EVEN OPTIMISTS HAVE NO HOPE FOR BOSTON IN 1920 FLAG BRUSH

Ed Barrow Has Good Club in Red Sox Outside of Outfield, Infield, Catchers and Pitchers-Shadow of Former Great Team

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL. Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger Commight, 1929, by Public Ledger Co

Hot Springs, Ark., March 22 OUTSIDE of a fair outfield, a shaky pitching staff, uncertain catchers and a good infield, the 1920 edition of the Boston Red Sox is in great shape for the six months' journey through Le American League. The once world's champlons, the ball club which had so many good players two years ago that it was impossible to find places for all of the stars, is but a shadow of its former self and even the most optimistic experts have given up all hope of recovery. The club might look all right, but it never will be the same Manager Ed. Barrow is down here working his head off, but accomplishing nothing. You can't build a brick house without bricks, and it is impossible to get together a real ball club without players. Ed. is decidedly up against it, but be cannot be blamed. He is doing the best he can and that lets him out.

Last year's aggregation with Babe Ruth all season and Carl Mays working part of the time, finished in sixth place. Ruth was there with the wallop and likely to break up the ball game any old time with a lengthy wallop, while Mays was a winning pitcher and could be depended upon to turn in a large number of victories. These men have been sold, they have not been replaced, and the club naturally should be weaker than in 1919. Therefore, no one can tell where the

Another thing, which did not help matters, was the fact that several of the players did not report until late. This did not make much of a hit with the other athletes and they were not at all pleased with the arrangement. Vitt and Wally Schang became holdouts early and Harry Hooper arrived two weeks late. In the neantime the others were training as much as possible and bemonning their fate. Spirit like that will not help a ball club.

THE sale of Babe Ruth left a big hole in the team wouch has not been filled. Tarian was the big acc. a wonderful drawing eard, very popular with the Boston fans and no celebration was held in Fennay Park schen it was announced he had been purchased by the Yankees. said the fans are very sore and if the team comes back with a brand of mediocre baseball the surviving players will be handed the well-known

Tim Hendryx Will Help

BARROW has made one deal which brought to Boston Tim Hendryx, the most sought-for player in the minors last year, who led the American Association in hitting. Tim has been up before, playing with the Yankees and the St. Louis look for a successful season is bright.

Browns, but last year developed into one of the most vicious righthanded hitters. Dual meets have been arranged with the association has seen for some time. Hendryx will fit in with Hooper and Mike Menosky, formerly of Washington, in the outfield. Marsans, the Cuban flash, who once was the property of the New York club, has been turned over to the Sox and will be the utility outfielder. Hendryx was needed in the garden because of his righthanded hitting. Monosky and Hooper are lefthanders.

Stuffy McInnis is just as good as ever and will play first base. Eddie Foster who, with Menosky and Harry Harper, was traded here last winter, is booked to take care of second, and Everett Scott, the best fielding shortstop in the league, will stick to his old job. Oscar Vitt, who wants more money and can't get it, s likely to be forgotten for a time and Mike McNally, the speedy utility in-Selder, will take his place at third.

It is believed that Vitt will be disposed of before the season starts. Barrow, however, will not accept cash, but wants to use Oscar in trade for some needed players-mostly pitchers. He already has sent out feelers, but received little players—mostly pitchers. He already has sent out feelers, but received little encouragement. Still, he may be able to do something before April 14.

The pitching staff is very uncertain. Herb Pennock looks like the best of last year. He will be entered in the the bunch, although Harry Harper is coming along strong at the present writing. Waite Hoyt, the kid wonder who was tried out by the Giants a few years ago sent to the minors for more experience, has the makings of a good harl : and Barrow is banking on him to come through.

SAM JONES was considered a good pitcher in 1918, but last year had a very poor season. Therefore, he will have to go out and show some thing this year to get back into good standing. Joe Bush, whose arm went dead last year, is working out every day, but it is not known schether or not he has fully recovered. Much is expected of Garry Fortune, bought from the Eastern League, Garry had two tryouts with

"Cuddy" Murphy Needs Experience

THERE are a dozen burlers on the roster, but the most important is "Cuddy" ties, Princeton Prep, Episcopal A my and Delaware Interscholastics. the baseball team. He looks pretty good, but probably needs more experience. Karr, a righthander from Little Rock, and Flaherty, who looks and acts like Babe Ruth, are next in line.

