SALE OF RUTH RUINS GATE RECEIPTS FOR GIANTS' SPRING TOUR

Noted Slugger Was Expected to Be Big Gate Attraction in Series With Red Sox Down South—Now Charley Ebbets Is Likely to Reap the Benefits

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger Copyright, 1920, by the Public Ledger Company

NOW that Babe Ruth has matriculated with the Yankees and threatens to bust all existing records when he gets started on the Polo Grounds, the American Leaguers in the big city are supremely happy. On the other hand, however—meaning the Giants—no celebrations are being held. The acquisition of the big slugger means the Ruppert-Huston combination has the biggest attraction on the island, and this will be proved in the seventy-seven games to be played at home. But it is not the future they are worrying about, but the present—as the boys used to remark last Christmas.

The Giants will feel the effects of the Ruth sale long before the big league season opens. They will feel it in far-off Texas and other alien points, for a series of exhibition games has been arranged and Ruth was expected to draw many shekels into the bush league parks. Now McGraw's clan is without an attraction, the Red Sox are in the same boat and the receipts will shrink many thousand dollars. Therefore, the National League club will get soaked coming and going.

However, the Yanks will profit in the pre-season jaunt and Charley Ebbets will do likewise. Funny how Ebbets manages to fall into those soft things. His club intends to play a spring series with the Yanks, and the clubs will divvy up whole armfuls of kale.

There is no doubt about Ruth being the greatest drawing card in baseball, despite the fact Ty Cobb, Grover Alexander and Walter Johnson still are among those present. He has been deluged with publicity, everybody in the country has read about him and naturally will be anxious to see him in action.

He now plays the outfield in great style, but if necessary can take his place in the pitcher's box. He was rated the best southpaw in the league in 1915 and 1916 and showed up well in three world series as a hurler. In fact, he still holds the world's series pitching record, having twirled twenty-eight consecutive scoreless innings, which is one more than Christy Mathewson's mark. Yes, he sure is a big attraction.

THE Red Sox have a habit of selling their best players. Tris Speaker was disposed of in 1918 and Carl Mays was sold to the Yanks last year. They talk of other clubs wrecking their teams by selling star athletes, but you must hand it to Boston.

Yankees Have Spent a Fortune for Players

THE Yankees are anxious to put a pennant-winning club on the field and no expense has been spared. John McGraw is considered a spendthrift when it comes to buying players, but the Ruppert-Huston combination has gone him one better. The only difference is that McGraw gets results.

When the Federal League disbanded and the star players were on the market, the Yanks dished out some $32,000 for Lee Magee, who proved to be a blower. Lee was the most expensive man who ever warmed a bench and was waived out of the league. That was money thrown away, but the Colonels were not through.

They purchased Frank Baker from Connie Mack for a price reported to be $37,500, and the home-run king has not set the world afire since joining the club. The only thing he does is threaten to retire each year because of his many duties on the farm and his healthy bank account, but he usually signs the papers when he thinks it is too late to make the spring training trip. Baker cares nothing for baseball. Last fall he went on a barnstorming trip and received as much as $5 per game. He was satisfied until one day the receipts were not enough to cover expenses, and then he left the barnstormers flat. Frank cares nothing about the money he makes in baseball.

Just the same, the Yanks are willing to hand him a good salary, which they will stand for anything to get a winner. Last year Carl Mays was purchased for some $40,000, and the transaction threatened to wreck the league. Mays still is with the club, however, and probably will be restored to good standing in a short time.

In figuring up these three deals we find $109,000 was spent for three players, one of which resulted in a total loss. In addition, a large ward of coin was handed out to the Red Sox for Duffy Lewis, Shore and Leonard last year. This, added to the $125,000 paid for Ruth, proves conclusively that running a ball club is not a shoestring proposition, and if one cares to spend money one can find plenty of opportunities.

The Yankees are after an American League pennant. They spent almost a quarter of a million for six players and are not through yet. While doing this the owners are fighting Ban Johnson, which is costing more money and a lot of worry.

