IN PURIFYING ATHLETICS PENN MIGHT START BY REPAINTING THE BENCHES AT FRANKLIN FIELD

PENN AND LAFAYETTE START HOUSECLEANING

Action of Quakers Against Professionals Spurs Easton Institution Into Action—Dumoe Must Explain

WITHDRAW LETTERS

By EDWIN J. POLLOCK

Old Ben Franklin is out with his broom and mop and housecleaning in athletics has started at the University of Pennsylvania. The clean-up fever is contagious. Lafayette begins it today.

Penn is determined to rout out all the "simon pures" who are not simon pures. The Quakers intend to go further. They intend to run down every rumor and all those who have been caught in the atmosphere of professionalism will be brought up for investigation.

They will go still further. The eligibility standard will be raised not only among the students across the river, but also demands a strict code will be made to the Red and Blue rivals.

Dumoe on Stand

In this respect an ultimatum will be issued to Lafayette. The Easonians will be dropped from the 1920 football schedule unless they agree not to play Joe Dumoe, the All-American end, whose amateur standing has been questioned.

Dumoe will be hauled before the faculty committee on athletics at Lafayette today. The meeting was called by Frank March, the chairman, when the news of the action taken by Penn at a session of the University council on athletics reached up-state.

Dumoe played with the Phoenixville eleven on Saturday against Conshohocken and with him were Ben Derr, Pard Pearce, Heine Miller and Jim Neylon, all of Penn. Bodie Weldon, also of Lafayette, played with the Phoenixville aggregation, but Bodie graduates in June and any ruling on him, of course, will not affect the Maroon eleven next season.

The session of the Penn council yesterday afternoon was a stormy one and the verbal whip was swung heavily on the shoulders of those accused of professionalism. The councilmen decided the only course was to apologize to the opponents against whom Pearce played. Pearce is a self-declared pro. Apologies will be sent to P. M. C., State, Pitt, Delaware, Swarthmore and Dartmouth.

It is certain that no varsity letter will be awarded to Pearce, and it is very probable that the insignia also will be refused to Ben Derr, Jim Neylon and Heine Miller.

Dr. John Adams, the chairman of the council, stated that Penn will pattern its athletic code after Yale, Harvard and Princeton and that it will be strictly enforced. Doctor Adams intends to deal severely with those of the 1919 squad who have taken the liberty to turn to professional ranks.

Pickering Explains

Major M. J. Pickering, the graduate manager, issued a formal statement signed by the members of the football committee explaining why Derr and Pearce were not played in the Cornell game, the reason given being that the coaches decided to play safe and not to use the two players on account of the rumors circulated concerning professionalism. The statement follows:

> The football committee at a meeting held yesterday afternoon announced that after a full investigation of the cases of Walter I. Pearce and Ben Derr, the first a substitute back and the latter a regular member of the eleven, found that both these men were dropped by the coaches from the football squad because of rumors which came to the attention of the coaches that Pearce had played professional baseball last summer following his discharge from the marine corps, and that Derr had played a game of professional football on the Sunday before Thanksgiving. Pearce admitted that these rumors were true, as he did, but they were never proved nor admitted, but were deemed sufficiently important by the coaches to warrant his being dropped.
> Pearce reported late for football practice and avoided signing the so-called ironclad or statement of amateur standing, and was overlooked because all of the ironclads had been signed in the latter part of September, just before the first game of the season, and he was the only man joining the squad after that time. An apology will be sent by the football committee to those teams against which Pearce played.

Signed by
GEORGE M. FRAZIER, Chairman,
JOHN H. MINDS,
SYDNEY THAYER,
TRACEY PURSE,
DeBENNEVILLE BELL,
DR. JOHN W. ADAMS.

The discussion of the accused players took up so much time that the question of coaches for 1920 was carried over to the next meeting which will be held Thursday afternoon.

"Dead" Man to Captain North Carolina Eleven

Chapel Hill, N. C., Dec. 9.—B. C. Harrell, of Marshville, N. C., left tackle on the University of North Carolina football team, who at one time during the war was officially pronounced a dead man, has been elected captain of the 1920 team.

When Harrell was at Camp Jackson a false report of his death was sent to his home. Word also reached the university, but notice of the mistake did not, and Captain Harrell's name is included in the list of the university's war deaths in the 1919 Yackety Yack, the student annual.

