

LARGE COL. RADFORD FOR CABINET POST

Marine Corps Quartermaster Officer Strongly Recommended for Purchasing Agent

PLAN FIGHT ON VARE RULE

Colonel Cyrus S. Radford, in charge of the depot supplies for the marine corps in Philadelphia, has been strongly recommended to Mayor-elect Moore and his advisers for a place in the cabinet. Colonel Radford has been urged for either the new office of purchasing agent or for the directorship of the department of public works.

Colonel Radford is considered by Secretary of the Navy Daniels as one of the best quartermasters in the Navy Department. It is known that the Mayor-elect has been looking for a man who has had experience in either army or navy quartermaster work for the office of purchasing agent. Indications today were that the Mayor-elect would shortly announce his selection for director of health and director of public welfare. Because of the common interests of these departments, Mr. Moore feels that the new directors should be appointed together and start to work in co-operation at once.

Krusen Won't Be Reappointed
It is regarded as certain that Dr. Wilmer Krusen will not be reappointed as director of health. In this connection it was learned authoritatively that Governor Sprout is not making an issue of the reappointment of Dr. Krusen. An official close to the Governor said today:

"The Governor has no special interest in the boom for Dr. Krusen. He simply forwarded to Mayor-elect Moore a letter of endorsement of Dr. Krusen, which had been written by Colonel Martin, state health commissioner. The state health commissioner is appreciative of the co-operation on the part of the Philadelphia Health Department with the State Health Department. Such co-operation is of great assistance throughout the state. The Governor in forwarding the letter written by Colonel Martin pointed out that if Dr. Krusen had not been available for the post of state health commissioner, Dr. Krusen would have been his second choice."

Man for Welfare Director
Ernest L. Tustin, it is believed, is the favorite for the post of director of public welfare. The name of Mrs. Barclay Warburton, president of the Women's Republican committee for Pennsylvania, has been presented to the Mayor-elect for this office, but it is understood that she will be chosen for head of the department. A woman may be named for assistant director.

A campaign to wrest control of the Republican city committee from the Vares is said to be quietly under way now among Independent Republicans of this city.

The struggle is expected to emerge into the open when Mayor-elect Moore completes his cabinet. A director of public health and a director of public welfare are to be the next appointments recommended by Mr. Moore.

Wholesale and retail prices of these gloves will be shown and there will be contests for control of ward and city committees.

Officials to be chosen next year include a Supreme Court Justice, a Superior Court Judge, an auditor general, a state treasurer, a United States senator, thirty-six congressmen, half the membership of the State Senate and 207 members of the State House of Representatives.

Booms for auditor general already are popping up over the political horizon. Harry S. McDewitt, secretary to Governor Sprout, has been suggested. It is regarded as unlikely that he would leave the Governor's office, however. Another mentioned for the place is Samuel Lewis, of York.

Auditor General Charles A. Snyder is out in the open for the nomination for state treasurer to succeed Harmon M. Kephart.

The term of United States Senator Penrose expires after next year's election. The Senator anticipates going before the people of the state again next spring for the nomination to be decided on May 18, spring primary day.

There have been rumors that opposition would develop to the senior senator, but no other candidates have come out in the open as yet.

TO SPEAK ON THE THEATRE

Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale to Talk at Philomusian Club

Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale, the English actress, will speak at the Philomusian Club Thursday of next week, on "The Theatre Since the War." Mrs. Hale, who is an Englishwoman by birth, but an American by marriage, has devoted a great deal of time to suffrage and recently to the study of women in industry. During September she interested the International Conference of Woman Physicians, which was held in New York city, with her condemnation of the styles and extravagance of woman's dress. She blamed business men who used the stage, the shop window, street-car placards and the newspapers for the blatant advertisement of "style, style, style."

Mrs. Hale is soon to visit England at the request of the British Bureau of Information and will study reconstruction and labor problems there.

SEES BRITISH-U. S. RIVALRY

Lenroot Reservation Imperils League, Says Buenos Aires Newspaper

Buenos Aires, Nov. 28.—(By A. P.)—Discussing the failure of the United States Senate to ratify the peace treaty, La Prensa dwells on Senator Lenroot's reservation not permitting British dominions and colonies to opt out of the United States, and says:

"It appears evident that if, for any reason, the league of nations collapses, it will be without doubt found within the scope of this reservation, which unfortunately again manifests the rivalry, now profound, between the two great Anglo-Saxon civilizations."

president of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, the largest trust company in the world, writing to us, says:

"I believe thoroughly in advertising as a selling agent, not only for commodities but for ideas and services, and throughout my business career as a banker I have made use of it with profit and satisfaction. I believe that advertising can be made just as useful to a bank as to any other institution that has something to offer to the public, and our own experience in that field has well justified this conclusion. Moreover, I believe that educational and informative advertising can be made of the greatest value to the public, and can further the interests of sound economics and sound business. Good will values created through advertising constitute decided elements of credit in a corporation's assets, and such values will always be taken into consideration in any judgments we form.

"At the present time, I feel confident that perhaps more than ever in the history of this country sound advertising and publicity can be made to render a great public service in informing the public on the important questions pressing for decision."
