

Busy and Icy Delaware : Still Skating : Ship Sinking : Dutch Officer Hurdles

A RIVER of ice does not impede the busy life of Philadelphia, as is seen in the photograph above. It was taken from a ferryboat on the Delaware, yesterday, opposite the foot of Reed street.

NO, THIS IS NOT THE NORTH POLE. It is a view of the ice-filled Delaware river, looking from the Gloucester ferry. The ship in the distance is "frozen in."

SPEEDY SKATING keeps them warm. So they are speeding it up on Concourse lake, Fairmount Park.

THE STEAMSHIP MAZAMA, off Christian street, is shown in a sinking condition, due to ice damage. Two tugs are rendering aid.

THE BEAUTY CORNER

RATTLER, a speedy ice yacht, attempting a sharp turn at Long Branch, takes a bad spill.

A DUTCH ARMY OFFICER on his mount taking a water jump in a week-end hunt near Amsterdam, Holland. Note the hounds in action.

MISS TERESA ZERILLO, 1233 S. 13th street, Philadelphia. Photographs for this back-page feature should be submitted through the mail, addressed to the Beauty Corner, EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER.