PARENTS TO ADOPT 'RULES'

Invitations have been issued to forty rominent parents of young boys and tris of this city to attend a meeting the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlton arnall. Seventeenth and Locust streets. the afternoon of March 15.

The purpose of the meeting is to dis-Plass how the entertainment of young turbeople between the ages of twelve and advicen years can be simplified and su-

For several years the parties have cen growing more elaborate and more requent, the hours have been growing later, and, in general, the entertain-ments have so nearly copied the grownup functions that the girls and boys fun of youth

Parents have felt that their children were losing opportunities with the disappearance of the simple parties that begin early enough to end before mid-right. They feel that three or four hours of continuous fun are as much as most people, young or old, can really enjoy in one evening, and that effort about be made to start the parties before 9 or 9:30 in the evening.

Movement in All Sections

Through all sections of the city sim ultaneously, the movements have started, and within the last week have erystallized into definite form in Chest-These most interested are much op-posed to forming definite rules of what shall and what shall not be done. They want a simple association for co-opera-tive influence that will restore to youth its real privileges. The invitation to the meeting, which will be held March 15, was signed by Mr. and Mrs. John Hampton Barnes. Mr. and Mrs. Goorge McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Denekla Mills. Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Montella Mills. Mr. and and Mrs. Paul Denekla Mills. Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Newbold. Mr. and Mrs. George. S. Patterson.
