MRS. WILSON'S RECIPES FOR WHITE POTATOES

This Is the Most Popular of All Foods, Since It Can Be Used in So Many Ways for All Meals

Mineral Properties Lie Directly Under the Skin, Therefore Parings Should Be Very Thin

By MRS. M. A. WILSON

IN SPITE of many differences of opinion, it is generally considered that the potato is a native of South America.

Today it is universally used in Europe and America, and it is exceeded only by the wheat and rye crops.

The white or Irish potato is so called because of its introduction from Ireland into Europe and the United States.

When you wish to cook them without the skins, peel them very thin and then place in a saucepan and cover with boiling water.

Select smooth, even-sized potatoes and then wash and dry. Now rub well with shortening and place in the oven to bake.

For parika potatoes stick with parika. For a la Touraine, chop very fine and add.

mince five strips of bacon and add two onions, minced fine. One leek. Four branches of parsley.

Cook until tender and bacon is nicely browned. Add the potatoes, tossing gently until well coated with bacon fat and herbs.

Turn on a hot dish and sprinkle with finely grated cheese and paprika.

Potato Croquettes Norwegian

Prepare sufficient potatoes to measure, when minced, three cups. Place in a bowl and add:

Four strips of bacon, minced fine and browned nicely. Two tablespoons of bacon fat.

Two tablespoons of minced parsley. One and one-half teaspoons of salt. One-half teaspoon of white pepper.

One teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce. Four tablespoons of hot milk.

Mix thoroughly and then mold into croquettes. Dip in beaten egg and then roll in fine crumbs.

Fry until golden brown in hot fat. Stick a tiny sprig of parsley in the style of a flag on top.

Potato Dumplings

Place in a mixing bowl. One cup of mashed potatoes.

One cup of flour. Two teaspoons of baking powder. One teaspoon of salt.

One teaspoon of white pepper. One large onion, grated. Four branches of parsley, minced fine.

One egg. Work to a smooth mass and form into balls.

Drop in boiling stock and cook for ten minutes.

Irish Potato Fadge

Place in a mixing bowl. One cup of milk.

Two cups of mashed potatoes. One and one-half teaspoons of salt. Two tablespoons of bacon fat.

Stir and beat until smooth and remove soon as possible. Turn into a bowl and let cool, then add:

Three and one-half cups of flour. Two level tablespoons of baking powder.

Work to a smooth dough and then roll out one-half inch thick into squares or oblongs.

Bake in a moderately hot griddle, turning frequently for twelve minutes.

SYNOPSIS

Although Virginia West and Kathleen Foster were very close friends at boarding school they were separated by life.

Virginia learned from that one experience that, although Jiminy really loved her and she never had any doubt of that, his love did not excuse those faults in Virginia which his mother had never possessed.

He did not take into consideration Virginia's youth, Virginia's rare sweetness, her inexperience or anything that might have far overbalanced her thoughtlessness in housekeeping.

It was for this reason that it is gratifying when the better sort of designers and clothes makers turn their abilities to the making of little girls' clothes.

tomorrow, suggested a wonderful plan to Virginia, a thought that Virginia accepted with her usual keen enthusiasm, and which led to trouble.

Precautions! Fruits and vegetables from your garden, which have been stored in boxes, baskets, barrels, and bins, should be sorted over to remove decayed specimens which may infect the rest.

The Mother-Heart How deep is the love of the Mother-Heart! How wide are the star-flowered meadows of heaven!

Go you with the stars and meet God's eyes— And stand a-thrill in the light of His smile.

She Wears Duwety, Too

A Daily Fashion Talk by Florence Rose

The coat of dark blue with a satin belt is serviceable as well as pretty. Dressing the little girl attractively gives her a good start in choosing her own clothes becomingly as she grows older

WHEN you spend time and money on the little girl's clothes you are investing just so much on an important branch of her education.

It is for this reason that it is gratifying when the better sort of designers and clothes makers turn their abilities to the making of little girls' clothes.

Please Tell Me What to Do

By CYNTHIA

For Shame, Anna C!

Dear Cynthia—Regarding the subject of kissing in the paper signed "Cautious" I think the party does not know what she is talking about.

I know a lot of old maids like I think "Cautious" meant that you could not kill if kisses exploded. They would be right all the time.

I have heard such talk before and I read what you wrote to Cynthia. I know my letter sounds a little out of order, but I expect some time ago.

With apologies to "Cautious," who writes to the column some time ago, Cynthia is printing this letter.

What He Thinks of Smacking Dear Cynthia—I have read the letter of the girl who has the habit of cracking boys in the face and of the fellow who signs "Star Dancer."

I never as much as raised my hand to a girl, but if any girl would deliberately crack me in the face, why I certainly would crack her back.

The well-shaped sugar jar for powdered sugar, with its silver-finish top, looked so very nice I thought that it was cut glass.

MARY'S MOTHER DIDN'T KNOW THAT SHE HAD BEEN SICK

But She Heard It From Mary's Best Friend—Some Families Never Tell One Another What They Are Doing

MARY'S best friend met Mary's mother the other day in the street, "Oh, how is Mary?" she asked eagerly.

Telling news is a give-and-take affair. The mother who wants her children to tell her all their troubles, their joys, sorrows and problems, must give them her sincere interest.

Doesn't it seem strange that her own mother should have to rely on friends to hear what her daughter is doing, how she is, and what new things she is getting in her house?

AREN'T they interested in what their daughters are doing? Don't they care where their children are? Or have they never told them anything themselves?

What He Thinks of Smacking Dear Cynthia—I have read the letter of the girl who has the habit of cracking boys in the face and of the fellow who signs "Star Dancer."

I never as much as raised my hand to a girl, but if any girl would deliberately crack me in the face, why I certainly would crack her back.
