eague of nations council, had been abandoned today by leaders of all factions involved in the controversy.

William Jennings Bryan, in telegrams to a number of members of the Senate a few days ago, urged that the treaty be ratified before the league ouncil met so that the United States might participate.

Among Democraic senators, however, there was a well-defined feeling that kinson and Peter Ainslie, west week might bring an agreement World Alliance of Churches—for innext week might bring an agreement on reservations which soon thereafter would result in another ratification vote. Republican leaders, particularly mild reservationists, view the compro-mise negotiations of the last few days as promising. Statements of Senators Lodge, Musenchusetts, and Hitchcock, of Nebraska, Republican and acting Demo-eratic leaders, respectively, given sep-arately yesterday to a delegation representing organizations seeking early ratification through compromise, were publicans and Democrats had prepared the way for reaching a common ground. Both leaders emphasized in their state-ments that each side would have to make and was willing to make conceslons.

Mr. Bryne will undertake to bring forty to forty-four Democratic senators into agreement on an Article X reservation providing that the United States would assume no obligation to employ its military or naval forces for the preservation of the territorial integrity or political indepenlence of other nations unless Congress should so direct. The Wilson Democrats were willing to go only so far as to agree to such a reservation as a basis for compromise. To give any positive hope for ratification it is necessary for the Democrats to agree that such a reservation shall be the minimum in their negotiations with Republicans.

Mr. Lodge said:
"I am in hopes that we may reach point where we can get the necessary a point where we can get the necessary sixty-four votes, but you must remember that sixty-four votes are necessary. This is the practical question. I had some little experience in finding how difficult it was to get forty-nine s nators to agree on a set of reservations, and of course, to secure sixty-four votes it will be even more difficult.
