FOLWELL OR HEISMAN PROBLEM AT PENN ON FOR DECISION TONIGHT

Big Football Question for 1920 College Season Here Will Be Solved at Official Session of Football Committee, Then Secret Stuff Will Be Off

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL.

Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger Copyright, 1928, by Public League

THE coaching problem at the University of Pennsylvania in all probability will be solved tonight when the football committee, in official session, selects a gridien tuter for 1920. Then the mantle of mystery will be lifted, the committee members will cease whispering to each other and plans laid for the coming senson. Many rumors have been floating around since the first of the year regarding the name of the successful candidate, but as yet nothing of an official nature has been announced. Those on the outside are allowed to guess all they want to, so here goes.

Two names will be recommended to the University council on athletics after tonight's meeting. They are Bob Felwell and John W. Heisman. The noted Georgia Tech couch has been mentioned casually for more than a week, but not until yesterday did the public at large have un idea he had been given serious consideration. Still, it is easy to figure Heisman as a possibility. He never has coache i a Penn team, belongs to no certain faction and would, in a way, be a sort of compromise candidate.

When the new committee called together the former football stars a few weeks ago the coaching problem was fully discussed. It was the consensus of opinion that there should be a new deal at Penn and start all over again. Folwell's work last year was not openly criticized; but more of that later,

In selecting a coach the first thing was to get a Pennsylvania man. Then began a discussion of the most likely candidates. Many of the old athleses played in the early nineties and some even before that. They had some sound ideas to advance and probably leaned toward Helaman, who was a member of the class of 1892. Men like John C. Bell, Dr. John W. Adams, Paul Thompson and Edgar M. Church were well acquainted with Heisman's work, and probably did not hesitate to say so.

Of course, Heisman left college before the famous Pennsylvania system of delense was one-wed by Dr. Carl Williams and Dr. Buck Wharton, but provision was made to retait that feature by appointing two or three very good assistants. No matter who is recommended as head coach tonight, the assistants also will be named. These men will probably work mostly on the defense and allow the head tutor to develop a good attack.

IT STANDS to reason that a system like this will be inaugurated. for the game has grown so rapidly that coaching a big vallege team no longer is a one-men job. It also is vertain that the old system of defense will not be dropped in favor of some untried scheme.

Man Selected Should Be Supported by All

NO MATTER who is chosen tonight, it is up to the students and alumni to get behind the new man and assist him in every possible manner. There have been enough scraps out at Franklin Field to last a lifetime, and now is the time for every one to pull together. Give the new man a chance-if there is a new man-and do not pass judgment until he has had a chance to show

Georgia Tech coach has nothing but that shift play, which might have been good once but now is obsolete. They point to the fact that Tech lost to Pitt in 1918 and last year was defeated by Clemson. Washington and Lee and Pitt. These critics assert the shift is easy to solve and if it is given to Penn the season will be a joke, because everybody knows how to stop the play

In football it is impossible to regulate system of attack. It can't be done For example, if a coach has a light, fast team he can develop wide-running plays and forward passes-sticking close to the open game. If he has a bunch of slow, heavy, powerful backs, the line smashing game naturally is resorted to. If he has a good line, another form of attack is used. The offense is one best suited for the players and is not planned with the team has been chosen

Warner, of course, has his famous reverse play, which has lasted longthan any other formation; but in a short time that will have to be discarded, You can't get away with a certain play forever, and, for examples, take the famous guards-back formation and Helsman's shift. It Heisman gets the job

Now a word for Rob Felwell. He has been blamed for many things and is perfectly right in demanding a showdown. When some of the influential alumni asked him to withdraw he refused, saying that a move like that might lead the public to believe that the charges against him were true. For that reason he has stuck to the finish.

Folwell is not entirely to blame for the showing of the team last year. He was unfortunate in having a pumber of pre-war heroes on the eleven, and these men had no idea they knew more than the coach. They played desultory football, were careless in some of the hig games and thought more of outside interests than uphoiding the reputation of their college on the gridient. These are the men to blame, not Folwell. Bob, however, made a mistake in not being more strict with the athletes at the start. When he saw they were getting beyond his control it was too late to call a halt.

AS WAS said before, all unisiders are ellowed to guess on what e going to hoppen. It looks to us at the present writing that Heis man will be offered the position. All of the dope points in that direction now. But you never our tell in football at any other sport. You

"Man Without a Country" Anxious to Return

BIG JACK JOHNSON, pre-Havana heavy weight champion, has a yearning to return to the United States, according to a disputch from Mexico City, where the colored fighter now is making his home. Li'l Arthu is said to have such a keen desire for his home land that he gradually is working up a determinution to some lack and let the law handle him as it will. Jack, you know, is a fugitive from justice, having hopped $15,000 cash ball in 1913, gone to Canada and since that time be has been a man without a country. He is fired of all this and is said to be willing to occupy a room in so-

This short query has thrown some few reams of discussion into the field for golfers ever since the close of the last season.