MONEY can buy a pennant. New York has a great chance to top this year. It will be interesting to follow the club in the coming race.

Max Marston Will Golf for Philadelphia Only

MAX MARSTON, champion of New Jersey and ranked among the first ten amateur golfers of the United States, announced today that he had definitely severed his connections with New York and New Jersey clubs. Next season and in the future he will play under the Merion colors of Philadelphia and from Pine Valley.

Last season Marston played from Baltusrol Golf Club, New Jersey, and entered the national under Baltusrol colors. He also won the New Jersey championship. His business, however, was in Philadelphia, his golf was played at Merion, and for various reasons the fans figured the national star should relinquish his metropolitan relations. Criticisms appeared in the daily prints frequently, both in New York and Philadelphia, both of which cities claimed Marston and demanded that he choose. When he played on the Pennsylvania team in the Lesley cup matches against his former clubmates of New York there was a loud cry from the Gothamites.

Marston jangled the phone at this office this morning and put an end to the argument.

"I will play from Merion and Pine Valley next year," he announced. "I am now living in Philadelphia, am definitely in business here and expect to be for a long time. When I first came here I expected to be in Philadelphia only about six months, and therefore did not feel like passing up Baltusrol, in the neighborhood of which I have lived for eighteen years. It was like home to me. After the Lesley cup furore I decided to play from Philadelphia, so the argument is all over so far as I am concerned."

"I WILL now consider myself a Philadelphian and will play in all title and other tournament events as such. Nobody has seemed to understand my position heretofore, but I hope this will make it plain."

Whitey Witt Has His Pay Raised

WHITEY WITT, infielder and outfielder of our A's, has signed the papers for 1920 and will be seen at Shibe Park again next season. Whitey was with the All-American baseball team which toured Cuba, and, after a disastrous trip, came back ready to do anything which would insure him a steady salary. He came to terms with Connie Mack at the first meeting and left the side perfectly satisfied.

"Connie asked me great," he said. "I was given an increase in salary without even asking for it, and I am looking forward with pleasure to the approaching season. I have no kick coming about my contract."

Perhaps Dempsey and Carpentier Will Box July 4

MANAGER JACK KEARNS, after caressing his carefully varnished hair and taking a whiff of his favorite perfume yesterday, opened his roused eyes and stated that he was willing to box Georges Carpentier in Tia Juana, Mexico, for the $400,000 purse offered by Jimmy Coffroth. Mr. Kearns always speaks in the first person when making a match or discussing pugilism. He will admit he can knock out anybody in the world with a punch until his audience comments on his penciled eyebrows, and then the name of Jack Dempsey is dragged in.

However, it now looks as if the big fight might be held soon. Carpentier had agreed to terms, despite reports that Cochran has his signed contract for a battle in London. They say it will be held on July 4. That's as far as the date is concerned, but Mr. Kearns carelessly forgot to mention the year.

PLANS DISCUSSED FOR BIG BATTLE

Kearns and Coffroth Meet in San Diego to Talk Over Details

NO WORD FROM DESCAMPS

San Diego, Calif., Jan. 3.—Details of the proposed match at Tia Juana, Lower California, between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier for the world's heavyweight championship, were to be discussed at a conference here today between Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, and James W. Coffroth, promoter.

Coffroth early today was without direct word from Descamps, Carpentier's manager, that his terms had been accepted, but said he had cabled Charles J. Harvey, his agent in London, to get in touch at once with Descamps and Carpentier and advise him of their plans.

Meantime he is proceeding on the theory, he said, that Associated Press advices from Paris to the effect that Descamps had accepted his offer were correct. He said he expected to construct an arena at Tia Juana to accommodate a crowd of at least 80,000 and possibly 100,000. He expected to discuss with Governor Estelita Cantu arrangements for the match after he had heard from Harvey.

