

CHUM'S DEATH KEPT FROM AUTO VICTIM

Girl Dies as Result of Injuries. Doctor Fears to Tell Friend the News

BOTH HURT IN ACCIDENT

The death of Miss Marion E. Orniston, 216 West Pomona terrace, a victim of the traffic crash at Germantown and Chelten avenues Wednesday, is being kept secret from Miss Jennie Doyle, 240 East Broadstreet street, her chum and companion on the night of the accident.

HONOR 5 PENN STUDENTS

Two of Three First Medals of Beaux Arts Come Here

Two of three first-place medals awarded Tuesday night by the Society of Beaux Arts Architects in New York were won by architectural students at the University of Pennsylvania. It was announced last night.

TURKEY—not the great, big, tough frozen bird; but young, tender, fresh-killed Vermont rascols, so pure, they're nearly all white meat. Good stuff in the stuffing—cranberry sauce made here from fresh cranberries—for much of the cranberry sauce you eat in restaurants is canned. And how that Turkey is roasted by the St. James Chef! He makes of the stove an Altar—and the Turkey's an offering to the Culinary Gods!

Seen in the Chestnut St. Shops
"Knowledge is power," and knowing where to shop is a consideration of great importance, especially in the days that precede Christmas. You will find it to your interest to do your shopping in the Chestnut Street Shops, where the quality of the goods offered for sale and the courteous attention you receive from salespeople will convince you that the proprietors of these stores are working in the interest of their patrons.

Delora Book
NO MATTER whether Father insists that the roast be carved in the kitchen on three hundred and sixty-three days in the year, he somehow feels it his solemn duty to carve the Thanksgiving and Christmas turkeys at the table. And carving a nicely roasted fowl is a real pleasure if you have a good sharp knife. The carving sets which inspired this soliloquy are to be found at the store of J. Franklin Miller, 1612 Chestnut Street. The blades are of English steel and made by J. Rodgers & Sons, which means that they are of the very best quality. There are steak sets and fowl sets, and the blades are of various shapes to suit the carver. It pays to invest in a set of this kind, for steel of this quality will always be sharp and ready for use.

NEVER have Thanksgiving fruits been more luscious, more colorful or more plentiful than they are this year at the store of Henry R. Hallowell & Son, Broad Street below Chestnut. There are eight varieties of Apples, delicious strawberries from California, Hot-house Grapes from Belgium, Almeria Grapes from Spain, Alligator Pears for salad and juicy Comice and Burre d'Anjou Pears. At Thanksgiving time Hallowell's exquisite gift baskets and hampers, heaped with gorgeous fruits are most welcome as gifts and convey a note of thankfulness for the abundance of Nature's goodness. People living within 1000 miles of Philadelphia can have Hallowell's fruits as fresh as those living in the city by parcel post, special delivery.

NO MORE graceful or luxurious wraps have been devised than the fur dolman. And for a gala occasion like the Thanksgiving game you will want one of those which I saw today at the store of Opensheim, Collins & Co., Chestnut and Twelfth Streets. A squirrel dolman, of dark skins, beautifully matched, had a deep collar and yoke back. A dolman of caracul, also with yoke back, had collar and cuffs of wonderfully rich-looking skunk. Another of Hudson seal or dove muskrat, had a border and collar of kolinsky. A short coat of Hudson seal had collar, bell cuffs and border of natural beaver and was belted in front. These short fur coats are so very useful for so many occasions that it is no wonder that they are having such a vogue this season.

TIME to be thinking about a Christmas gift for Father or Brother, or maybe, for some one else's brother. And wouldn't any one of them be delighted with a knitted silk muffler? Stop in at MacDonal & Campbell's, 1334-1336 Chestnut street, and ask to see them. There are accordion weave, Swiss knit and crocheted mufflers, and there seems to be an infinite variety of interesting color combinations. For evening wear there are white silk mufflers with stripes and cross-bars of black. Every one seems to be wearing silk mufflers this year, for Dame Fashion has declared that a silk muffler looks exceedingly well with midday's tailored suit, and I assure you that these mufflers at MacDonal & Campbell's are a real find.

SO MANY people seem to imagine that because Bailey, Banks & Biddle Company handle the very best of silver, jewels and stationery, it is impossible to find in their store inexpensive articles suitable for gifts. This is a mistaken impression, however, for there are any number of articles in silver, crystal, jewelry and stationery departments that are to be had at a reasonable price, and that they bear the name of Bailey, Banks & Biddle as sufficient guarantee of their quality. For Christmas gifts, silver vases and flower bowls are most acceptable. One can never have too many of them, for, in combination with silver, flowers look their very best. You can be sure, in selecting such a gift, that it will be appreciated both for its usefulness and beauty.

Waffles and maple syrup for breakfast! Could anything be more delicious? The only thing that I can think of that is more delicious than waffles and maple syrup is the Cheri restaurant, 132 South Fifteenth Street and 124 South Thirteenth Street. The waffles are crisp and brown and hot, and the maple syrup has a delicious flavor. And the coffee served at the Cheri restaurant is so good, too. I am somewhat of a connoisseur in the coffee line myself, and the restaurant that serves muddy, wishy-washy coffee seems me no more, so I am quite sure that you will be as delighted as I was to discover Cheri coffee. You will start the day so much better if you feel well satisfied with your breakfast coffee.
