Granville Sees His Wife

Granville Stone's interview with Harriet Burton had far-reaching results. Burton had never met a woman like Laurel and he decided that he would make her the mistress of his establishment and the mistress of his children and the mistress of his life.

CHAPTER XXVIII
But he did care, he cared in a manner that was quite foreign to him. The impulse to see Laurel, to force his way into her presence was almost overwhelming. He could not understand it.

"These women," Doctor Dick said, "they come over late in the afternoon and she was admitted to Laurel's room for a short time."

"Doesn't she look lovely?" she said to Granville when she came downstairs but Granville saw her face-colored gloves and the fragrance of fresh violets.

"I don't know," he returned. "I haven't seen her."
Harriet stared at him. "You haven't seen her?"

He shook his head. She looked thoughtful a moment and then she said with sudden indignation, "Well, you've seen the baby, and I suppose you're as pleased as Punch. I should think this would be the proudest moment of your life."

"Yes, I have a son," he returned.
Harriet shrugged her shoulders. "I declare, Gran, you're the strangest man I've ever met. I told Laurel last summer when we were talking one day that you were the dearest wish of my life, and now that the baby is here you're as indifferent as you are about most things in life."

"My dear Harriet," he returned with a laugh. "I'm not indifferent. I'm proud and delighted. I have a different way of showing it, that's all."

And after Harriet had gone, he remembered the fact that she had told Laurel last summer about his wish to have a son. That explained then Laurel's attitude when she had announced to him in the library several months ago that the child would be born in June. At 11 o'clock the next morning, Granville was admitted to the room and ivory suite. Laurel wore the jade and gold negligee and her wonderful hair was piled up loosely and held with a green comb. Mrs. Stone, who had been sitting with her, rose and slipped out of the room, and Granville realized that he was alone with his wife. He passed over her and that faint scent that clung to Laurel and seemed a part of her was wafted up to him. He led a sudden mad impulse to catch her up in his arms, but she turned her head and smiled at him and a gay little smile that robbed the moment of the personal. A moment later the door

Adventures With a Purse

IN MY wanderings about the shops it is no uncommon occurrence to run across satin camisoles in dark blue or black. But it is most unusual to find a trim, well-made brown camisole. I consider it rather a find right now, for so much brown is being worn. On the table I discovered are camisoles of black, blue, brown and a few made of brightly-colored Dresden ribbon for the woman who wants a touch of color to show through her sheer blouse. The prices are $2 and $2.25.

One shop is having a special this week—a low, flat flower bowl of a neutral shade of—well, tan, I guess would come nearest to describing it. In it rests a very fat frog, with brilliant splashes of green on his back. And his back has deep perforations which hold a few well-colored artificial flowers. This bowl makes a very nice decoration for a table, and, of course, when flowers become less expensive, or when your own garden begins to blossom, you can use real flowers for Mr. Frog. But in the meantime the artificial flowers are quite lovely, and the entire set, including bowl, frog and flowers, are specially priced this week at $1.50.

If you could make a fluffy little summer frock for slightly less than $10—a real dressy little frock, that is—wouldn't you think that you were being very thrifty and prudent? Well, let me tell you what I discovered today—organzie, forty inches wide—and trimmed either with several rows of finely plied ed frills or with broad bands of hem-stitched tucks. The colors are all the lovely summery shades—lavender, green, flesh and white, and the prices are $2 a yard for the tucked style, and $2.65 for the frilly kind. The Person-in-Authority assured me that three and one-half yards are plenty for a dress, so that if you prefer the tucked organzie, as I do, your dress would cost only $7 for the material. I have my mind quite set on a lavender frock, with its fluffy tucked skirt, and a waist with square neck and short sleeves edged with crisp white collars and cuffs of organzie. Doesn't that sound rather fetching?

WANAMAKER'S DOWN STAIRS STORE WANAMAKER'S

Wanamaker's Down Stairs Store Opens the Spring Season of Home Cheeriness in the Enlarged Upholstery Store

Home! How good it is to have a real home that is restful and attractive, a home of which we are proud and where we love to bring our friends!

Philadelphia is known as a city of homes, not just houses, but homes, and it is these homes that this enlarged Upholstery Store would serve and beautify.

It is a delightful place to visit, this Upholstery Store, in its Spring dress, with many helpful suggestions of curtains and draperies in its windows.

Thousands of yards of new cretonne, drapery and curtain materials have been bought for this opening sale and there are worth-while savings in every instance.

12,000 Yards of Spring Cretonne at 40c, 45c, 50c, 55c, 60c and 85c

Bright with flowers and birds in many shades and patterns, the uses of cretonne are many. Gay covers, cheery draperies, puffy pillows, scarfs, etc., are all easy to make. When one has cretonne in bright patterns that radiate Spring cheer the making is a delight. The cretonnes average 36 inches wide.

At 85c, the colorings and unusually well-printed designs are worth a special note. The fabrics are all the heavier sort and the resulting cretonnes are quite artistic, both those with light and those with dark grounds. Going to have wicker furniture upholstered?

Artistic Tuilleries Cloth, at $1.25 a Yard
Typical of the decorative quality is a tropical design with a black background and colorful flowers and birds. There are many patterns with light backgrounds also, and some lovely Dresden flowers. It is 36 inches wide and a heavy quality.

Filet Nets and Marquisette at 35c a Yard
Filet nets in small patterns and a marquisette suggest fresh curtains fluttering in Spring breezes. Both cream and white in each material. 36 inches wide.

1000 Yards of Swiss at 60c
It is 36 inches wide, snowy and fresh, in various figures, dots, cross stripes, etc. Nothing more dainty than ruffled Swiss curtains!