Developments in the battle among fight promoters for the Dempsey-Carpentier bout started off on several new tangents yesterday. From Paris came the ultimatum from Monsieur Descamps, Carpentier's manager, that a forty-five round bout was out of the question and that an fifteen-round affair, or more to his liking, a ten-round melee, would be the final settlement. From Chicago came the statement from Charles B. Cochran, the London promoter, who claims he has Carpentier already under contract, that the Frenchman would not meet the world's champion under promoter Coffroth's direction at Tia Juana, Lower California. Cochran expressed doubt that Descamps had actually accepted Coffroth's terms, as reported by cables from France on Tuesday.

Still another angle was opened to speculation when the Mexican governor of the province of Lower California announced that he had not been approved officially by the legislature to stage the fight at Tia Juana.

Paris, Jan. 3.—Georges Carpentier is willing to give concessions in the matter of weight in order to meet Jack Dempsey, according to a statement made tonight to the Associated Press by Descamps, Carpentier's manager.

Descamps said he was willing to split the $400,000 purse offered by James Coffroth on a basis of 60 per cent for the winner and 40 per cent for the loser.

"Carpentier is willing to journey to a strange land, face an exotic climate, give away twenty-five to thirty pounds in weight and accept a split of 60-40 of Mr. Coffroth's offer," said Descamps.

"We had intended to demand a 50-50 split, but are willing to accept a 60-40 division in order to show this is not merely a money-making proposition, but also a sporting event. We will endeavor to give American sportsmen a real championship battle."

Chicago, Jan. 3.—That Jack Dempsey could not meet Georges Carpentier at Tia Juana, Mex., on July 4, was the statement made today by Charles B. Cochran, London promoter, who said that Carpentier already was under contract to him, and should the contract be broken Carpentier and his manager, M. Descamps, would be liable. Cochran expressed doubt that Descamps actually had accepted Jim Coffroth's terms, adding that he believed that Descamps had remarked that in the event Cochran did not sign Dempsey, Coffroth's offer would be accepted.

FRAZIER TO RESIGN AS PENN CHAIRMAN

Football Head to Step Down at Meeting Today—Press of Business Causes Retirement

WILL ELECT CAPTAIN

By EDWIN J. POLLOCK George Harrison Frazier will resign as chairman of the Penn football committee at the meeting of the Athletic Association officers late this afternoon.

This is the hope that has been passed around the campus at the University by those in close touch with the gridiron situation. It is understood that the press of business in the cause of Mr. Frazier's retirement. He will resign not only as chairman, but as a member of the committee.

Major Pickering, the graduate manager of sports, refused to discuss the report that Mr. Frazier would resign, but admitted that he has been trying to step down, saying that he did not have the time to devote to the duties of the position.

Excellent Executive Mr. Frazier has served in the capacity of chairman since Wharton Sinkler entered the service in 1917. He was a member of the committee for some time previous to that date. He became chairman shortly after the Folwell case, which followed on the heels of the trip to Pasadena three years ago.

Despite the demands of his banking business Mr. Frazier has found time to serve Pennsylvania faithfully, and many believe that he has been one of the best executives the committee ever had.

A new chairman will be elected at the meeting this afternoon, but Mr. Frazier's probable successor is not known.

Mr. Frazier always has been active in Penn sporting events and was an active in his undergraduate days. His son, George Harrison Frazier, Jr., is at present a member of Lawson Robertson's track team.

Elect Captain Today

The football committee meeting will be held late this afternoon and immediately following the session the letter men of the football squad will elect a leader for next year.

Three players are in the running for the post. They are Bud Hopper, the star end; Carl Thomas, the guard, and Eddie Maynard, the tackle. Of these Hopper seems to be the favorite and it is very likely that he will get the post.

Hopper has played two years on the Red and Blue team and in 1918 was selected as All-American end by Walter Camp. Last season he alternated with Ray Miller at end. He entered Pennsylvania in the fall of 1918 from Syracuse University. His home is in Kalamazoo, Mich.

May Meet Tomorrow

After the new chairman of the football committee has been selected and the captain named it is likely that the new committee will hold a meeting early tomorrow to select a coach for next season.

