MANY HOLD-OUTS AS CLUBS START SOUTH FOR SPRING TRAINING

However, Players Are Expected to Get Together With Magnates and Everything Will Be Lovely When Bell Sounds for Opening of 1920 Season

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Co.

A LTHOUGH some of the big league baseball clubs already have started for their training camps and others will embark on the southern jaunt next week. many contracts still remain to be signed by the players. It is said that at least 40 per cent of our noble athletes have neglected to spill ink on the 1920 docu-ments because their financial ideas do not coincide with those of the owners. The heldouts are holding out strong, and unless some rapid work is done next week there's likely to be a lot of scandal. Cincinnati seems to be the club hardest hit, with the White Sox running a close second.

However, the leagues have made it easy this season in allowing the men who have not yet signed to report at the training camps. Heretofore the unsigned athletes were not allowed to bask in the sunny South without special dispensation from the head of the league. Thus one of the evils has been remedied and the managers and players can get together and talk things over during the rehearsals.

The salaries of most of the ball players have been increased this year, but the increases do not seem enough. The boys did not grow wealthy on their pay in 1916, 1917 and 1918, as the future of the game was uncertain and the mag-nates did not know where they stood. Now that the war is over and the public has renewed its patronage with double enthusiasm, the players figure that they ald share in the profits and have something with which to combat the high cost of living.

There is no doubt that the star players will receive healthy boosts this year, but not as much as they expect. Compromises will be effected on all sides and the works will be running smoothly when the opening game is played.

When in Chicago last week we heard some gossip of the exorbitant demands of one of the players. He did good work on the mound last year and pitched wonderful ball against the White Sox in the world's series. This player is said to have received $2500 last year and was glad to get it. Now he is holding out STRUNK TO LEAD is not exaggerated at all. The player really is serious in asking for a boost of $13,500. for the modest sum of $16,000, and says he will not sign until he gets it. This

THERE is no chance to deal with a holdout like that, but when the I salary differences amount to $500 or $1000 there will be no trouble and the owner and player will reach some amicable agreement.

Zach Wheat Not to Play With Phillies

A RUMOR concerning a three-cornered baseball deal involving the Philadel-phia, Brocklyn and Boston National League clubs has floated over from The name of Zach Wheat was mentioned prominently and it was New York. said he might be with the local club.

The only thing wrong with the rumor is that the Phillies know nothing about Both President Baker and Gavyy Cravath were amused when told about it last night and said there was nothing doing.

'Of course, Wheat is a good man," said Cravath, "but there isn't a chance the baseball rumors that floated out in a million to get him. Anyway, my outfield looks pretty good to me as it is, with Casey Stengel, Williams and Irish Meusel on the job. No. there isn't anywith the departure of the Athletics for the sunny South yesterday. thing to the three-cornered deal so far as the Philadelphia club is concerned. Perhaps it's just one of those winter trades."

Cravath needs some pitchers and is scouring the country for talent. He is willing to pay real money or trade players, but all of the good hurlers seem to be in the major leagues and there is no chance to pry them loose from their jobs. The only thing he can do is to wait until after the spring training trips and draft some of the youngsters turned loose so the clubs can keep within the twenty-five-player limit. Connie Mack is not worrying over this department, as he has a couple of dozen flingers to look over at Lake Charles.

The New York Giants are not doing anything toward strengthening the team. McGraw still is in Cuba and the other members of the firm are not qualified to make any deals. The Giants need a third baseman, a first-sacker and some utility infielders. In addition, it is likely they will need a center fielder, as Bonny Kauff has collided with the Law Terrible and is said to be held on a serious charge. The ownership of a certain automobile figures prominently in the case. THILTH the scarcity of players and the large number of holdouts, the make any deals. Despite the fact that the junior athletes will be in Buffalo trying for the national titles, the New York club has a fine list of entries. The above statement will be very likely fully confirmed. The Baxter mile, which heads the list The Baxter mile, which heads the list of special events, will not have Jole hay as a starter. Jole will appear in Chicago tonight. However, the race will be more interesting from a com-petitive point of view. Ray outclasses all the men that are entered by yards, but with him out they are well matched and a great race is expected, with De-vanney, Connelly, of Georgetown, and Cuthill, of Boston, who finished second to Ray in the Millrose mile and a half, as star entries. DEMPSEY'S defensive qualities will be a big factor in his Carpentier engagement, provided they ever meet. If Dempsey is only ordinary upon de-fense, Carpentier, who can also hit with speed and punishing power, will have nits a chance part of the speed have as star entries.

In his last important engagement he knocked out Carl Morris in less than a round. He stopped Fred Fulton in eighteen seconds. He stopped Levinsky inside of three rounds. He paralyzed Willard in less than a minute. Dempsey's attack in all these episodes was so terrific that he had no occasion to prove his defense. Carpentier's Best Chance F IT should so happen that Dempsey is only an ordinary defensive boxer, Carpentier will have at least this one chance.

Sensible Football Suggestion by Harvard

HARVARD has come through with a sensible suggestion in regard to scoring H a goal from touchdown. The Crimson authorities favor a scrimmage on the 20-yard line, and the point can be scored either from a drop or place kick. This will eliminate the "one-man" protest made by some of the colleges. It A goal from touchdown. The Crimson authorities favor a scrimmage on 20-yard line, and the point can be scored either from a drop or place kick. is will eliminate the 'one-man' protest made by some of the colleges. It is claimed that it took eleven men to score a touchdown, while only one was ded to kick a goal which could win or lose the game. This goal from scrimmage idea is not at all new, nor is Harvard the origi-or of the plan. This same idea was advanced last year by Walter Clothier, wall knows Philiadelphin scortsman and Swarthmere allowards and the Clothier, wall knows Philiadelphin scortsman and Swarthmere allowards and the Clothier, wall knows Philiadelphin scortsman and Swarthmere allowards and the Clothier, wall knows Philiadelphin scortsman and Swarthmere allowards was to be the plan. needed to kick a goal which could win or lose the game.

nator of the plan. This same idea was advanced last year by Walter Clothier, the well-known Philadelphia sportsman and Swarthmore alumnus. Mr. Clothier came out strongly in favor of lining the teams up for scrittings on the 25-yard line after a touchdown had been scored and allow the opposing team to try to Mr. Clothier's idea was not taken seriously last year, but after block the kick. thinking it over the authorities found it to be very sound.

Narrowing the distance between the goal posts, however, will meet with considerable opposition. It is hard enough now to score goals from the field when the teams are evenly matched and there is no use in making it more difficult. Spectators like to see the ball sail over or near the goal posts and the more dropkicks that are tried the better they like it. Those four drop-kicks in the Yale-Princeton game last fall were very spectacular and the people are talking about them yet. * * *

THE try for goal from scrimmage formation would be a great thing for the game and should be adopted, but the distance between the goal posts should remain the same as it is.
