Fordney Says House Committee Members Aim to Defeat Soldier Bills

WON'T POSTPONE HEARINGS

By the Associated Press

Washington, March D .- Charges that members of the House ways and means committee were "endeavoring to kill bonus legislation by delay" were made today by Chairman Fordney when the committee resumed hearings on soldier ing slang:

"Is the English language going to the bed, from the evening one. They ought dickens?" was the question and back, to get them from an actual contact with

"I am ready to begin business now, the chairman said, when members sug-gested that hearings be postponed until after the legislative committee of the American Legion meets on March 22. "I don't want to crowd this measure, but we know the attitude of forme service men," the chairman continued "Every officer who had good pay doesn't want a bonus. The privates who suf-fered financial losses are overwhelm-ingly in favor of some relief plan." Representative Kitchin said Treasury Department officials ought to be before any plan was worked out. Chair-man Fordney replied that their attitude was well known.

"But we want to get their statements into the record." Mr. Kitchin replied.
The committee then decided to call Secretary Houston, Assistant Secretary Leffingwell and Governor Harding, of the Federal Reserve Board, Thursday, "I want to get a bill drafted giving soldiers the aid they deserve," Mr.

fective pun.

They ough most be charging by good, whole-hearted individual thinking. They ough not to get their opinions before breakfast from the morning paper and again, on going to morning paper and again.

"Is the English language going to the dickens?" was the question and back, like a shot, came the answer.

"It ought to go to the Dickens—and Thackeray, too."

Good reading was at the bottom of everything Doctor Van Dyke had to say, and he presented arguments and a brief for good reading that in its impressiveness and power would make most school teachers writhe with envy.

"We are suffering at the present time from an epidemic that is not good for our language. It is that of 'bad slang."

"In the English language going to the bed, from the evening one. They ought to get them from an actual contact with life."

Doctor Van Dyke held an audience in the Egyptian Hall of John Wanamaker's store tense and quiet for an hour yesterday, except when they broke the spell by loud and appreciative cheers. The late minister to the Nethierlands, who is a native here, having been born in Germantown in 1852, does not show any signs of worries and cares of his diplomatic life during the great war. our language. Brush for the last year and a half has been making her home with her son at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel.

The Winona is 401 feet long, of fifty foot beam and will make a speed of eleven and one-half knots. It is an oil burner and will be driven by a geared turbine of 2500 shaft horsepower.

Low water again yesterday afternoon prevented the launching of the United States army transport Marne at the Hog Island shipyard. The launching, in all probability, will take place within a week, tide conditions permitting. In order to launch the buge transports being built by the American Interna-tional Shipbuilding Corporation it is necessary to have six feet of water over the top of the launching ways at the river end. Yesterday's tide at its highest only covered the ways with five feet of water. Mrs. Newton D. Baker, the sponsor and Secretary of War Baker were notified in Washington that the ship would not be launched, and did not make the trip to Philadelphia.
