WEATHER Fair

The New Year Is Starting With a Right Good Will at Wanamaker's

Sharing With Others on the Frontier

Old books tell us of the hardships of the early settlers of the West. They homesteaded their land, quarters, halves or entire 160-acre sections of land and of forests that the Government allowed them if they stopped and built log-cabin homes. Distances between neighbors and relatives and to an occasional religious meeting were great, and horses were scarce and roads there were none, and no ways to follow except trails or footpaths.

To be neighborly, if a farmer had a horse and wanted to visit he would take his wife on the horse behind him, and, after riding a mile or two, they would both get down and tie their horse on the trail and walk on, leaving the animal to be found by their neighbor, who was walking the same trail. Then the latter, with his wife, would get upon the horse and ride to catch the owner of the horse, who would repeat the "ride and tie," as they called it, and thus help each other along the way to cover long distances in the wilderness of the west.

Two men and their wives, it is said, would sometimes get to church with one horse. To think of the hardships of others and to share with them whatever we can, is one of the secrets of great happiness, whether we are working together in the same store or being neighborly around our homes.

A Magnificent Tea Service Adapted From Daniel Marot

THE period from which this silver is taken is that of Louis XIV and of such elaborateness and intricacy is the hand chasing that it has taken two years' time to complete this service and the several pieces which accompany it.

There is very little such handsome sterling silver being made today. The seven-piece tea service is valued at $3800 and there are no meat and dessert platters, vegetable dishes, compotes, gravy dish, water pitcher and other articles.

(Jewelry Store, Chestnut and Thirteenth)

100 Afternoon Frocks Reduced $18.75 to $50

Odds and ends of novelty and other dresses, tricotines, satins, serges and the fine wool cloths which are ideal for tailored styles. Some of the serges and tricotines are heavily embroidered, a few are beaded. Colors are navy, black and brown, chiefly.

(First Floor, Central)

New and Lower Prices on the Fine Cloth Coats for Women

These are the handsome cloth coats, without fur, planned for those women who like to wear their own furs. They are distinctive, one-of-a-kind models, usually, in styles that will appeal to women of discriminating tastes.

(First Floor, Central)

New Plaid Skirtings for Spring

Smooth and rough woolly suitings with plaids running from small to immense in size, and color schemes that are very striking, indeed—as in a combination of light tan, navy and green, or very quiet, as in a dark green and blue combination. One novel arrangement of color is orange, navy and blue.

This Winter White Sale Comes in the Nick of Time

It isn't merely that women are turning their attention to laying in supplies for the next six months. It is the fact—more important than anything else at this moment to thrifty, reasonable people—that there are thousands of splendid fresh new garments at prices which are amazingly low—not only low in these times of high prices, but low for the quality of the merchandise.

The majority of these undermuslins are priced from 75c to $6.75, and every one of them is from 25 to 33 1-3 per cent less than regular prices today.

A few of the notably good things in the Sale are these—The wonderfully fine Philippine undermuslins, hand made and embroidered. Prices of these run from $2.65 to $6.75 for nightgowns and from $3.85 to $5.75 for chemises.

The silk undergarments beginning with a crepe de chine chemise at $3.85.

The great group of extra-size undermuslins. You will find these and the thousands of other good things in the Sale on the East and West Aisles and Market Street Outposts on the Main Floor, and on the Third Floor, Central.

Spring Fashions Appear in Some New Gloves for Women

Of chamois-finished lisle, the gloves are altogether new in style and unusually attractive.

There is white, the natural color, sand color and beaver brown, the gloves are in two lengths, one short, with a turn-back, pointed cuff in contrasting color, edged with lace. This style is $1.85 a pair.

The other style is in longer length with strap wrist, and is $2 a pair.

Both styles are washable, of course, and most practical for wear now and all through the Spring.

(Main Floor, Central)

Women's Redleaf Sweaters, Hand-Knit of Fine Wool

We have just a little lot of these beautiful imported sweaters and you will find them in the London Shop.

They are pull-over style, in various colors, and scarcely two alike.

Price $25.

(The Gallery, Chestnut)

Jersey Cloths Arrive for Spring Frocks

They are in all the new Spring shades, the soft browns, tan, taupe and so on and also in navy blue.

The cloth is all wool and a very nice quality. It is 54 inches wide and $3.50 a yard.

(First Floor, Chestnut)

Women's Skirts—$5 and $12.75

At $5 are homespun skirts in dark and light gray mixtures, buttoned at the side, with pocket. They will be good, practical skirts for winter use.

At $12.75 are skirts of soft wool velour checks in a new style, with self pipings and new pockets—a style copied from one of the new spring models. Gathered back with one pleat down the centre. There is tan-and-blue, green-and-tan, blue-and-black; and the checks are the small ones so much liked.

(First Floor, Central)

Men's Fine Beaver Hats, $8—Reduced a Third

These are the beautiful shaggy beaver hats which we introduced to Philadelphia this season and which are having such a vogue. Men have called them the finest soft hats ever.

Very graceful in shape, very flexible and light in weight and in delightful soft colors.

$8 is a third less than their former price.

(Main Floor, Market)

Men Stepping Forward Into the New Year

—must naturally feel a strong desire to put on a newer and fresher and better appearance, befitting the newer and better hopes and purposes of the time.

Without further ado, we want them to feel confident that the fresher, finer and better new clothes which so many men now feel they would like to put on are here in a choice that is liberal and in the only quality that this Store will tolerate—that is the best that any Store, in America can show at the prices.

For the regular overcoats, $40 to $90.

For fur-collared overcoats, $125 and $150.

For fur-lined overcoats, $150 to $325.

For suits, $32 to $80.

For men going South—white flannel trousers, $18 a pair—in the Men's Clothing Store.

(Third Floor, Market)

These Boys' Blue Serge Suits at $16.50 and $18 Are a Real Investment

Suits of the same good grade are no longer obtainable at wholesale for these prices and there is no likelihood that they will be in a good while.

In the face of this condition it will pay to buy these suits now, because they can be worn right into the Spring season, or kept put away until then, if not needed just now. In either case they are bound to prove a paying investment, because there is no telling when their prices will again be as low.

Of pure wool, carefully made and in the best Norfolk style, some with and some without plaits. Sizes for boys of 8 to 18 years.
