TWO BOYS ARE HELD IN MOTOR THEFTS

Both Caught in Gloucester. One Defies Threat of Police to Shoot

ENGINE TROUBLE HIS DOOM

Two boys are under arrest in Gloucester today as automobile thieves. One says that he took another man's motorcar merely for a ride. The other offers no explanation, but the police say that he had a big revolver beside him on the seat of the machine.

The boy with the revolver is James D. Perkins, sixteen years old, who said he lives on North Tenth street, this city. He had in his pocket a card indicating that he was under parole for some offense in Newark, N. J., and was under promise to pay $1 a week for two years.

He was driving a car which had been stolen from the garage of Dr. Myrtle Frank, of Egg Harbor.

The car attracted attention at 10 o'clock last night while Perkins was passing through Gloucester, apparently on his way to Philadelphia. When he was ordered to stop he speeded the machine, despite threats of policemen to shoot.

Something went wrong with the automobile just when it seemed that the boy would escape. It stopped. Perkins was overtaken and arrested.

The other boy arrested is Harold Jones, seventeen years old, Sewell, N. J. He was caught in Gloucester about 1:30 o'clock this morning. The car he was driving belonged to Howard Boyd, Hewingsville, N. J., who had driven with it to a dance in Woodbury, N. J.

Boyd left the machine standing in front of Moose Hall. When he left the hall to return home, accompanied by two young women, his motorcar had disappeared.

Warning was sent to the police of Gloucester and Policeman Snaflin was on the lookout when Jones appeared. The boy said that he rode to Camden in the car and was on his way back when he was arrested.