2 LOCAL BOYS ON TIGER GYM TEAM

Baily and Roberts Expected to Score Many Points for Princeton Exhibitors

EIGHT MEETS SCHEDULED

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 3.—Two Philadelphia boys are being looked for to be a major part of the scoring to be done by Princeton University's gym team this year.

The pair, who have been teammates as well as close friends throughout their school and college life, are "Liv" Baily of Ardmore, Pa., and "Denny" Roberts, of Wynnewood, Pa. Both starred in the gymnasium contests at Haverford School and Haverford College.

With a veteran squad of seven returned men from which to build this year's team, indications at this early season date are that the Orange and Black will have an outfit that ought to come out ahead, if it runs true to form, in the intercollegiate as well as in the individual college meets.

In the schedule, as announced by Manager White, there are eight meets, which include the annual intercollegiate event to be held this year at Haverford College, thus giving Philadelphia a chance to attend and view the work of two local boys on the Princeton team.

"Phil" Townley, whose previous experience was gained as a leading performer at Newark Academy, has been elected captain this year. Coach Karl is guiding the work of the gymnasts this season for the first time, adding this task to his regular job as mentor of the Princeton wrestling team.

DEMPSEY'S QUALITY OF DEFENSE IN RING UNKNOWN QUANTITY

Champion Refrains From Giving Line on Style of Protection by Putting Opponents Away in Short Order—Carpentier May Cross Dope

By GRANTLAND RICE (Copyright, 1920, all rights reserved)

UP TO the moment of penning this dispatch it might be noted that Jack Dempsey has refrained from giving any one a line upon his defensive qualities as a boxer since he came into fame. He knocked out Carl Morris in a round. He knocked out Fred Fulton in fourteen seconds. He knocked Willard down in fifty seconds, smashing the Kansan's offense for all time.

If Dempsey had permitted Fulton to remain three or four rounds in the vicinity of his person the new champion's defense might have been tested then and there.

Dempsey seems to be the hardest hitting boxer that ever lived. But if his defense is a bit loose or too open, a hard puncher, such as Carpentier, might easily slip Jack what Jack in turn slipped to Fulton and Willard.

The lighter, slither Frenchman could hardly stand up before Dempsey's greater strength and ruggedness very many rounds, as clever as he is. But with his speed, cleverness and the power of his wallop he might drop a heavy weight on Dempsey's chin.

PROVIDED the champion's defense is spotty. And this is the belief that Jack McLaughlin and others who backed him at Toledo maintained throughout. They backed him in the knowledge that it took so great defensive skill to bludge or elude the clumsy Willard.

A New Type

DEMPSEY has fought but two types in the last two years; either the slow, heavier types, such as Willard, Fulton or Morris, or the light-hitting fan man, such as Levinisky.

He has not yet met a fast, skillful boxer who also carried high explosives in his right or left glove.

Carpentier will be much harder to hit than Willard, Fulton and Morris were.

And he will also require a better defensive campaign on the part of his opponent.

AT FIRST glance the Frenchman seemed to be outclassed. But the more one thinks it over the more it appears that he at least carries a fair possibility.

Beforehand

OLD-TIMERS still recall what a joke Corbett was to be against the mighty Sullivan.

The laugh went up when Jeffries challenged Fitzsimmons—the clumsy novice meeting one of the greatest fighting machines the world had ever known. And so it goes. The champion is invincible until he is beaten, and then the cry that follows is, "Whom did he ever lick, anyway?"

CARPENTIER may not do it. But there are three or four young men quietly coming along, and within two years one of them, at least, is going to give full proof as to just how great the champion is.

At Twenty-four

DEMPSEY has the advantage of coming to fame at twenty-four. Fitzsimmons was thirty-four when he won the title. Johnson was over thirty, and so was Willard by several years.

Jeffries was only twenty-four when he arrived, but Fitz, Corbett and Sharkey were all beginning to fade. He had to face no strong, fast, young opponent just getting started.

So for several years Jeffries had no one in sight to offer him a battle when he retired around 1904.

JEFFRIES remained unbeaten for twelve years from the date he reached the top, but neither Dempsey nor any one else will last that long in this age where a championship is worth $300,000 a year.