Camden is not certain of the first half pennant of the Eastern Basketball League by any means. Two of the clubs that have a look-in with the Skeeters come together this evening at the auditorium, Chew street and Chelten avenue, when Germantown tackles Trenton and, it will help the Skeeters, especially if Trenton wins.

Not barring Camden, the contestants of this evening's game are playing the best basketball in the Eastern League and the game tonight promises to be one of the best of the season. The home club has been strengthened at least 25 per cent with the addition of two stars in Holman and Schmeelk and the largest crowd of the season will be on hand to greet this pair, as they took the house by storm with their exhibition against De Neri.

The G's will have to be on the alert, however, as Trenton has struck its stride and won both games played last week. With White in the line-up the Potters are a formidable crowd. If Germantown can come through with a couple of wins this week and the Skeeters get upset it will give an entirely different complexion to the race.

The American League will also be in action this evening at Traymore Hall, Franklin street and Columbia avenue. The Hancock-Xavier should be a good game as Xavier has a fast club and their defeat last week was hard to understand. S. P. H. A., picked by many as the pennant winners, will have little difficulty in winning from Criterion.

Monday evening, December 8, at Moose Hall, witnessed the most miserable exhibition of basketball played to date in the Eastern League. The contending forces were North Phillies and Reading and the less said about the game the better. About half of the players were evidently dreaming of baseball or something else, for they were anywhere but in the game.

The score at the end of the first half was 8-7 in favor of the Phils and Reading switched ahead at the start of the second half and then, after the totals were tied up, went out in the lead once more and won by the score of 20-17.

SCHEDULE FOR TODAY

Afternoon—Ralph vs. Maturo. Seeback vs. Fink.
Evening—Kreuter vs. Keogh. Allen vs. Layton.

By JAMES S. CAROLAN

Ralph Greenleaf, of Wilmington, took the lead in the national championship pocket billiards tournament last night in the Parkway Building by a sensational victory over Jerome Keogh, of Rochester, by the score of 125 to 54. The Wilmington cue expert gave one of the most brilliant exhibitions of the tourney. His victory last night puts him in direct line for the title.

As Greenleaf was tied with Keogh for the lead, with four victories, his triumph last night was his fifth in a row, while Keogh went into second place, giving the Wilmington lad a clean hold on the lead.

In the other evening game Benny Allen, of Kansas City, registered a victory over Morris Fink, of this city, by the score of 125 to 100.

The afternoon matches resulted in a win by Joseph Concannon, of New York, over James Maturo, of Colorado Springs, 125-115, and Charles Seeback, of New Haven, over Eddie Ralph, of Hightstown, N. J., in the opening encounter, 125 to 74.

Greenleaf's exhibition last night showed clearly the claim he has on the championship. Playing before by far the largest crowd of the week, Greenleaf was cool and collected, except at the very start of the match. The ball was not large enough to accommodate the host of followers who wanted to see the battle between Keogh and Greenleaf, and although more than two thousand persons were packed into the galleries, hundreds were turned away from the door.

Both players started off by playing the game safe. Greenleaf won the bank and Keogh broke. Neither tallied in the first two innings, but Keogh broke the ice in the third round with three balls. He followed in the next inning with the balance of the frame and had a clear lead of fourteen balls. Nothing happened until the sixth inning when Greenleaf clicked off a string of forty-six straight, his high run for the day. He lost the forty-seventh on a hard try to the side pocket. With twelve in both his ninth and tenth innings, Greenleaf had a 70 to 25 lead, which practically clinched the game. He cashed in with a string of 40, unfinished, on the nineteenth frame.

TWENTY-FIVE GET "Y"

Award of Yale Varsity Football Insignia Is Announced

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 9.—Yale's annual award of the letter "Y" has been announced by the athletic board of control. Twenty-five members of the football eleven were given the coveted insignia as follows: Acosta, Aldrich, Allen, Braden, Callahan, Campbell, Dickens, Galt, Galvin, Hammill, Hubbard, Hempton, Laroche, Lay, Munger, Neville, Reinhardt, Robinson, Sidenberg, Vorys, Walters, Walker, Webb, Welles and Zenner. Of this number, Allen, Braden, Campbell, Galt, Hubbard, Laroche, Neville, Robinson, Vorys, Walters and Zenner will not return to Yale next season. Larroche, Braden, Neville, Allen, Callahan and Galt alone of the twenty-five had won their insignia formerly.

