BASEBALL FANS!

Just about six weeks from now the baseball season will be breaking in on us and you will be flocking to Shibe Park and Broad and Huntingdon to see what Cannie Mack and Garcy Crarath have in the way of new and old baseball talent. Why not get a line on what's what before the season starts? Here's a tip to you:

BOB MAXWELL

To on his way South to the land of the training camps. In a year days he eill start telling you doily through these columns just what to expect in talent

Evening Public Tedger

TF-ANY baseball fan has an idea that it's not so tough to steal a base in any kind of a ball game, that particular b. b. fanatic should step up and interview some one who has tried to pilfer against Steve O'Neill, who stops 'em for Tris Speaker, or Ray Schalk, of Kid Gleason's staff. It wouldn't take him long to converted to a different line of thought.

Stephen Francis O'Neill wouldn't make a bad candidate for Jim Cortelyou's staff of plain clothes men. He prevented more steals, or rather, he allowed fewer steals last season than any other catcher in the two leagues. Ray Schnik was only a step behind his Indian brother in this department of the pastime.

In the 123 engagements in which Mr. O'Neill participated in 1919, only sixty-one bases were stolen. Thirteen of these were ninth-inning stuff, when nobedy cared. This gives Stephen the splendid average of 0.39 per game, which isn't so bad. But it must be remembered that not one of the sixty-one stolen bags was ever recovered. This counts against Steve in his police records.

Walter Joseph Schmidt, the Pirates' backstop, was the leading nonsteal catcher in the National League, but he was as far behind O'Neill as Saturday behind Sunday. Walter caught in eighty-five contests and sixty-three bases were stolen on him, for an average of 0.62. Chet Thomas, also of the Indians, and Pickles Dilhoefer, of the Cards, led the two leagues in actual figures, but they were in few games compared with O'Neill and Schmidt,

Most of the big league maskmen limited the steals to less than one per game, but there were nine whose average ran over this. Walter Mayer, who has left St. Lose to join the Senators, has the poorest record of any of the backstops. The thefts against him averaged close to two per game. Forrest Cady, who was with our Phils until Jack Coombs was dropped as manager, led the National League in reverse English. He allowed 1.79 steals per game.

THREE of the "nine poorest" were members of our Phils, which isn't saying much for the catching department of the Cravath club. These scere Cady, Nig Clarke and Jack Adams. The others were Mack Wheat who has become a Phil; Krueger, of Brooklyn; Snyder, of New York; Gharrity, of Washington, and Stanage, of Detroit.

Ray Schall: Is Iron Catcher

RAY SCHALK is the iron man among the maskmen of the major lengues. The Season Will Open May 19, With White Sox backstop engaged in 129 games last season and silowed only sixty-four steals. Steve O'Neill was second in durability with 123 games. Bill Killefer caught more games than any other entry in the National League.

There were only half a dozen catchers in the majors last season who caught 100 or more battles. Five of these are on American League payrolls. They are Schalk, 129 games; O'Neill, 123 games; Ainsmith, Detroit, 106 games; Schang, Boston, 104 games; Severeid, St. Lose, 103 games, and Killefer, Chicago, 100

Ninth-inning steals, which passed into the discard at the recent meeting of the joint rules committee in Chicago, were more numerous on the National than on the American League circuit last year, with only fifty-nine cropping up in the junior organization as against ninety-three in the senior body. Of the teams in B. R. Johnson's league. Cleveland and Washington fameled most the theft that backstops make no effort to stop, the Indians and Senators alike getting credit for fifieen larcenies that really weren't larcenies. The averages follow
