Alleged Frankford Burglar Makes Too Much Noise—Stationery Store Proprietor Sits on Him Until Patrol Arrives

It was a quiet hour in the Frankford police station about 11 o'clock last night. The sudden ting-a-ling of the telephone bell startled the patrolmen on house duty and a sergeant answered the phone.

"Help! There's a burglar in my house. Hurry! We've got him," came an excited feminine voice through the receiver.

"Where are you?" asked the sergeant.

"McCaullin's stationery store, 4429 Frankford avenue," replied the woman. "McColgan! Dougherty!" called the house sergeant, and as these district

Wyebooke Girl and Indian Return After Wedding in Elkton

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Samples, of Wyebooke, today refused to forgive their eighteen-year-old daughter when she and her husband returned after an elopement to Elkton, Md.

Samples is chief coachman for William M. Potts, and John Pazzotta, a full-blood Lenape Indian, his new son-in-law, is second chauffeur. Pazzotta returned to his work today and took his bride to live with his relatives. He is thirty-three years old and a former Carlisle student.

"Both Mrs. Samples and I opposed the match," said Samples. "We thought it was broken off and were surprised when Catherine disappeared Monday night. We suspected she had eloped, but didn't know of her marriage till we saw it in the papers."

Pazzotta called for Miss Samples in a motorcycle Monday midnight and the two rode to Elkton.

STRAWBRIDGE & CLOTHIER

INFORMATION OF MERCHANDISE FOR FRIDAY, JANUARY TWENTY-THIRD

So Far No Sign of a Reduction in the Cost of Manufacturing CLOTHING Yet Our Prices Drop

THIS Clothing Store's great success is the result of having the RIGHT KIND OF CLOTHING—AND PLENTY OF IT. From the beginning of the season we have had great variety and great quantity—hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth bought long in advance of the season from several manufacturers of national fame, each doing his best to secure a large share of our business by excelling in style, quality and value.

We carry very large stocks, because we always want to have WHAT YOU WANT, WHEN YOU WANT IT. But when Mid-Winter comes, even though every garment in our stock is WORTH ONE HUNDRED CENTS ON THE DOLLAR at our regular prices, with no possibility of manufacturing costs decreasing, as far ahead as anyone can see, we follow our annual custom and—

Reduce Our Stocks by Reducing Prices on Hundreds of Suits and Overcoats

Before describing the extraordinary values, however, let us frankly mention some of our high-class specialties at regular prices—though emphasizing the fact that these were bought when costs were lower, and cannot be replaced to sell at prices so low: Fine Montagnac Overcoats at $87.50; Tuxton & Wright English Overcoats at $68.50; Austin & Co. English Overcoats at $85.00; Hart, Schaffner & Marx warm, fleecy Ulsters at $55.00; Suits of Hockanum silk-mixture worsteds at $70.00; "Alco" Suits of blue unfinished worsted at $55.00; Stein-Bloch and Hart, Schaffner & Marx Evening Dress Suits. But still greater emphasis, of course, must be placed upon the following groups, all of thoroughly excellent style and quality—the season's best-selling Clothing, bought in large quantities and reduced to reduce our stocks:

Overcoats at an Average Reduction of One-third

Overcoats Now $25.00 Ulsters, Ulsterettes and plain styles, well tailored, in a variety of smart, reasonable fabrics.	Overcoats Now $31.50 Ulsters and Ulsterettes of thick, warm fabrics, chiefly in handsome dark mixtures.	Overcoats Now $38.50 Stein-Bloch, "Alco" and other fine makes—rich fabrics, carefully tailored in distinctive styles.	Overcoats Now $50.00 Stein-Bloch, Hart, Schaffner & Marx, and other fine Overcoats, of luxurious, handsome woolsens in correct new styles.
