

MOTHER DEFENDS HER SON IN KILLING

Says Man Slain Was Always Threatening His Brother. Annoyed Family

USED ABUSIVE LANGUAGE

Albert Yeo, held without bail today for the alleged murder of his brother Samuel Roy Yeo was defended by his widowed mother, who described her dead son as a "good for nothing who made life intolerable for all his relatives."

The alleged murder occurred Saturday night at 1034 Frankford avenue where Albert Yeo conducts a drygoods store. He was arraigned this morning in Central Station before Magistrate Rooney and held without bail for the coroner's action.

Mrs. Catharine Yeo, the mother, who is sixty-three years old, at her home this morning talked of the tragedy which was the culmination of many quarrels, in which, she asserted Samuel had been the aggressor.

"Albert is a good son, as good as gold," Mrs. Yeo declared. She wept as she spoke. "But Roy, as we called my other son, was a good-for-nothing. He made life intolerable for all his relatives. He was intoxicated most of the time and used frightful language. Only two weeks ago he struck me in the face."

Had Three Children "Roy was married fourteen years ago, but four years ago left his wife Edith and refused to support her or their three children, Roy, William and Albert. After he left his wife he came to the store here and asked permission to spend the night in a rocking chair.

"I told him the place belonged to his brother Albert and that his consent must be obtained. Albert agreed to allow his brother to stay here. He has lived with us since, although he never paid a cent toward board."

"Roy frequently was intoxicated. I hoped that when prohibition came conditions would change and that our life could go along more smoothly. But he seemed to obtain liquor anyhow. Then when he would come here his language would be frightful.

"On Saturdays his oldest son, Roy, thirteen years old, visited us here. When my son would start his tantrums I became afraid and would hide back of the counter in the store.

Didn't See Shooting "I did not see the shooting on Saturday. I don't know what led up to it, but I know Roy often had threatened Albert's life and my life. My dead son's employer visited me yesterday. He said Roy even had threatened his life."

"Roy often annoyed his wife until recently, when she had him arrested. After that he left her alone. Neighbors often asked Albert and me why we didn't have Roy arrested and why we did not force him to leave the house. But we were afraid to. We believed he would kill us both."

The principal witness at the hearing this morning was Thomas Cowdon, 1607 Frankford avenue. Cowdon said he was sitting in Yeo's store Saturday night when Samuel Yeo entered. He testified that the man appeared to be intoxicated and that he used abusive language.

"Albert went into a storeroom adjoining the store and Roy followed him," Cowdon told the magistrate. "I heard Albert say: 'Stay away from me. I heard I heard scuffling and a shot.'"

Deaths of a Day

HENRY S. YOUNKER

Commercial Research Expert Will Be Buried in Wisconsin

Henry S. Younker, formerly associated with the Curtis Publishing Co. in commercial research work, and widely known among magazine men, died suddenly Saturday morning in New York.

At the time of his death Mr. Younker, who was forty-nine years old, was director of commercial research with the International Magazine Co., of New York city. In New York he resided at 512 West 122d street.

He was a native of Poyonette, Wisconsin, where his body will be interred. Funeral services were held at the Funeral Church, Sixty-sixth avenue and Broadway, New York, before the body was shipped west.

Mr. Younker was a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, class of 1894, and spent a year at post-graduate work at the University of Chicago. He then became interested in educational work, and was connected with the Oshkosh Normal School in his native state, prior to coming to the Curtis Publishing Co. He entered the Curtis service in 1912, and remained there until eight months ago. He was a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity. His wife, Mrs. Mary Younker, survives him.

Joseph P. Dougherty

Joseph P. Dougherty, a theological student of St. Charles's Seminary, Overbrook, who would have been ordained to the priesthood in the spring, died Friday night of pneumonia after a brief illness. He was about twenty-eight years old.

