PERSHING FAVORS USING CAMP DIX AS PERMANENT POST
General Makes Comment After Inspection and Review of Troops Stationed There

VISITS WOUNDED MEN AND SHAKES HANDS OF NURSES
Civilians and Former Soldiers Greet America's Commander of Overseas Forces

Governor Edwards Greets General Pershing in Letter
The New Jersey executive wrote to General Pershing as follows: "New Jersey sincerely appreciates your great privilege in this opportunity of welcoming you as a guest. It is an honor that gives much pleasure to be here, even for a few hours, to the distinguished soldier who typified and exemplified the fighting spirit, the organized business brains and the masterful generalship of the American people in the great war against barbarism and autocracy."

Camp Dix, Feb. 28.—"Camp Dix is a very desirable post to make permanent."
General Pershing made this comment today after an inspection of the camp and review of the troops. The men marched picturesquely over a wind-swept field, pitched here and there with large squares of ice, but the biting weather did not in the least affect their spirits.

After the review the general, accompanied by his staff, visited the hospital and gave words of cheer to many who were wounded while fighting in France.
Sitting by the cots of the veterans, the commander of the country's forces effused his official bearing and spoke to the sufferers as man to man. He listened patiently as several of the battered men related their part in some of the memorable conflicts abroad. General Pershing found time to tell several of the soldiers little jokes about some of their former comrades.

Many Attend Review
Several hundred civilians and former soldiers witnessed the review and cheered their country's fighting commander. He was compelled to run a long gamut of handshakes from private nurses as well as bronzed fighting men. General Pershing got the 1:15 train for New York.
Incidentally he was kept busy dodging movie cameras and told these strenuous veterans they would have to get him on the run—and they did.

Although politics is strictly taboo with General Pershing, it was learned that the action of Republicans in Michigan in introducing a candidate for the next presidential election was a big surprise to him. The general was asked what he thought about the plan to Americanize the party.
"An inspecting the camp today," he replied.

Asked what he thought of the camp, he said it was admirably suited to the purpose for which it was intended. He said he was much pleased with the inspection and then declared it was a very desirable camp to make permanent.
When questioned concerning the plan to federalize the National Guard, General Pershing said:
"Regarding that and other future military policies, an opportunity will be given with Congress. Any talk along that line in advance only leads to confusion."

Came from Troy
Pershing came here from Troy, N. Y., on a special train of three cars, one of which was a motor truck. The motor car, ten staff officers and five field clerks formed his party. The field clerk arrived at 8:45 o'clock this morning.
Waiting for the train were Major General H. C. Hale, the camp commander; Colonel G. H. White, executive officer, and Captain J. B. Cromwell, aide to the commander.
The three officers, a bristly board as the train eased to a stop. They advanced to salute to the general who rose to meet them. Visitor and camp officers parted for several minutes then the entire party detained. They were driven to the officers' club in the cantonment. There General Pershing held a short conference with Major General Hale, responding to their views indulged in dancing from noon until 1 o'clock.

Following the review General Pershing and his party were taken to the officers' club, where a buffet luncheon was served and the officers and their wives indulged in dancing from noon until 1 o'clock.

"O, LIBERTAD! O, LIBERTAD!"

"O, Libertad!" (Oh, Liberty!) exclaimed Vicente Blasco Ibañez, the Spanish writer, as he hung out both arms and embraced the Liberty Bell at Independence Hall today.

Senator Ibañez was plainly stirred as his automobile drew up in front of Independence Hall at noon.
"Ah, so that is it," he exclaimed in Spanish, as he alighted.

The party went all through the building, and as each historic object was pointed out to the Spanish notable he nodded vigorously in delight at having a chance to see what he had read about.
Particularly was he impressed by the thirteen flags of the original states, and the portraits of the original states, and the portraits of the original states, and the portraits of the original states.

A LITTLE SPRING COMING

There May Be Some Snow, However Says Weatherman
February will make its exit just as it entered the year 1920. There will be a sprinkling of spring in the air, the weatherman says, but it will be chilled and adorned with a light, ever so light, perhaps, fall of snow. Furthermore it will be a change-day with some weather on the morning followed by sunshine in the afternoon—all of which is calculated to help those who go house-hunting.

WOMEN MAKE PLEA FOR GOOD MANNERS

A direct appeal is being made by representative women in Philadelphia for the return of good manners. During the last few years men and women alike have looked askance at the freedom and familiarity that have taken hold of established customs of courtesy and thrown them into the discard, and at the general lack of respect which is shown by one person to another.

ALLIES ELIMINATE WILSON AS FACTOR IN FIUME DISPUTE

Answer to American Note Removes President's Excuse for Withdrawing Treaty
By CLINTON W. GILBERT
Washington, Feb. 28.—The latest note of the allied premiers, of which the substance is made public in London, is calculated to take away from Mr. Wilson the excuse to withdraw the treaty from the Senate and at the same time remove him as a factor from the Adriatic situation. It is a means of "stalling" along during what is left of Mr. Wilson's term in office, while Europe settles its own affairs in a European way, since it will take months of negotiation for Italy and Jugoslavia to reach an agreement.