Ship Sporting Goods to Siberia

New York, Dec. 9.—Winter sports for American troops in Siberia to relieve the monotony of duty in that bleak country were assured when the Young Men's Christian Association announced it had ordered large quantities of athletic goods for shipment to the first available date. The consignment will include 2000 pairs of skates, especially designed to fit army shoes, 200 sets of skis, 100 sleds, 500 hockey sticks and 175 pucks.

Perry Knocks Out Milburn Saylor

Youngstown, O., Dec. 9.—Jack Perry, of Pittsburgh, welterweight stopped Milburn Saylor, of Indianapolis, in the third round of a bout that was looked for twelve. Perry served up a cruel body beating from the jump-off, knocking Saylor down once in the first, five times in the second and once for the count of ten in the third.

Pal Moran Beats Drummie

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 9.—Pal Moran, of New Orleans, won over Johnny Drummie, of Jersey City, last night. Moran had all the better of the boxing rounds, while Drummie did little but hang on. In the semiwind-up Paul Schultz, of this city, fought a draw with Kid Wright, a negro middleweight. Phil Doran, of Jersey City, won easily over Frank Heppe, a New York welterweight.

Card to Captain Amherst's

Amherst, Mass., Dec. 9.—Glenn E. Card, of Cortlandt, N. Y., was elected captain of the Amherst College football team for 1920. He played at fullback on this year's eleven.

KINSELLA HURT IN MATCH

May Have Suffered Broken Rib Last Saturday

New York, Dec. 9.—That Walter Kinsella played through the final sets of his court tennis match with Jay Gould for the national open title last Saturday in spite of an injury which may prove to be a fractured rib, developed yesterday. Kinsella consulted Dr. Cornelius J. Tyson, of this city, who found that the professional was suffering from what appeared to be a strained muscle in his left side.

An X-ray photograph will be taken this afternoon to determine whether there is any fracture. Kinsella was hit suddenly by a sharp pain in the second set of his match last Saturday and displayed a lot of grit in reminding on the court to the end of the third set. He complained of pains in his left side three weeks ago.

Frankford Athletes to Dine

It was announced at the Frankford High School yesterday that the football players and members of the soccer team would be guests of Frank Sidebotham at a dinner at Kistler's next Friday night. Frank Sidebotham, a son of the host, is the athletic director and manager of the football team. The election of captain will probably be held at the supper and it is expected the choice will be among Benjamin Ellinghead, halfback, who kicked the goal from field in the Germantown game; Bill Smythe, the end, and Pop Bemmy, halfback.

Statzell Captain Penn Charter

Penn Charter warriors elected H. P. Statzell captain of the football team. He was a brilliant end and was one of the best players on the scholastic ranks. S. L. Clark will manage the team, stepping up from the post of assistant manager. The warriors will receive gold footballs, gifts of the school. The presentation of the interacademic championship trophy will be held some morning in the near future.

Northeast Manufacturers' League

In the Northeast Manufacturers' League last night at Frankford, McNeely and Price defeated Plumb by 51 to 12, and Barrett won from Feerderer by the score of 20 to 10.

West Philly Interclass Games

The West Philadelphia High School got started in basketball yesterday when the senior class defeat the sophomore, 30 to 19. The junior class trounced the freshmen, 58 to 8.

MURPHY PUT AWAY BY BLOW ON BREAK

Joe Benjamin Scores Knockout in Second Round With Short Right-Hander

RIVALS JACKSON WALLOP

By LOUIS H. JAFFE

Joe Benjamin tripped into the limelight as a serious rival for right-hand punching laurels now attributed to Willie Jackson, admitted by many and recognized by others as the greatest star-board socker in the lightweight division. Jimmy Murphy's chin, believed to be as durable as chilled steel, was used as an experiment and the means of Benjamin's stepping before the spotlight.

It was a short right cross to the jaw, one minute and thirty-six seconds after the sound of the gong beginning the second canto, that made the floor come up and meet Jim as he flopped for the ten-second toll.

Benjamin's knockout victory was clean cut, and won for him a warm spot in the hearts of Philly fans. On the other mitt, Murphy's knockout should serve as a good lesson for boxers who have a tendency to break with their arms outstretched, or down at their sides, "cleanly," as they say.

