe of the Bureau of Surveys fifteen years, died of heart disease yesterday while superintending work at Sixty-first street and Chestnut.

William D. Baker, a widely-known photographer, for many years connected with the Giesenkamp Co., died on Tuesday at his Glenside residence, aged sixty-four years.

Dr. Albert M. Eaton, widely known, died yesterday at his home, 2107 North Thirteenth street.

Dr. Mary Christianey, seventy years old, died at the Norrisdown Hospital for the Insane Tuesday night where she has been a physician for over twenty years.

Charles Vanderplank, a well-known resident of Minotola, is dead in the home of his nephew, John W. Hopkins.

Herman C. Hophan, for forty-four years identified with the upholstery business in the northwest section of the city, died yesterday at his home, 1949 North Crook street.

Mr. Hophan was a member of several fraternal organizations, among which are Mt. Moriah Lodge, No. 157, F. and A. M., Harris Castle, No. 20, Knights of the Golden Eagle; Greble Council, No. 13, Order of Independent Americans; Penn Township Lodge, No. 319, I. O. O. F. These organizations will be represented at the funeral.

NOTED SPANISH TENOR DEAD Florencio Constantino Expires in Mexico After Long Illness

Florencio Constantino was born in Bilbao, Spain. He ran away from home to escape school, going to Buenos Aires as a sailor.

Senor Constantino was used by Oscar Hammerstein for breach of contract in 1912 and two years later Mr. Hammerstein presented him from leaving for Buenos Aires without satisfying a judgment for $30,000.

New Mezzotint The Braddul Family After Sir Joshua Reynolds by E. Milner $44.00

THE ROSENBAUGH GALLERIES 1320 Walnut Street

WHY WORRY ABOUT TREATY?—VAUCLAIN

Baldwin Head Blames "Long-Haired Orators;" Meehan Says Veterans Are Disappointed

SERVICE MEN WANT LEAGUE

"The long-haired army of orators and public advisers" is blamed by Samuel M. Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, for the failure of the United States Senate to ratify the treaty.

"But why worry?" asked Mr. Vauclain. He believes that the problem offered by the failure to ratify the treaty will solve itself.

The rejection of the treaty, both in its original and modified forms, was the one great topic of conversation today wherever business men gathered.

"Is it not true," said Mr. Vauclain, in answer to a question as to what he thought of the Senate's refusal, "that the treaty has failed from the first?"

Blames Long-haired Orators "I cannot foretell the future; I am not a senator and have no way of knowing how the Senate may act. But I do think this, however: if the grand army of long-haired orators and public advisers had attended to their own business and allowed the Senate to proceed with its sworn duty, the outcome might have been different.

"The Senate is not merely able to take care of itself. I am quite willing to abide by the Senate's decision. Congress simply has agreed to disagree. The Senate won't modify the treaty as Senator Lodge suggests and won't ratify the treaty in its original form as President Wilson desires.

"I believe the problem ultimately will solve itself. The thing to do is to take plenty of time about it. The country is getting along all right at present. So what I would say is 'why worry.' I do not think we ought to be called on to police Europe. We have enough to do to look after our interests here at home."

Will Disappoint Service Men Failure of the Senate to ratify the treaty and the consequent failure of this country to participate, at least for the present, in the league of nations, will be a great disappointment to the majority of service men, according to Lieutenant Colonel Thomas F. Meehan.

"I do not feel qualified to discuss the treaty," said Colonel Meehan, "although I have my own views on it. I will say, however, that the service men have some contact with a rule were wrong for the league of nations. They were heartily in favor of it, because they looked to the league to accomplish the great things."

"Many of them felt that they had fought for the league. They were for it because they looked on it as a stop gap which would prevent the future such as the one in which they took part. Some were opposed for various reasons, but I can say that most of the service men of my acquaintance were in favor of it. They will be greatly disappointed."

Clyde L. King Sorry for Defeat Clyde L. King, noted economist of the University of Pennsylvania, regretted that the Senate had failed to ratify the treaty.

