New York, Nov. 29.—The week closed with a highly professional and extremely disturbances in Mexico and the distressing muddled foreign financial conditions. It was no wonder prices melted with alarming rapidity. It was more surprising the slump did not attain more marked up again in the later dealings by free covering of shorts, leaving the part changes for the day in most class.

by feer covering of shorts, leaving the not changes for the day in most cases unimportant.

It was anything but a cheerful atmosphere when Waff street resumed business this morning. Overnight developments in either the Mexican or bituminous coal situations failed to show any appreciable change. In fact, the Mexican situation was considered more meancing than ever. As to the soft coal concerns everything pointed to a long drawn out fight. The late fluory yesterday in the call money rate had likewise left a bad taste, although it was generally regarded as insignificant, inasmuch as it represented largely an eleventh hour rush of some belated borrower.

In all events the hay is most cases there has been a wide-spread growth of the bearish propagands. This is always experienced, however, in the transition of all great market swings. Unfortunately Wall street has never been able to reach or strike a happy medium. The pendulum

General Motors taking a 14-point plunge.

It was evident however, the raids were dislodging little long stock, and the declines were not followed up by increasing solling pressure as observed yesterday. On the contrary, the trading had not progressed far before it was in evidence that the demand was not only sufficient to absorb all offerings, but also to stem the reactionary current. There was hasty shifting of position by the trading contingent and efforts were at once made to rebuy many of the stocks put out in the earlier operations. Perhaps an easing in the tension with espect to our relations with Mexico had such to do with this and not less so the taking of the buil by the horns by the government in the coal strike situation. As a matter of fact the funncial community has not paid a great deal of attention to Mexico as a potential factor marketwise, however, much as it may have been interested academically.

Accordingly stock prices hardened in the second half hour, and by the second hour it was clear that the shorts felt it was prudent to cover, as sentiment bade fair to improve over the week-end recess. The foreign exchanges were reactionary. Sterling sight drafts held down to $4.00 -only half s cent above the recent record low. Francs were quoted at 9.83 and lire at 12.27.

There has undoubtedly been a great deal of what is sometimes called institutional liquidation. The extremely high money loaning rates has influenced many of the money lending institutions to liquidate much of their investments in order to give more active and profitable employment to the same funds. There is a big demand for money from almost every quarter of the globe, and it is up to the loaning institutions to supply it, which they are endeavoring to do. This means the selling of securities beld and other investments and

NEW YORK COFFEE MARKET New York, Nov. 29.—Continued renkness in Brazil led to renewed selling in the coffee future market at the opening this morning and first prices were 18 points lower for December and tions.

While the local selling seemed to be a little less active after the recent sharp break, houses with European connections appeared to have a good many selling orders during the early trading. These offerings were taken up at the decline by covering and trade buying and prices ruled steady during the middle of the morning. There has been no confirmation of yesterday's reported failures in Santos, but the Brazilian markets were all de-cidedly lower this morning. cidedly lower this morning.
