

U. S. CAPITALISTS CRITICIZED IN ROME

Italian Senate Is Told Anglo-American Wealth Opposes Fiume Aspirations

WILSON CALLED ARROGANT

By the Associated Press. Rome, Dec. 28.—Anglo-American capitalists were blamed for opposition to Italy's claims to Fiume by General Robilant, speaking in the Senate yesterday.

"Anglo-American commerce," he declared, "needed Fiume as a port of penetration into central Europe, preferring to have it in the hands of a small country rather than under the control of a great power. This plan was backed by the peace conference which was favorable to the Slav peoples, wishing them to form a barrier against a resurrection of Germany."

"Anglo-American capitalism selected three ports for its purpose, Fiume, Danzig and Constantinople, assigning the first to Jugo-Slavia; the second to Poland, and the last to Turkey. The last named country is under control of the league of nations and all know the league of nations is in the hands of the Anglo-Saxons."

Discontent Creeping Into Army. General Robilant, who was commander of the Fourth army during the war, Italian representative on the Inter-Allied military commission at Versailles and a member of the commission which conducted an inquiry into disorders at Fiume last July, said that Italy's handling of the Fiume situation had been a succession of blunders. He closed by saying:

"Discontent is creeping into the army because injustices which have been committed, but I trust Italy will triumph over all present difficulties." The plebiscite at Fiume could not be recognized by Italy, he said, because it was contrary to the pact of London, which gave Fiume to Croatia, nor could Italy proclaim annexation of Fiume because the Allies would neither have permitted nor acknowledged it.

"President Wilson never recognized the treaty of London," the speaker continued, "but Italy could not renounce."

Soldiers Testify Six Civilians Fired on Lieutenant at Viceregal Lodge

FEARED ATTACK ON VICEROY

By the Associated Press. Dublin, Dec. 28.—Details of Sunday's shooting affray near the viceregal lodge in Phoenix Park were given today at the inquest over the body of Lieutenant Ross, an officer of the guard, who was killed at the same time that a civilian found in the park was shot. The firing led to the belief in some quarters last night that an attack was being made against the lodge, the residence of Lord French, the viceroy, whose life was attempted last week.

Evidence given at the inquest by two soldiers of the guard showed that at 3 o'clock on Sunday morning they, with Lieutenant Ross, left the viceregal lodge and went on patrol down the road where they saw a man crossing the grass. When they challenged the man he refused to reply and they rushed him. Shots were fired and the lieutenant collapsed.

The corporal of the guard, it was testified, fired at the civilian, who fell. The soldiers swore they saw six civilians, who fired shots that brought down the lieutenant. They fired at the civilians, but the latter disappeared.

The dead civilian was identified as Lawrence Kennedy, a hiker's laborer, who lived in Dublin.

Before the inquest it was said that Kennedy was a decorated soldier who on Saturday night had left Steevens's Hospital, where he had received treatment for injuries which he declared he had sustained from some soldiers in the Dublin barracks.

READERS' VIEWS ON DOCTOR CONWELL'S SPIRIT VISITATIONS

Rabbi's Views on Spirits. To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—As a rabbi and teacher of the Hebrew language, also of the Bible, I will try, in the little knowledge of English I possess, to express my opinion in re the Rev. Dr. R. H. Conwell's vision of his dead wife.

It is stated in the Bible (Ecclesiastes, I, 9): "There is nothing new under the sun." And there are many passages in the Bible that show that stories of spiritual visions similar to Doctor Conwell's and others are not new. They are in evidence since the creation of the world itself with its human beings and souls. Nevertheless, it is forbidden by the Bible to believe in the "familiar spirits," especially to practice same (Deuteronomy xviii, 11).

The story of King Saul with the woman of "familiar spirits" (Samuel, xviii) shows us that in the ancient times "familiar spirits," or "inquiring of the dead" were of frequent use and, therefore, in the Bible time, anticipating bad results of practicing same, it was forbidden. King Saul himself was the one who ordered destruction of all those that practiced "familiar spirits," but he himself, as it is known, was an abnormal man from suffering from high-grade nervousness and, being "diseased" about the last and heavy war he had with the Philistines. He then undertook this last means and hope—by "inquiring" through the "woman of familiar spirits" the consult of the dead prophet Samuel.

It is believed and understood that something in the Bible is forbidden—that is in some ways harmful for us human beings—morally or physically. There is no doubt if we should believe. We are living in our world surrounded by apparitions or ghosts and practice "familiar spirits." It would not benefit us but harm, especially people of lower education who would fear their own shadows and fearfulness, as known, results very badly on both of our spiritual and material conditions.

Your paper on December 26 I see a communication from Elsie May, whom I would like to address through your columns.

You seem to be religiously inclined. If so, where do you get your spiritualistic ideas from? In God's Word we are forbidden to have any intercourse with spirit mediums or necromancers, Deut., xviii, 10-12.

Evil spirits have been with us ever since the flood, and, of course, know everything that is going on everywhere, and can tell things truthfully, if they would; but as they are bad spirits, having been banished from God's presence, they are untruthful, and cannot be trusted.

God forbade his people to communicate with them. When they come to you in the guise of your dead ones believe them not, for they are imposters and can change themselves into many forms, and they are doing a lot of harm today.

Doctor Conwell is also deceived by them, as are many other innocent persons. The time is coming very shortly when people will be able to communicate with their dead relations, but not until Satan is bound for a thousand years and the resurrection is past.

The Subconscious Mind. To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—If a future life could be proven to the satisfaction of all concerned, some progress would have been made before. It is a difficult subject, and there are no new methods being brought forward now to prove the claim. The only new situation is a revived public interest. When the people as a whole become interested in a subject, something more or less decisive is usually the result.

A majority of the people are not liable to discard the belief in a future life. In order to do this it would be necessary to discard all religious teachings and attribute the experiences here discussed to mere matter of the mind, pure, if not simple. Scientists too often assume the position that whenever they cannot prove a proposition it is their duty to prove that it is not true. This is assuming an unnecessary responsibility.