Chair Cushions at $1
1200 of them, but they will go out quickly, as they are covered with heavy cretonne and are tufted.

Curtains, various curtain materials, draperies, etc., are all in great variety, and we shall be happy to help you select appropriate Spring fittings to greet the Springtime.

2000 Yards of Drapery Materials at $1.25 a Yard

Terry cloth, 36 inches wide, is in many, many tapestry and lighter patterns, some of which were originally marked much more.

Handsome reversible cloth, somewhat like fine, heavy cretonne, is in beautiful rose tones, with alternating panels of plain color and design. 36 inches wide. Just the thing for Spring draperies!

Special at 45c and 75c a Yard
Burlap, 46c a yard, is used in the same ways. There are green, red, blue and brown shades. 36 inches wide.

Denim, 36 inches wide, for wall coverings, table runners and, as it is sometimes used, for floor covering, is in blue, brown and green at 75c a yard.

Velour, $4 and $4.50 a Yard
50 and 54 inches wide, it is in shades of rose, old rose, blue, brown, green and mulberry.

Lovely Drapery Material, 90c a Yard
Gold Ashes of roses Old rose
Brown Blue
Green Old blue

It is a replike weave, 36 inches wide, with self-figures.

Silk Mull, 75c a yard 36 Inches Wide

A good quality of silk-and-cotton mull in rose, pink, flesh, white, black, brown, navy, Copenhagen or French blue and other good shades. Particularly nice for linings, underskirts, kimonos and such.

Silk-and-Cotton Crepe de Chine, $1 a Yard
White, flesh, pink, orchid, navy, sky or Copenhagen blue, navy, black and other shades; 40 inches wide.

Flowered Silk-and-Cotton Crepe de Chine
In grounds of rose, orchid, tan, white, it is printed with large floral designs. 36 inches wide. $1.25 a yard.

Women's French Glace Gloves—$1.85 a Pair

Ordinarily their price would be about a dollar more. Two-clasp style, overseam sewn with Paris point stitching on the backs—they are in tan and gray with self-stitching; in black with white or white with black.

White chamois lisle gloves, two clasp, with self-stitched backs, are 65c a pair.

8-button Milanese silk gloves in two shades of gray, tan, brown, black and white, are $1.35 a pair.

A Sale of Coats

portraying the best Springtime fashions for women, is in preparation for Saturday, March 6th. It's a good thing to bear in mind.

New House Dresses Fresh as Spring Sunshine

What a pretty gathering of Spring frocks of new and cheery ginghams in clean stripes and plaids! The colorings are fresh and clear and the collars and cuffs are of white or of plain-color material to match.

The dress that is sketched on the right shows stripes of various widths in pink, blue or green. The collar and cuffs are of white lawn with a lace edge. $8.75.

The other dress is of gingham in a small plaid—yellow-and-black, blue-and-tan and pink-and-green. White bindings form a simple and effective trimming. $7.50.

A pretty dress of plain blue, pink or gray chambray has a pointed collar and pocket tops trimmed with white soutache. $3.85. Straightline dresses of striped gingham, trimmed with plain chambray, are in pink, blue, green and gray. $3.85.

Simpler dresses of pink or blue striped gingham are $2.50.

Extra-Size House Dresses
are of ginghams in stripes and checks. They are in sizes 48 to 54 at $5, $5.50 and $7.50.

Spring Suits for Men Are Flocking In

New All-Wool Cheviots Are $42.50
The cloth is worth particular examination, as it is of splendid quality and every thread wool. It is in a number of mixed patterns in good browns, olives and grays, principally.

While the suits are typical young men's suits, they are cut on conservative lines that any business man will like. The coats are double or single breasted and half lined with mohair. Collars are carefully hand-felled and buttonholes are hand-done.

Separate Trousers, $7.50 to $11.50
There's quite a variety of all-wool materials, including blue flannels and blue serges. Perhaps you've a coat and vest you can match up.

A Serviceable Raincoat Is a Good Friend, Sir!

April rains sometimes start in March! At $8.50 there are sturdy, well-made, tan rubberized coats. At $10.50 there are gray and dark brown rubberized coats, some belted in the back, others plain.

For Boys of 6 to 16
there are good rubberized tan raincoats, belted all around, at $6.75.

Brogue Oxfords Are the Latest Word in Men's Footwear

Some mighty good-looking brogue oxfords of good, durable leather, with full wing tips and many perforations, are $10.50 for black and $11.50 for tan.

The Gallery Shoe Store Is a Fine Place to Get the Boys' Shoes
The shoes are good, serviceable, Wanamaker shoes and the prices are very moderate.

In sizes 1 to 6 there are:
Black and tan straight-lace, English or Blucher style shoes, at $5.50.

Black leather English-style shoes at $5.90.
Black leather Blucher style shoes are $5.75 a pair.

In small boys' sizes 10 to 13-1-2 there are:
Black and dark tan Blucher-style shoes at $4.50, $4.75 and $5.50.

School shoes of heavy tan leather in lace style, with thick welted soles, are $3.50 in sizes 10 to 13½, $4.25 in sizes 1 to 2, $4.75 in sizes 2½ to 5½.

Good shoes for rough outdoor wear are of heavy tan leather in Blucher style; sizes 2½ to 5½, $6.80.

Here Come Springtime's First Smocks

Jolly and fine they are, too! Gay rose, leaf green, peach, sunshine yellow and bright blue are the colors of the smocks of linene and cotton crash. Sometimes the collars are embroidered by hand, sometimes a design in colored wool outlines the collarless neck. For those who prefer them, there are some all-white smocks. $3.50 to $5.

Pongee smocks in the natural color are embroidered in colored silk at $9.75 to $12.50.