Six-Inch Punch

Benjamin crossed his right, a short punch traveling less than six inches, as he and Murphy stepped back from the breakaway. Many of the spectators did not see the blow that laid the West Philadelphian low. It was a "sucker punch," as Nick Hayes would have it.

Coming out of a clinch, Benjamin took one step backward, then stepped forward before Murphy lifted his arms, crossing his right simultaneously, and zowie—it was curtains for one of the millions of heroes of the "Big Fight." Jimmy dropped back on his haunches. His eyes appeared to be clear, and he knew what he wanted to do—but apparently couldn't do it.

Murph tried his utmost to get to his feet at the count of nine. But his strength failed him, and it was not until Referee Grimson's right arm was falling for the tenth time that Jeems, swayingly, regained his equilibrium.

To prove that he could continue, Murphy started to swing with both arms, but Grimson stepped between the men, took Jimmy's wallops on his back, then ordered the boxers to their respective corners. Murphy might have been able to continue, but he had been counted out and there was no further move for Grimson to make.

During the first round there was more action put on than throughout the entire six sessions of the Battling Murray-Dave Astey semifinal. Shortly after the bout started Benjamin staggered Murphy with a short right-hander and followed up with another that dropped Jimmy for the count of two. From then until the bell ended the round Murphy and Benjamin exchanged almost blow for blow, and each was shaken up several times.

Astey Stalls

Dave Astey is a good boxer, when he wants to be, but last night it was evident that he didn't, all of which caused his bout with the petit Bat Murray to be a fizzle. The little Italian carried each and every round, all of them being listless and displeasing to the fans.

Whitey Fitzgerald won a hard six-rounder from Allentown Dundee. The scrap between Young Nelson and Bobby McCann was a corker, with neither having an edge at the finish, and Al Reynolds won in six rounds from Bobby Robideau.

Stecher Downs Zbyszko in Long Wrestling Bout

New York, Dec. 9.—Joe Stecher, of Dodge, Neb., threw Wladek Zbyszko, of Poland, in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match last night after 2 hours 24 minutes and 16 seconds. The match was a finish one and Stecher scored the winning fall with a head scissors and wrist lock.

PENN COMPLIMENTED

Soccer Men at Monthly Meeting Praise Play of Red and Blue

The monthly meeting of the Football Association of Eastern Pennsylvania and district was held last evening at the Hotel Walton. The president of the Eastern District, Douglas Stewart, was complimented for the excellent showing made by the University of Pennsylvania soccer team, of which he is the coach. This team went through the season without meeting defeat at the hands of any college team and at the same time having but one goal scored against it.

Mr. Carpenter, delegate from the Blue Mountain League, reported the affiliation with their league of the Lehigh University soccer team. In order to encourage the game of soccer in the Bethlehem district among the juniors the Eastern District appointed a committee to purchase a cup for the new junior league, which will consist of about eight teams.

One of the best thoughts brought out in the meeting for the good of soccer was the feeling that every effort should be made to eliminate the use of profanity on the field, especially among the younger players. The Eastern District has registered 1800 players.

Germantown Church League

Covenant Presbyterian won a close and interesting game last night in the Germantown Boys' Club Church League from Trinity United in the Germantown Boys' Club cage by the score of 29 to 11. The second half of the double-header between West Side Presbyterian and Wakefield Presbyterian resulted in an easy victory for the former by 36 to 19.

Drexel League

Fifth United did not have much trouble defeating West Park in a Drexel Biddle League game last night by 22 to 11. The score, however, does not represent the run of the game, as the Fifth United boys played rings around their opponents.

Pierce-Arrow trucks are still running after 8 years. Even if their service were now ended, each would have cost less than $600 a year depreciation.

It will pay to buy durability. Time is the biggest expense item in truck operation. Durability means operating a long time and all the time—minimum time lost on the road or in the shop.

No. 2 the first Pierce-Arrow truck marketed is used by the International Brewing Company of Buffalo for keg deliveries between Buffalo and neighboring towns.

To demonstrate the practicability of the worm gear, then new, it ran fully loaded over the road from New York to Boston on May 28th, 1911, in 20 hours. After 7 years' commercial use, it repeated this run in 18 hours and 7 minutes, carrying the same load. Its fame has spread throughout the country.

It has traveled in 8 years 160,000 miles.
