

"The Wage Worker

should not only receive fair treatment, but should give fair treatment."

"In order that prosperity may be passed around, it is necessary that the prosperity exist."

"In order that labor shall receive its fair share in the division of reward, it is necessary that there be a reward to divide."

"We must always keep in mind that to reduce the amount of production serves merely to reduce the amount that is to be divided."

"No man and no group of men may so exercise their rights as to deprive the nation of the things which are NECESSARY and VITAL to the COMMON LIFE."

"Every encouragement should be given the business man, the employer, to make his business prosperous, and therefore to earn more money for himself; and in like fashion, every encouragement should be given the efficient worker."

"Preachers of violence are themselves the worst foes of the honest laboring man."

Extracts from "Autobiography of Theodore Roosevelt"

May every laboring man and woman of today give earnest thought to the foregoing words of the immortal Roosevelt.

They come as a clarion cry from the "beyond."

It were as though his spirit, ever considerate of humanity at large, were penetrating the veil with the urge to speed Labor on to its utmost in these abnormal times.

Only in full, willing and just co-operation with the requirements of industry and the needs of all men in common can the laborer ease the burdens of his own maintenance.

SPEED UP PRODUCTION! Lay scorn upon the drones! Away with squabbles and strikes! Give full measure as you expect to receive it.

Wages are high and as they go higher the necessities of life go higher. There's money aplenty, but GOODS ARE SCARCE.

SPEED UP PRODUCTION, loyal men and women. You yourselves shall be the gainers. Only when supply equals demand will normal prices return.