"These are the days of the wireless, the ocean cable and the airplane," said Prof. King. "In such days as these there ought to be more far-reaching co-operation internationally. To me, therefore, it is a matter of deep regret that the treaty was defeated."

Pepper Approves Action George Wharton Pepper strongly approved the action of the Senate. Mr. Pepper was one of the first and most rigorous opponents of the treaty as drawn.

"Mr. Wilson insisted," said Mr. Pepper today, "that the covenant of the league of nations should be injected into the vitals of the treaty. This was done and now the treaty has died of acute indigestion."

"Those of us who strongly favored a league of nations organized for peace and international co-operation, are disappointed that the international experiment could not be made under the covenant as modified by wise reservations. This result, however, made impossible by the obstinacy of the President and the pernicious activities of the League to Enforce Peace."

"On the other hand, there ought to be nothing but rejoicing on the part of all thoughtful and patriotic Americans at the decisive defeat of the President in his effort to force through his covenant without those protective reservations which were the result of careful and intelligent study by many able men."

"What is needed at this juncture is not the obstinate determination of any one man, but the collective judgment of many counselors."

Motorist Fined After Crash Magistrate Favored this morning fined Samuel Sackoff, Hainbridge street, near Second, $10 and costs on a charge of operating an automobile without a license. The charge was the result of a collision between a motorcar driven by Sackoff and fire truck No. 11 yesterday morning at Moyamensing avenue and Wharton street.

TO ATTEND BALL TO PRINCE OF WALES

LABOR IN ENGLAND QUIETER THAN HERE

So Asserts Edward Grubb, Prominent London Quaker Now in This City

"England is much quieter industrially at present than the United States," said Edward Grubb, a prominent Quaker of London, who is in this city to speak in preparation for the international gathering of Friends in London during August of next year.

"When I left home a month ago there was no strike or labor disturbance of any proportions," observed Mr. Grubb. "The railroad strike was solved, at least temporarily, to the satisfaction of the men. This was due largely to the trade union leaders, who threatened to call on the transport workers and the miners if the demands of the men were not acceded to."

"There are two noticeable differences between the labor groups of this country and mine. The labor party in England is much better organized and established and the strikes are seldom characterized by violence. There was no touch of anything that looked like riot during the recent railroad strike."

Mr. Grubb declared that in general the industrial conditions in England were good and that most of the returned soldiers and sailors had been absorbed in the business of the nation. "Our greatest worry is the budget," continued Mr. Grubb. "The national expenditure is at least $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 in excess of the revenue, and the solution of this problem is one of the greatest tasks before the nation at this time. At present they are considering levying taxes on capital as one way out of the straits."

Customs and excise both show marked increases, which, Mr. Grubb asserted, is one of the best gauges of national prosperity. "And he concluded, 'we do not have as much sugar as you do, which is saying rather a lot.'"

Foresters Hold Bal Masque Three hundred persons, dressed in fancy costumes, attended the annual Bal Masque of Court Quaker City No. 1090, Independent Order of Foresters, last night in the Parkway Building.

