

LEGION POSTS PLAN ANOTHER BANQUET

Seventh District Organizations Will Hold Event in March to Get Members

AWARD SCHOLARSHIPS

As a second step in the city-wide movement to arouse interest in the Legion, preparatory to a great drive for additional members, William O. Muench, chairman of the Seventh district organization in the city, announced today that the elective and appointive officers of the posts in that district will hold a dinner the first week in March.

Details for the "get-acquainted" gathering will be arranged today in a conference between Chairman Muench and county officials. There are approximately a hundred elective and appointive officers in the posts in this West Philadelphia district of the Legion. Its total membership is second among the seven districts of the city. It is proposed to urge all commanders of posts to guarantee a full attendance of their respective officers at the dinner, in order that plans for the further development of the Legion in the western end of the city may be explained to all officers.

Post 196 Plans Canvass
Daniel A. Gartland, commander of Post 196, in the Thirty-sixth ward, stated yesterday that his post is planning a canvass of the ward, with the view of increasing its membership to 700. This post now has enrolled 150 members.

A smoker will be held Wednesday evening, February 18, at 8 o'clock, in the Cooner Battalion Hall, Twenty-third and Christian streets, to launch the membership movement. The Thirty-sixth Ward Republican Club has offered to present the post with music.

ditional and Legion colors if the goal of 500 members is attained by March 1. Additional applications for free scholarships are being received from Legion post commanders at the Y. M. C. A., 1425 Arch street, by George W. Braden, executive secretary.

Bob J. Martin Post, No. 98, meets tonight in McPherson Library, Kensington and Indiana avenues.

Coolness Saves Driver's Life
Coolness in danger saved the life of John Hans, fifty-fifth street and Woodland avenue, last night. He tried to back his automobile into his garage when the machine was caught between two cars of the Chester Short Line. Although his automobile was crushed on both sides, Hans kept his seat and escaped without a scratch.