Al. Walters is the only good catcher on the job and he will have to do most of the work if Schang does not report. Paddy Livingstone, who was with the Athletics last year as couch, has that same position with the Red Sox this year and is working hard with the youngsters. Mike Devine, of Pittafield, is a promising rookie,

Boston has been handleapped by had weather the same as Pittsburgh, but Chattanooga Team, of Southern the men are out on Wittington Field every day just the same. Barrow believes in one practice session but it is a tough one. Work starts at 11 a. m. and lasts

Perhaps the Red Sox will acquire some more players before the season starts and surprise some of the experts by stepping out with a first-class ball club. But players are needed, as the morale of the men is weakening and many are certain now that they are on a second division ball club.

BARROW has a very strenuous about his hands and before long he will be sympathizing with Comme Mack.

TASK FOR REFEREE IN TENDLER BOUTS Much Clinching by Opponents

Against Southpaw Terror, as Proved by Rose and Martin

By LOUIS H. JAFFE

Refereeing is going to be no simple task these days whenever Lew Tendler, the Logan lambaster, is one of the per-sons in fistic frivolities. It won't be that Lew, the Terrible, will make things miserable for the official, but, on the other glove, the party of the second part will be the guy to take "the joy out of life"—using one of our well-known Mr. Briggs's popular lines. Demonstrations of such a fact were put on last week, when the Messrs, Lou Grimson and Joe Griffo both had Lou Grimson and Joe Griffo both had to do a lot of separating and also use up a lot of breath vainly shouting "break!" First Johnny Rose gave a swell exhibition of a clinging vine. That was on Monday night, when Grimson had his work mapped out for him. Then at the National Club on Saturday night Johnny Martin, of New York, wrapped himself like a tight overcoat around the slashing southnaw-socking around the slashing southpaw-socking

For three rounds Martin, who also is a portside puncher, put on a good bout. He started off as if Tendler was an ordinary boxer—one never accused of being a knockerout. Johnny, fearless, punched with Lefty Looie, and showed all sorts of willingness to exchange

Holding Handleaps Tendler

However, after Tendler's crushing punches to the body had weakened the New Yorker Martin showed that he was a very good hanger-on; he knew just what to do in order to "go along" for the six rounds. All of which meant that Referee Griffo worked harder than his famous solar plexus punch, but Martin didn't believe in having the wind knocked out of him and nobody can hate him for that. Even though the Gotham gloveman's style of standing with his right arm and right foot out made it difficult for Tendler to land with his best blow—a left to the body—Martin further complicated matters for the Philadelphian by clinching, holding and clinging at every opportunity in the last three rounds.

Griffo was on the job separating

Martin from his vise-like clutches, but Joe was unable to work fast enough. Martin was faster. No sooner was he parted when he ran into another clinch and it was a continual physical job for Griffo in forcing the New Yorker to unhook his arms

Saturday night's bout was a very good work-out for Tendler. It was the second time he was forced to go the limit since recovering from his recent surgical operation, and three into prime shape to vie with the other stars in the first flight for Benny Leonard's crown.

son and Would Make Fine

Addition to Circuit When the Eastern Basketball League holds its spring meeting in a few weeks the magnates will receive an application for a franchise in the organization for the season of 1920-21 from the Coatesville, Pa., five, according to

Billy Dark, who was captain of this year's club, and around whom a strong club was built. The town is a good one for basket ball and on a number of occasions i was necessary to turn many way from games played there this season. The hall is a good one and the playing space exceptionally large. At present 1200 fans can be seated comfortably, but it is planned to cut down the playing space to the regulation and season. ing space to the regulation and even then there will be room for 1600 spec then there will be room for 1600 spec-tators.

This year's club will be greatly strengthened if the franchise is se-cured; in fact, the best than can be secured will be signed and Coatesville promises to be in the fight all the time. The securing of the franchise is another subject, but the town would certainly prove an asset and would fill in fine in place of Bridgeport, Conn.

Wednesday at Camden the opening game in the series between Scranton.

game in the series between Scranton of the Pennsylvania State League, and the Camden Eastern League champions. the Camden Eastern League champions, will be staged. On the following evening in Scranton the second clash will be played. The game promises to be played. The game promises to be hard-fought and will attract record crowds. The clubs are well-matched