TODAY'S MARRIAGE LICENSES Melville D. Kyle, New York city, and Bertha Kohl, 1748 N. Waterboro st., William Haines, 806 N. Marine st., and Mary Louisa, 804 N. Marine st., James J.weeney, 212 N. 20th st., and Margaret Doyle, 421 N. 20th st., James Hutton, 2840 Arch st., and Anna H. Fisher, 2840 Arch st., William P. Balmer, 2318 Wilder st., and Sadie Fisher, 2318 Wilder st., Max Gousberry, 4113 Woodland ave., and Sadie Scott, 2128 N. 10th st., Charles Rafford, 2035 S. Besenwood st., and Florence H. Lepp, 1043 S. Beaver st., Alfonso De Fina, 724 S. 8th st., and Henry Silverman, Woodstown, N. J., and Rose Drelich, 921 S. Danforth st., Joseph A. Tarr, 217 S. Helen st., and Marie T. Scheller, 2545 Emerald st., James McCann, 2907 S. Ferry ave., and Mary E. Leonard, 1528 S. 53d st., Robert A. Cronan, 2485 W. Oxford st., and Lillian D. Stencil, 2426 W. Redner st., George E. Keon, 1142 S. Beach st., and Marie C. White, 4132 S. Beach st., William J. Powers, 1419 S. Indiana ave., and Margaret M. Carney, 1413 W. Indiana ave., Jacob Hoyer, 2138 Marley st., and Frieda Bauer, 6007 Lincoln Drive, Clara Welch, 1906 S. Patton st., Samuel Gentry, 2120 Easton st., and Elizabeth McKim, 1236 S. 22d st., William A. D'Souza, 2505 S. 8th st., and Elmer H. Sawyer, 2128 Marley st., John J. Jones, Scranton, Pa., and Martha J. Dunaway, 1248 Newtirk st., Wallace Gilbert, 2125 Cypress st., and Beatrice Little, 330 S. 15th st., Charles A. Smith, 805 E. Ontario st., and Hannah M. Bunting, 2948 N. 2d st., Francis J. Wright, 1641 S. 20th st., Catherine Shaughnessy, 1644 S. 20th st., David Gelman, 4223 Orter st., and Mildred Pinkelstein, 1541 S. 9th st., George E. Bremer, 2055 N. Colorado st., Edna P. Wagner, 2055 N. Colorado st., John Wittner, 2118 S. 27th st., and Florence Earl, 1311 N. 25th st., Anthony Vioro, 522 S. 4th st., and Pauline Vioro, 511 S. 4th st., Leo A. Duff, Bristol, Pa., and Gertrude Pinkelstein, 1846 Wensley st.

PRINCE OF WALES VISITS WEST POINT

Reviews Famous Dress Parade of Cadets at United States Military Academy

LAUGHS HEARTILY AT FILMS

New York, Nov. 20.—The Prince of Wales today went to the United States Military Academy at West Point to review the famous dress parade of the cadets.

From skyscrapers to churches and from the Stock Exchange to the "movies," with the now show as a side line, the Prince of Wales was wheeled yesterday through the metropolis. Everywhere he went huge crowds gave him a reception such as even New York has rarely, if ever, witnessed before.

The prince seemed to enjoy every minute of his strenuous program, but, judging by appearance, the hit of the day for him was the "movies."

The exhibition was given at the old Academy of Music. Seated in the same armchair Edward VII had occupied, the prince laughed with the unrestrained enthusiasm of an unsophisticated school-boy at the two comedies presented. He had asked for "something to laugh at" and he got it. It was slap-stick comedy of the slapstickiest kind, with the hero doused in rivers, sneered with pie, bitten by dogs and buffed by zoms, and the infectious laugh of the young prince set the whole great audience rocking.

On his return to the Waldorf the prince stole a march on both the crowds who have trailed his every movement, and the small army of newspaper reporters who have formed his unofficial bodyguard. Slipping out from a side entrance of the hotel, he went for a quiet stroll on Fifth avenue, unattended except by a couple of secret service men. He passed virtually unrecognized through the tremendous tide of traffic which swept down the avenue in the evening homeward rush.

Photo above by Allen Drew Cook. Above, from left to right, are Miss Mary Glendinning and Miss Celestine Warder; below is Miss Ellen Glendinning, Philadelphia debutantes who are going to New York to the ball given by Mr. and Mrs. Rodman Wanamaker to Prince Edward

WOMEN FIGHT FLAMES SEE BREAK IN G. O. P. RANKS

Mother and Daughter Save Their Jersey Home From Destruction Speedy and efficient work by the women members of the family of Walter Goslin, Olive street, South Westville, N. J., prevented a fire from destroying their home at 7:30 o'clock this morning.

