

LEGION MEN HERE DIVIDED ON BONUS

But Indorse Action of National Convention in Relying on Congress

PLANNING ENTERTAINMENT

That the American Legion at its convention in Minneapolis adopted a policy in referring the bonus question to Congress for whatever action was deemed proper is the opinion expressed in the official publication of the world war veterans, the American Legion Weekly, in the issue received here today.

"Realizing as the majority did realize," declares the weekly, "that a pay adjustment of the long months of service should be made in the interests of equity and fairness, these representatatives of all the men and women who were in service refused to fix the details or demand any set sum by way of what has been termed a bonus. The question was passed to Congress for determination.

"What other class, having in its power to demand a particular act benefiting its individual members, would have had the unselfishness to take such action? It did not mean that they do not want a pay readjustment. It did mean that there was not a full realization of the justice and equity embodied in a claim for such an adjustment. It means that they would not set the price upon their services and demand a specific sum, but would pass that responsibility to Congress; and, while the thought was not expressed, it is manifest that they will look to Congress and to the country for fair and honest dealing in the adjustment."

Pennsylvania Delegation Divided
Pennsylvania's delegation to the Minneapolis convention on the question of bonus, just as the delegation from this city in the state convention was divided on that issue. Today, there is not a unanimity of opinion on the subject among the service men in the seventy-eight posts here. But they will abide by the action of the national convention, in anticipation that the congressional solution of the problem will be a satisfactory one.

All ex-service men in the Sixteenth ward are invited to attend a meeting of American Legion Post No. 206, Monday evening, December 8, at the Garfield Club, 1124 North Third street, when permanent officers will be elected and business of importance will be transacted. Those desiring to enroll prior to this meeting may do so by communicating with the post commander, John F. Rieder, 131 Laurel street.

War Risk Insurance
War risk insurance is to be boosted in Philadelphia, as the result of plans now being perfected in conference between various former service and welfare organizations.

Confer on Insurance
A conference was held yesterday in the headquarters of the home service section of the Red Cross, 1907 Walnut street, which was attended by representatives of the American Legion, the Red Cross, the Young Men's Christian Association, the Jewish Welfare Board and the National Catholic Council. John H. O'Gorman presided. A committee was named to formulate a definite program to be presented to a later conference, and in which shall be incorporated dates and places of meetings throughout Philadelphia. This committee consists of Vincent A. Carroll, Post 270, American Legion; George W. Braden, of the Y. M. C. A.; and Irvin L. Stone, of the Jewish Welfare Board.

Oak Lane Post No. 263 will give a smoker and entertainment tomorrow evening, at the Old York Road Country Club, Jenkintown, Pa. Several addresses will be made by prominent men, and music will be furnished by an orchestra composed exclusively of ex-service men, all of whom are members of that post.

The comrades will assemble in the Oak Lane Library, Twelfth street and Oak Lane avenue, at 7:45 p. m., and proceed to the country club by automobile. The chairman of the entertainment committee is T. Walter Cleburn, 9521 North Tenth street.

Post 188, with its temporary headquarters in the Twelfth district police station, Eighth street below Jefferson, has elected the following officers: Carl Sachs, post commander; John McBride, vice commander; M. A. Greenberg, secretary; J. Paul Jones, treasurer; De- J. M. Cahlan, historian, and James Kane, chaplain.

"Do your Christmas shopping early—and do it at our bazaar!" is the slogan with which the George H. Imhof Post 153, of the American Legion, Harry Moylan; finance officer, R. T. Stockton; chaplain, John Pittman; historian, M. Ainsworth; five members at large of the executive committee, Russell Yarnall, S. Moran, J. Matthews, Dr. Fred Brill and E. Simmons.

Former service men who live in the First, Second and Twenty-sixth wards are being sought as members by Post 277, American Legion, temporary headquarters of which are at 814 South Tenth street.

American Legion Post No. 427, of Swarthmore, adopted the name of Lieutenant Harold Ainsworth Post at a meeting this week. Lieutenant Ainsworth, in whose honor the post is named, was killed while on duty as a pilot in the air service.

A permanent organization of the post was effected at the same meeting. A constitution was adopted and the following officers elected: Post commander, Albert P. Martin; vice post commander, E. C. White; adjutant, Harry Moylan; finance officer, R. T. Stockton; chaplain, John Pittman; historian, M. Ainsworth; five members at large of the executive committee, Russell Yarnall, S. Moran, J. Matthews, Dr. Fred Brill and E. Simmons.

The only piano that brings no regrets
Steinway
For Player For Listener
Nearly every piano is selected for one of two reasons—either to enable the purchaser to get more satisfaction from personal use of the instrument; or, to have the pleasure of hearing others play. The Steinway is the only piano that can give the completest measure of both personal improvement in playing and enjoyment of others at the keyboard. The richness of Steinway tone; its wonderful approximation to the singing voice; its delightful touch, and sensitive mechanism are unapproached in any other piano.
Edison Diamond-Disc Phonographs charm every hearer; meet every musical taste with their thousands of beautiful records; delight the eye with their handsome cabinets.
