

OFFER INDUCEMENT TO GUARD OFFICERS

Would Get Day's Pay for Each Drill Besides Other Compensation

PLAN UP TO CONGRESS

"If Congress adopts the plan which will be proposed in the army appropriation bill to be reported to the House, Pennsylvania will be able to put her new National Guard division in the field in ninety days.

Major General William G. Price, Jr., made this statement today just before attending a meeting of the state army board in Harrisburg.

"It will be called the Twenty-eighth Division," he said, "and will carry forward the traditions of the wartime division from which it will spring.

"And incidentally, let me say there are great inducements for young business or professional men to serve as officers in the national guard. Aside from their patriotic motives, there are financial aids which make their sacrifice of time and effort possible.

"A captain, for instance, receives one day's pay for each drill attended. The law reads one-hirteenth of a month's pay for each drill, such drills not to exceed five in one month. This gives him $5 a drill, and in addition he receives his $50 a week for each of his two weeks in camp, and in addition to his base pay $25 a year, so you see, he would receive in all between $700 and $800 a year.

Major and up, known as field officers, would receive a flat pay of $500 a year, in addition to their pay while in camp, and lieutenants would receive a day's pay for each drill.

"I am very glad to hear that a minimum of fifty men for each infantry company is provided for the first year, and sixty-five for the next year. This is reasonable. You are to begin with, if we were forced to have a minimum of 100 men to a company it would be impossible to form companies in many small towns, for there would not be 100 men in the whole town.

"Again, Pennsylvania has spent millions upon armories, but appropriations were limited, and the state could only build armories to accommodate companies of sixty-five men. There are only sixty-five lockers, and so on. There is, anyhow, in the professional army a great diversity of opinion as to whether there should be sixty-five or 100 men in an infantry company at peace strength, or 100 to 250 men at war strength.

"We are mustering in units now. The government has the equipment. The enabling legislation is really all that is now needed. The passage of this bill would be a great step forward in the reorganization of the National Guard."

The framework for a complete division already exists in Pennsylvania, as virtually all the officers have been appointed, men are quickly enlisting, and complete companies, troops and batteries are being mustered in weekly.

FORTY MERCHANTS FINED

Snyder Avenue Dealers Charged With Violating Sunday Law

Forty Snyder avenue merchants were before Magistrate Carney in the Fourth street and Snyder avenue police station today charged with violating the Sunday closing law. They were fined sums varying from $2.50 up.

The forty retailers were summoned into court in connection with Lieutenant George Hauswiler's campaign to put an end to the keeping open of shops on Sundays. His investigators a week ago accused sixty retail dealers of remaining open on Sundays. (The names were warned and allowed to go without punishment.

The investigators were sent out again last Sunday, obtaining their evidence by looking through shop windows.

MAIN LINE CHIEF CALLED A 'KAISER'

Haverford Police Head 'Panned' by Magistrate at Automobile Tag Hearing

BOUGHT TO BE ARRESTED

Chief of Police Edward T. Hallissey, Haverford township, was branded as "Kaiser of the Main Line" by Magistrate Harris today in a hearing at the thirty-second street and Woodland avenue police station.

It was testified that Hallissey to'd an automobile driver to put paper tags on his car, saying that if there was any trouble it would only be necessary to call him up to fix matters."

Yesterday afternoon Patrolman Ford, on duty at Thirty-fourth and Walnut streets, saw an automobile approaching with two paper tags instead of the official metal ones. He stopped the car and inquired the reason.

Theodore Stevens, an employee of the American Garage Co., told him that the car was a stolen one which had been found in a Haverford garage and which he had been ordered to drive into the city by an insurance agent. He declared that Chief of Police Hallissey had suggested the use of paper tags.

At this point Magistrate Harris broke in on the testimony.

"He did, did he?" declared the Magistrate. "Well, he ought to be arrested for conspiracy to violate the laws of the state of Pennsylvania. He is a shaver out there on the Main Line. It is good thing for you that this same vice was not given you in some other street. If you had gone into Haverford and told township that way Hallissey would have planted a $100 fine on you.

"As it is, I feel sorry for you and the company you represent, so I will keep the car here in the courtyard until you can get licenses."

Chief of Police Hallissey, when asked for a statement on the case, admitted that he told Stevens to use the paper tags, but explained the necessity of doing so.

"The car," said Hallissey, "which had been stolen some weeks ago from a Philadelphia, was found by my men in a garage in Haverford. The hearing on the case is due to come up in City Hall today. The car had been returned to the city.

"When Theodore Stevens came out here to drive the car in it was discovered that the regular tags had been mutilated and destroyed. He couldn't carry the car in very well, could he? The fact that I advised the papers as the only way out of the predicament.

"I'll admit that it may, as Magistrate Harris said, be a violation of the state motor laws, but what was to be done? And if the laws of the state were lived up to the letter at all times we could hardly walk on the streets."