The fire, which is believed to have been caused by an overheated chimney, was first discovered by next-door neighbors, who gave the alarm. Mr. Goslin had gone to the New York shipyard, where he is employed, but his wife and daughter fought the flames with buckets and pitchers of water.

Three companies, the Independent Fire Company, of South Westville; the Union Fire Company, of Westville, and the company of the government bug-losing plant at Washington Park, responded to the alarm and finally put the fire under control.

The loss is about $1500, partially caused by water on the first floor. The women managed to rescue part of the furniture on the first floor and some on the second before the fire companies arrived.

MAN, 35 Twelve years' manufacturing and selling experience desires to make change. Experienced in developing high-class sale proposition. Accustomed to handling men. Address R 218 Lederer Office.

Ship Left for Germany Today The freight steamship Kerlew, the first steamer sailing from this city to Hamburg, Germany, since the war, sailed from the Port Richmond pier of the Philadelphia and Reading Co. late today. The Kerlew, which carries a large quantity of oil, provisions and other American products, inaugurates a new service by the Kerr Steamship Co. to take the place of the old Hamburg-American Line, defunct for five years.

Salesmen Wanted A few positions are open in the Sales Force of our new Philadelphia branch. The men selected will receive special training at our factory at Muskegon, Michigan, before being assigned to territory. We are ready to pay the price for men of highest type; no others considered. Acquaintance with the handling of correspondence and other records desirable. Apply in person, Friday, November 21st, on third floor.

The Shaw-Walker Company 1010 Chestnut Street Philadelphia, Pa.

Special Tomorrow and Saturday Only 11.50 Distinctive dress street Boot in Cordo-color calf, with genuine Worumbo cloth top, entirely exclusive. Value 14.00.

NIEDERMAN 930 Chestnut Street and Branches

JACOB REED'S SONS 1424-1426 Chestnut Street

PRINCE OF WALES VISITS WEST POINT

Reviews Famous Dress Parade of Cadets at United States Military Academy

LAUGHS HEARTILY AT FILMS

New York, Nov. 20.—The Prince of Wales today went to the United States Military Academy at West Point to review the famous dress parade of the cadets.

From skyscrapers to churches and from the Stock Exchange to the "movies," with the now show as a side line, the Prince of Wales was wheeled yesterday through the metropolis. Everywhere he went huge crowds gave him a reception such as even New York has rarely, if ever, witnessed before.

The prince seemed to enjoy every minute of his strenuous program, but, judging by appearance, the hit of the day for him was the "movies."

The exhibition was given at the old Academy of Music. Seated in the same armchair Edward VII had occupied, the prince laughed with the unrestrained enthusiasm of an unsophisticated school-boy at the two comedies presented. He had asked for "something to laugh at" and he got it. It was slap-stick comedy of the slapstickiest kind, with the hero doused in rivers, sneered with pie, bitten by dogs and buffed by zoms, and the infectious laugh of the young prince set the whole great audience rocking.

On his return to the Waldorf the prince stole a march on both the crowds who have trailed his every movement, and the small army of newspaper reporters who have formed his unofficial bodyguard. Slipping out from a side entrance of the hotel, he went for a quiet stroll on Fifth avenue, unattended except by a couple of secret service men. He passed virtually unrecognized through the tremendous tide of traffic which swept down the avenue in the evening homeward rush.

Photo above by Allen Drew Cook. Above, from left to right, are Miss Mary Glendinning and Miss Celestine Warder; below is Miss Ellen Glendinning, Philadelphia debutantes who are going to New York to the ball given by Mr. and Mrs. Rodman Wanamaker to Prince Edward

WOMEN FIGHT FLAMES SEE BREAK IN G. O. P. RANKS

Mother and Daughter Save Their Jersey Home From Destruction Speedy and efficient work by the women members of the family of Walter Goslin, Olive street, South Westville, N. J., prevented a fire from destroying their home at 7:30 o'clock this morning.

