MILITARY COLLEGE

Chester School Will Confer Degree on Senator, Who Will Make Address

WILL NOTE OTHER MEN

Prominent men of Washington, Philadelphia and New York will assemble seeing and New York will assemble this evening in the Charles E. Hyatt armory, Pennsylvania Military College, to witness the conferring of degrees upon United States Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio; Lieutenant John Phillip Sousa, "march king"; Major General William M. Black, of New York, and John C. Jones, of Philadelphia.

The affair promises to be one of the most important in the history of Chester, and it is highly probable that Senator Harding will send forth a message in his address which will be of vita! terest to the nation. Following his address he will receive the degree of doctor of laws. Other degrees will be conferred as follows: Major General Black, doctor of music, and John C. Jones, P. M. C. graduate and an ordnance chief during the war, doctor of applied science.

General Rick will average in Chaster the configuration of the school. Several interesting pictures, commemorating the foundation of the school. ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED | DR. GREEN AGAIN CHOSEN

Sunday School

Bethany Presbyterian Sunday school, Twenty-second and Bainbridge streets, founded by John Wansmaker in 1858, celebrated its sixty-second anniversary last night.

Mr. Wanamaker, who was the principal speaker, to'd of the blessings to be derived from Sunday-school attendance. "The longer I live," he said, "the more I realize the blessings derived from keeping the Sabbath holy. If one would receive the blessings of God, he must go where God is."

Mr. Wanamaker told of the growth of the school and complimented the teachers and members for their part in its success. At the conclusion of his address he was presented a silver vase filled with flowers by the members of the school.
