The Mexican Government prefers to attribute the American note to an imperfect knowl-edge of the Mexican pensi laws and proceeds to explain with refinement the intricacies of Mexican pensi pro-

But the government of the United States fails to discern in their application to this case at the hands of Mexican authorities any approximation to impartial treatment of Jenkins and the Mexican government knows the absence of such treatment is the reason for the American request.

Mexican Government main tains that it cannot grant the request of the United States for Jenkins's release for the reason that under in-ternational law no diplomatic interrention is appropriate unless a denial of justice has occurred and because the Mexican Government is not in a nosition to demand Jenkins's release in view of the separation of the ex-ecutive and judicial powers under the Mexican form of government and the independence of the state courts, by one of which Jenkins is held.

Justice Already Violated

tention is, as every one knows, that a denial of justice has aiready taken place, and also because the Mexican constitution specifically gives the federal to constitution specifically gives the federal trained jurisdiction of "all concerning diplomatic agents usular officers." United States is not to be driven by such subtle arguments into a defense of its request for the re-lease of Mr. Jenkins. It is for Mexico to show cause for his detention, not for the United States to plead for his liberation. Stripped of extranous matter, with which the Mexican note November 26 endeavors to clothe the naked case of Jenkins stands

Jenkius, a United States consular agent, a corredited to the government of Mexico, is imprisoned for "render-ing false judicial testimony" in con-nection with the abduction of which he was the victim.

My government is pleased to learn that the imprisonment of Jenkins stands on this single and well de-fined ground, and that the reported statements that Mexican authorities had caused the imprisonment of Jenkins because of collusion with his abductors and rebellion against the state are not seriously regarded by your government.

Declare Consul Persecuted

In whose interest then is the charge false swearing brought against Jenkins? His abductors? He is in equity the complainant in the case of his abduction, not the defendant as the Mexican government now makes him out to be. The Mexican govern-ment is prosecuting the victim instead of the perpetrators of the crime.

While the outlaws who endangered his life and took away a large part of his fortune enjoy their freedom, the Mexican authorities now denrice Jenkus of his liberty.

Moreover, the ground expressed for the imprisonment of Jenkius, namely, that he is supposed 'to be responsible for the crime of rendering false judicial testimony,' must be taken—and my government directs special attention to this point—as merely an expression of opinion on the part of that Mexican Government, as it is envirely unsupported by evidence.

that Mexican Government, as it is emitrely unsupported by evidence. There is not produced any of the testimony rendered by him, or any extracts from such testimony tending to show the correctness of this opinion. The Mexican Government cannot expect the United States to cannot expect the United States in accept in the grave circumstances of this case such a bare unsupported statement as a valid excuse for the imprisonment of an American consular officer, particularly in view of the fact that the investigation of the Case by the representatives of the United States in Mexico, so far as it has proceeded, fails utterly to support this opinion of your government.

Inquiry Upholds Jenkins On the contrary the investigation gives the government of the United States every reason to believe that Mr. Jenkins has not knowingly giv-en any false testimony in respect of vital points in his case, although he vital points in his case, although he has been harassed by Mexican au-thorities to give such testimony, even while lying in the hospital too weak and exhausted to make them as a result of his treatment by the ab-dictors, and while he knew evidence was being obtained against him through intimidation of witnesses.

So stands the single, unsupported and, my government believes, atterly unfounded ground alleged for Jenkins's imprisonment.
What conclusion is to be drawn from such a reply of the Mexican government other than there has been government other than there has been a studied effort on the part of Mexican authorities to ensuare Jenkins in the intriencies of legal proceedings by affleging the commission of technical offenses, and by bringing unsupported charges against him, for a nursus?

In the first place, to divert the atten-In the first place, to divert the attention of the American public and the American Government, and indeed of Mexicans themselves, from the actual situation, namely that Puebla, the capital of the state of Puebla, and perhaps the second largest city in Mexico, is without adequate protection from outlaws who infest the immediate neighborhood and who were accustomed openly and freely to visit the city without hindrance, that by the failure to furnish adequate protection in this district the Mexican syrkorities have, through their neglisutherities have, through their negli-glence, made possible the abduction of Jenkins, and that in harmony with such an attitude on the part of the Mexican authorities they have failed to carry out the duty and obligation incumbent upon them to apprehend and punish the bandits concerned in the crime of which Jenkius was the American Public Indignant And in the second place it appears to have been the purpose of the Mexican Government to assume a will-ful indifference to the feelings of the American people that have been aroused to the point of indignation by the exposure, hardships and physical suffering endured by Jenkins during this abduction and his subsequent treatment at the hands of Mexican authorities.

In view of the considerations which have been set forth and in view particularly of the belief of my government that the charge against Jenkins of deliberate false swearing is unfounded, the Government of the United States must renew its request for the immediate relegie of Consular Agent Jenkins from further imprisonment.

Googe P. Durfuer, 1828 N. Entertorpe in the belief of my government of the charge against Jenkins from further intended it to be used for a private deliberate false awarring is unfounded.
