The Wideners have a wide acquaintance. for they have lived in so many places during the year. They always keep apartments at the Ritz in New York, and they have their house in Newport and they go so often to Palm Beach and to other places in Florida and to the Springs in Virginia that their friends are legion.

There is scarcely an important city in the East in which they have not many equalitances. It must be wonderful to be able to travel around so freely! But isn't home a thousand times nicer to come back to when you do not live in it every day of your life?

YOU remember my story about the and who asked his mother why one had to "shake before you sing." having read it on a cough mixture bottle? Well, the other day his father wanted some cleobol to use in a little spirit lamp, and so he sent small son upstairs to retire.