The fire, which is believed to have been caused by an overheated chimney, was first discovered by next-door neighbors, who gave the alarm. Mr. Goslin had gone to the New York shipyard, where he is employed, but his wife and daughter fought the flames with buckets and pitchers of water.

Three companies, the Independent Fire Company, of South Westville; the Union Fire Company, of Westville, and the company of the government bug-losing plant at Washington Park, responded to the alarm and finally put the fire under control.

The loss is about $1500, partially caused by water on the first floor. The women managed to rescue part of the furniture on the first floor and some on the second before the fire companies arrived.

MAN, 35 Twelve years' manufacturing and selling experience desires to make change. Experienced in developing high-class sale proposition. Accustomed to handling men. Address R 218 Lederer Office.

Ship Left for Germany Today The freight steamship Kerlew, the first steamer sailing from this city to Hamburg, Germany, since the war, sailed from the Port Richmond pier of the Philadelphia and Reading Co. late today. The Kerlew, which carries a large quantity of oil, provisions and other American products, inaugurates a new service by the Kerr Steamship Co. to take the place of the old Hamburg-American Line, defunct for five years.

Salesmen Wanted A few positions are open in the Sales Force of our new Philadelphia branch. The men selected will receive special training at our factory at Muskegon, Michigan, before being assigned to territory. We are ready to pay the price for men of highest type; no others considered. Acquaintance with the handling of correspondence and other records desirable. Apply in person, Friday, November 21st, on third floor.

The Shaw-Walker Company 1010 Chestnut Street Philadelphia, Pa.

Special Tomorrow and Saturday Only 11.50 Distinctive dress street Boot in Cordo-color calf, with genuine Worumbo cloth top, entirely exclusive. Value 14.00.

NIEDERMAN 930 Chestnut Street and Branches

JACOB REED'S SONS 1424-1426 Chestnut Street

"Turner for Concrete"

In an audit of 7 1/2 years' cost-plus jobs, Turner shows that actual costs averaged owners 3% less than estimated costs.

TURNER Construction Co 1213 Sansom Street

CHESTNUT ST. HOME BURNS

Blaze at House of John D. Johnson. Valuable Rugs Destroyed

Fire of undetermined origin at 6:15 o'clock this morning damaged the home of John D. Johnson, 3808 Chestnut street, to the extent of $2000.

The fire was discovered by a watchman who attends to the furnace at the Johnson home. As he entered the cellar to fix the fire he found it filled with smoke and flames.

The watchman summoned Engine Company No. 5 from Thirty-seventh and Ludlow streets. When the firemen arrived they found that the flames had eaten through to the first floor of the home and were rapidly making headway.

They extinguished the fire which was found to have burned several Oriental antique rugs worth hundreds of dollars each.

Mr. Johnson is a manufacturer of plumbing supplies.

BAILEY, BANKS & BIDDLE CO. Jewelers Silversmiths Stationers

GIFTS—appreciated by WOMEN

- The assortment is now complete Card Cases Mesh Bags Toilet Ware in Silver Silver-Gilt and Enamel Dorine Powder Boxes in Silver and Enamel Cologne Bottles Crystal and Silver Photograph Frames and Cases Desk Sets Cigarette Boxes and Cases

Keep for Reference

Very sincerely yours, (Signed)

When things go wrong, we remedy them, if the fault was ours. We know that they must go wrong sometimes; and, sometimes, if you do not let us know that they go wrong, you nurse a grouch, and we miss a chance to give fair satisfaction.

Our stocks of Winter Suits and Winter Overcoats, leather Coats, Fur collar and fur-lined coats are waiting for you to look at them.

Fall and Winter Suits are priced $30 to $50 Overcoats, "Slip-On" and Chesterfield models, $30 to $100 Double-Breasted Overcoats, Ulsters and Ulsterettes, $30 to $100 Overcoats with Fur Collars, $130 to $175 Fur-Lined Overcoats, $225 to $800

PERRY & Co. "N. B. T." 16th & Chestnut Sts.