STUDENT KITCHEN TO BE OPENED HERE

Will Give Four Months' Course in Medical Dietetics and Tea-room Management

A post-graduate school in domestic science, offering a four months' course in lunch and tea-room management and medical dietetics, will be formally opened at 1703 Walnut street tomorrow.

Home-cooked luncheons and dinners will be served to the public at reasonable prices by the students, and after this month special attention will be paid to the preparation of foods for sick folk. Prescriptions for special diet will be prepared.

"The students," explained Miss Helen M. Weaver, director, "will purchase the foodstuffs, figure the costs of meals, plan the menus, cook the food and serve the meals. Of course, there is to be no tipping in our dining room. Ten students are enrolled now, and I am expecting to have many others next week. We have the entire building and one floor will be used as a dormitory for the students."

"This, I believe, is going to answer in a large way the need for trained dietitians in hospitals, in public schools and many other places."

TO PLAN CONSTITUTION

State Convention to Meet in Senate Chamber Tomorrow

Pennsylvania's constitutional convention which is to pave the way for a revision of the constitution, holds its first session tomorrow in the Senate chamber of the state Capitol, Harrisburg.

Attorney General Schaffer is chairman of the commission.

"A plan of organization has been perfected," said Mr. Schaffer today, "and will be submitted to the convention tomorrow."

The opening session will begin at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The convention will continue Wednesday and Thursday and will hold sessions weekly until its work is completed.

One of the first things to be taken up tomorrow morning will be the election of a secretary.

MUNDELL UNAWARE OF DIVORCE ACTION

Father of Mona M. Storey Also Surprised at Holding of Son-in-Law in Bond Theft

PARENT IS CITY INSPECTOR

John Mundell, 5850 Pine street, inspector in the Bureau of Street Cleaning, was surprised today when he was told that his daughter, Mrs. Mona Mundell Storey, had started divorce proceedings against Frank de Risnes Storey, Harvard graduate and member of the New York bar.

He was further astonished when he learned that his son-in-law was under $10,000 bail in New York, under suspicion of having stolen four $1000 Pennsylvania Railroad bonds.

Wife Didn't Know Whereabouts Storey was arrested Saturday night in the Hotel Commodore, in New York, where he has been living in good style and unknown to his wife, who avers in her divorce complaint, that she did not know his whereabouts since last January, until she recently learned that he was living in the New York hotel. The Storey home is in New York. Mrs. Storey was Miss Mona Mundell. In July, 1917, she married Storey and the couple lived together until last January, when, according to the statement filed by Mrs. Storey, her husband left her.

Mr. Mundell said this morning that he was not aware of this. "He has not seen his daughter for six months or more and at that time he was apprized by her that she and his son-in-law were not living happily.

Storey Denies Theft Storey denies the charge of theft indignantly, and after his arrest Saturday night asserted that Assistant District Attorney Talley, of New York, accused him of being the "master mind" in a theft of more than $1,500,000 worth of securities.

The accused man said that Talley had implicated him in the larceny on statements made by Richard H. Lane, convicted last May of obtaining $86,000 from Victoria A. McKemie, 400 West 141st street, his foster-mother.

Mr. Mundell has received no word from his daughter since she started divorce proceedings, which were begun Friday.

HOLD TWO AS FOOTPADS

Prisoners Identified by Grocer Who Says They Robbed Him

Anthony Marmon and George Cookler, alias Coin, both of Twenty-seventh street above Girard avenue, were held without bail for court by Magistrate Price yesterday at the Twenty-second street and Hunting Park avenue police station, on a charge of highway robbery.

The two men were identified by Charles Dewees, a Tioga grocer, of 3540 North Eighth street, as being the men who held him up on November 21, just after he had left his store at 3534 North Seventeenth street, and robbed him of $55 and a wallet containing valuable papers and checks.
