CAMPANINI LAID TO REST

Opera Singers Add Solemn Beauty to Requiem Mass

Chicago, Dec. 22 .- (By A. P.) --Chicago, Dec. 22.—(By A. P.)— Funeral services for Clefonte Campanioi, general director of the Chicago Grand Opera Co., who died here Fridge of violets. A solid bank of flowers across the stage formed the background. day, were held today at Holy Name until it can be taken to Italy for burial.

Hundreds of paysons were turned away from the Auditorium Theatre yes. terday, when, with every seat occupied, the velvet curtains were drawn aside, revealing the coffin containing the body

day, were held today at Holy Name Catbedral. A solemn requiem high mass was sung and grand opera artists in the choir sang. Solos were sung by Mme. Galli-Curci and other stars, while the conductors assisted the choir.

Later the body of the maestro was placed in a vault, where it will remain

There was no culogy, only music.
No one appeared on the stage, but from the wings there came meightes from an orchestra and from Alessandro Bonei and Rosa Raisa. The orchestra pit was diled with flowers, while on the conductor's stand lay Campanin's baton and the score of his favorite opera,
placed in a vault, where it will remain