Mr. Dougherty, who was a son of James Dougherty, 2421 Brown street, was one of the most brilliant students at the University of St. Francis Xavier's school and the Boys' Catholic High School before entering on his studies for the priesthood. He was a member of the seminarians' famous choir and was active in dramatic performances staged by the students.

His brother, James A. Dougherty, is managing editor of the Catholic Standard and Times and prominent in Knights of Columbus circles. Other survivors are three brothers, John, Francis and Edward, and three sisters, Mrs. Helen Marshall and Marie and Margaret Dougherty.

The funeral will be held Tuesday. A solemn requiem mass will be celebrated in St. Francis Xavier's Church, at 10 o'clock, by the pastor, the Rev. Joseph F.

O'Keefe. The Right Rev. Monsignor Henry T. Drumgoole, D.D., LL.D., rector of St. Charles's Seminary, will deliver the eulogy. Classmates of the deceased seminarian will act as pallbearers. Interment will be made in Holy Cross Cemetery.

William B. Godfrey William B. Godfrey, a real estate agent, of Narberth, died on Saturday after a brief illness. He was born sixty-three years ago near Bridgeton, N. J., where he lived many years, and was widely known as a musician. His wife died last summer.

Frederick H. Shipman Frederick H. Shipman, treasurer of the New York Life Insurance Co., died at his home here today, after a short illness.

Will You Profit by The National City Bank's Experience?

THE National City Bank of New York City made a careful test of The Dictaphone before adopting it for office dictation. The Dictaphone proved its case on a definite basis of speed, accuracy and economy, just as it can for you.

Whether your office is large or small, we are ready to install Dictaphones at any time and let you make the same sort of exhaustive practical test that convinced The National City Bank. That puts it up to The Dictaphone to prove its case to you.

Will you give it a chance?

HEAPS OF PLENTY

Mason's Chocolate Coconut PEAKS are like snow-clad mountains in their purity. Dipped in chocolate, giving them that rich chocolate appearance, each individual piece wrapped in waxed paper and tin foil, thus retaining their freshness and assuring their cleanliness.

Most confections have sugar as their main content; but Mason's Chocolate Coconut PEAKS' main ingredient is coconut, with its natural sweetness, and with molasses used as a flavor, thus producing a confection that conserves sugar.

That is why at this time we advertise Mason's Molasses PEAKS. Here is a confection that is a real sugar saver.

In the stores, on the stands look for the box with the Peaks and Coconut Trees.

This Great Furniture Sale Is Fulfilling the Highest Expectations

OUR three inspection days demonstrated to the satisfaction of thousands of old and new customers that this is not only an extraordinary sale in every respect, but that it rises to the highest standards of Furniture-Sale greatness!

Customers who had first shopped around before making final selections here, unreservedly expressed their pleasure over the volume of our exhibit as well as the enormous variety and rare values of the Furniture.

To-day the selling will go on with renewed vigor—because this event is great in everything that makes a sale, such as this, interesting and profitable to the public. Great, because the Furniture is high grade, not necessarily high priced as Furniture goes to-day.

Great, because this house is more concerned in manufacturing and retailing honest Furniture than in great sales volume, for without the one we could not have attained the other.

Great, because early purchases of immense quantities of Furniture and the doubling of our own factory output help to keep costs down for you. Quality is never cut here to lower prices, and the opportunities to save are multiplied when measured against the higher costs of Furniture in the future.

Thousands of handsome Suites and Pieces in Period, Modern and Plain-Line Styles for every room in the house.

Not a suite or piece, but will cost you more the day after this Sale closes. Small wonder the selling is the heaviest in our history—with many of the best values going first! So, do not delay.

This Heppelwhite Suite of Mahogany, with Dressing Table to match, is quite charming in its simple grace, with its selected crotch panels, its delicately reeded trimmings and supports, its classic outlines, fine members and well proportioned surfaces. Admirably conceived and skillfully executed, one can readily picture how such an exquisite Suite would adorn the bed chamber in the well-appointed home.
