PENN LOSES GREAT FOOTBALL MATERIAL

Eight Regulars and Five Substitutes Have Played Last Game on Gridiron for Quakers

By EDWIN J. POLLOCK
NEXT fall Pennsylvania will be minus one of the best football teams that ever stepped on a gridiron.

There is a whole squad that will NOT be on hand next September when the Quakers gather for the 1920 season.

The men named above are good enough to make any college eleven in the country. There is only one change made from the usual position played by the candidates during the season.

Added to the loss of the players, the Quakers suffer because of the retirement of Dr. Charles (Buck) Wharton, recognized as one of the most able line coaches in the game.

Included in the list of players who will leave are many who helped to raise the standard of Penn football during the last four seasons.

It is likely that the loss of Hobey Light will be felt more than any of the others.

It was not until last year that Jim Neylon managed to make the varsity and he was one of three who received letters for their work on the S. A. T. C. team.

Deiter is a valuable lineman, but was kept out of the Cornell game until late in the fourth period on account of an injury received in the Dartmouth war.

It is likely that the loss of Hobey Light will be felt more than any of the others.

Harvard Students Want Contest With Penn

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 1.—Harvard undergraduates and alumni are discussing with much interest the editorial demand of the Harvard Crimson, the undergraduate daily newspaper, for a game next year with Pennsylvania, Cornell or Colgate for the purpose of giving the team a stronger schedule.

Although no officials of the Harvard Athletic Association would make any comment on the possibility of a game with Pennsylvania, it was pointed out that a game with the Quakers would round out the schedule in good shape.

A WHOLE SQUAD LOST TO PENN

Thirteen gridiron warriors have played their last game for the Red and Blue. Eight of them started the game against Cornell on Thanksgiving Day.

It will be a contest between the ruggedness and endurance of Great Britain and the skill and dash of the Latin.

ENJOIN BAN FROM HOLDING MEETING

Court Order Forbids Johnson to Call Conclave Anywhere Except in New York

WAR IS REALLY ON

New York, Dec. 1.—The war is on in earnest!

The Yankees—Colonels Ruppert and Huston—have procured a new injunction against Ban Johnson, former czar of the American League, and now intend to restrain Johnson from attempting to hold any meeting in Chicago contrary to the one called by the majority directors for New York on December 10.

The new injunction was procured from Justice Newburger, of the Supreme Court of this state, on a affidavit of Colonel Huston and Charles H. Tuttle, the injured parties.

The order not only restrains Johnson from holding any annual meeting of the league except the one called by the board of directors, but restrains Johnson from further holding up the world's series money, which is due to the Yankees players by reason of the New York Americans finishing in third place.

If the order is made permanent it also will give the Yankees court authority as finishing third, as the order prevents Johnson from throwing out any of the games pitched by Pitcher Carl Mays and prevents Johnson from influencing any club against the Yankees.

Ohio State Seeks Game With Princeton

Columbus, O., Dec. 1.—Students of the Ohio State University are eager to stage a football game here between the University eleven next year and Princeton.

Plans are proposed for a monster stadium here to seat 50,000 people, to be completed for the home game if arranged in 1921.

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 1.—Glenn C. Whitfield, quarterback of the Army football eleven, has been elected captain of the team for next season.

Bethlehem, Pa., Dec. 1.—Salisbury A. C. defeated Fountain Hill A. C. 24-21.

WALE TO SEE FIGHT
London, Dec. 1.—Carpentier will face Beckett at the Holborn Stadium Thursday fully fourteen pounds the lighter man.

After one of his tryouts Carpentier talked with a group of sport writers about his experiences. He said: "I have had sixty-eight fights, and for my first I received $2. Each later fight brought a little more money, until the last time I fought in London I earned $20,000.
