Washington Now Believes He Really Means He is Not a Candidate

MIDDLE STAND ON TREATY

By CLINTON W. GILBERT Staff Correspondent of the Evening Public Ledger

Washington, March 20. - Herbert Hoover's last statement on the treaty issue is regarded by Washington as removing him from the fold as a possible new socratic nominee for the presidency. Even Democrats who have been favorable to his nomination say today that planation Washington is ready to ache cannot now be the candidate cept of any declaration relating to poli he cannot now be the candidate.

His position on the treaty is neither it takes some of the joy out of life to the Lodge position nor the Wilson suppose that Mr. Hoover is really, truly position, but one midway between the two. Just as in his public statements he has refused to take sides between the two parties in advance of seeing their tickets, so with regard to the league he tickets, so with regard to the league he has refused to take sides between Wilson and Ledge now that the coverant is an issue in the campaign. Nothing that Mr. Heover has said since his name became prominently mentioned for the presidency has caused as much sween lation as this latest statement. "What does he mean by it?" What is he up to?" 'Is he trying to be a Remubican? If so, why didn't he say in the first place that he was one and be done with it?" Hoover a Puzzle as Candidate
