Nancy Wynne Tells of the Saturday Evening Dancing Class Meeting—Theatre Party for Miss Ellen Harrison-Plans for "Holiday Night"

THE principal excitement in society tonight is the Saturday Evening Dancing Class party, which will be held in the Bellevue-Stratford. It is the Committee Class, you know, and is for the subdebs. The meeting, which was to have been held on December 13, was called off because of the death of Mrs. Charles Da Costa, who was on the committee. It is committee the committee of the death of Mrs. Charles Da Costa, who was on the committee. It is the Miss Elizabeth Woolston, Miss Elizabeth Woolston, affairs this evening for the younger set. The J. Heron Crosmans, of Ardmore, are giving a dance for their children, and the Charles Castis Harrisons, Jr., will give a theatre party and supper for Ellen, their second daughter. Augusta, the elder one, will go to the Hepburn dinner and to the Dancing Class. She will be a debutante next year, you know. year, you know, DON'T you like the wide scarfs some DON'T you like the wide scarfs some of the women are wearing this year? I saw Mrs. Charlie Fox walking up Chestnut street a day or so before Christmas, and she certainly did look well. She was wearing a purple sports suit, and a long woolen scarf of tan was wound about her neck. A hat of a lighter shade of tan cloth adorned with small French flowers about the crown finished the smart costume. She is so pretty, I think. She is a sister of Mrs. Joe Harrison and Mrs. Stevenson Easby. You remember, she was Miss Mary Large.

people, and it's at highest of three and carry said seventy babies of three and four years up and down stairs. So the Mrs. J. S. Laycock, of Wayne, will board of managers is certainly not board of managers is certainly not give a dance in honor of her daughter, Bee C. Hubsher, and Mr. Morris L.

Some of those associated with Mrs. Leslie in the work are Mrs. John S. Newbold, Mrs. Fielding Otis Lewis, Mrs. Ashton Devereux, Mrs. James Mundy, Mrs. Otis Skinner, Mrs. Archibald Barklie, Mrs. Robert Bicknell, Mrs. Arthur Primrose Baugh, Miss Edith Rivinus, Mrs. Samuel Castner and a number of others.

I HEAR that the Club Night next week by the Plays and Players will be extremely interesting. I should say it will if, as the program reads, Mrs. Harrison K. Caner, Jr., and Eleanor Beetem are to be transferred from girls into seals, and back into human form again. That will be some play, I should say!

The first of the three one-act plays will be "The Constant Lover," in which Helen Shelton, a debutante of 'this year, will be the star, and Mr. David Sellers Vogels will be the second constellation.

The second play is to be the "Song"

Sellers Vogels will be the second constellation.

The second play is to be the "Song of the Seal." It is a Hebridean legend and sounds, as I said, remarkable. The actors in this will be Mr. Joe Fox, Roy Smith, Mrs. Caner and Eleanor Beetem. Then comes the third play. "Dust of the Road." and the players will be Carl Altmaier, Raymond Robinson, Dr. Earl Rice and Mrs. Charles Dickinson. They all sound good to me, so I'll be there for sure. The club nights will be January 5 and January 6.