Mr. Hallissey asked what had been the disposition of the car, and when told of its retention in the police station courtyard, he laughed.

"I'm afraid it will stay there some time," he commented, "as the old license tags are destroyed beyond hope of using."

PENN FRATERNITY TO FIGHT COUNCIL

Eta Chapter, Delta Phi, Declare They Will Not Observe "Rushing" Agreements

ARE BARRED FROM PAPERS

Eta Chapter, Delta Phi Fraternity, at the University of Pennsylvania today threw down the gauntlet and declared open warfare upon the Interfraternity Council, following the action taken yesterday by undergraduate publications and senior and junior honorary societies, excluding Delta Phi men from their organizations.

Roland C. Fenner, spokesman for Delta Phi, announced that, in view of the action yesterday, Eta Chapter will not consider itself bound by any restrictions or agreements regarding the rushing of freshmen in the future.

Mr. Fenner, in a long statement, branded the position by the undergraduate council in support of the interfraternity agreement as a menace to the entire democratic life of the University.

"Is the right of freedom of choice and of opinion to be preserved to the individual and the minority group?" Mr. Fenner said, "or may a relatively small number of undergraduate bodies of the University, who are members of fraternities, compel the individual or minor group, through coercive measures, to accept the views, the standards and the rules laid down by them?"

"Shall the few men who have control of the undergraduate council and the interfraternity council and members of fraternities, be permitted to deny the people with whom they differ the right to represent the University or the work of it?"

"It is to be tolerated by the University community at large that a man, who is fitted to represent the University in mental or physical activities, shall be denied the opportunity because of his race, his religion, his politics or his social organization to which he happens to belong?"

Mr. Fenner charges that the University publications were being made political organs for the interfraternity council and said that the situation would create an intolerable situation for the interfraternity men that would result in a division of the undergraduate body.

The Red and Blue, Punch Bowl and Pennsylvania officers issued a formal statement today in which it was declared that members of Delta Phi would not be permitted to hold office or take part in the work of their publications.

NURSE ADMITS ROBBERY

Tearfully Confesses Theft of Jewelry From Broker's Home

A nurse tearfully admitted in Central station today that she had robbed the home where she had been employed.

The defendant, Mrs. Marjory Hutchinson, Conestoga street, near Market, had been nursing the wife and infant daughter of Morris W. Pomerantz, 4551 North Cassano street, a stock broker.

Pomerantz told Magistrate Rooney he had treated the nurse well, had paid her $35 a week and occasionally had sent her to her home in a taxicab. After the recovery of the patients, he said, and after Mrs. Hutchinson had left, jewelry and other articles valued at $600 were missing.

Detectives said they found part of the missing valuables in the nurse's room on Conestoga street. She was held in $500 bail for court.

Philadelphia the Mecca of Good Advertising

THE greatest "weekly" is published in Philadelphia as are——The greatest monthly woman's magazine.

—The largest monthly agricultural publication.

In Philadelphia are located some of the greatest and most efficient advertising agencies in this country—placing millions of dollars annually in advertising.

And in the Philadelphia field are located advertisers who spend annually 30 per cent. of the entire money spent in national advertising.

In advertising, Philadelphia has the same nation-wide repute it so proudly boasts in medicine, surgery and law.

Great artists find Philadelphia their surest market for commercial art creations. Some of the most expert Photo-Engravers, Printers and Paper Manufacturers in the world, all the artisans of advertising—the geniuses who know best how to express ideas—are located in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia is the great training school of advertising brains . . . the graduates of Philadelphia advertising institutions are eagerly sought . . . the unusual brilliance of their merchandising plans and the careful thoroughness of their advertising "copy" is proverbial.

Many of the greatest advertising minds have been developed in Philadelphia.

Is it any wonder, then, that Philadelphia is the Mecca of good advertising.

Advertisers, who have had an opportunity of comparing, tell us that we have the finest and most complete advertising service.

Perhaps this is so. We have certain ideals . . .

or beliefs in advertising. We recognize legitimate advertising as the most powerful factor to free a product from competition and standardize it nationally.

Everything we have done or will do is in the name of legitimate advertising. Donovan-Armstrong superservice has been developed to a point that practically assures merchandising success.

Our record bears this out. In 1919, our business increased 150 per cent. over the preceding year and 96 per cent. of our total volume of business in 1919 was from clients who had been with us for more than one year (the usual "test" period) and in some instances for twenty-five years.

The average "life" of an account with us is seven years and a half.

The average "life" of an account with agencies in general is eleven months.

These are facts that are worth consideration if you are contemplating a serious advertising and merchandising campaign—if you want to assure results as far as it is humanly possible.

A goodly portion of our business is from accounts that have had no other advertising counsel . . . other accounts have "sampled" a good many different kinds.

That we should be able to develop these clients' confidence to the point we have, as shown by our record, is tangible evidence of the value of our service.

We can tell you some wonderfully interesting stories of successes in which we have co-operated.

An interview would place you under no obligation.
