city would be an even greater catamity; a calamity which the city should not submit to.

To possess great pictures—pictures which will attract students and visitors to Philadelphia—would be of the greatest artistic and financial benefit to the city, as every country but this knows, and certain cities here have positive proof that art pays; but these collections, which after all are often nothing but an advertisement of their owners, have to be maintained at public expanse and, if accepted, will not make an art center. Only careful selection and refusal can do that, and such functions the present Philadelphia Art Jury is, if a majority vote is taken, incapable of exercising, nor would they dars to exercise it.

But the time for that is not yet. Still this year there will be three vacancies on the jury, and it will be. I believe, the duty and the opportunity of the Mayor to see that they are properly filled by men who are capable of judging works of art and independent enough to judge the works that may be submitted to them, and courageous enough to prevent the city collection being swamped of the handsome inonegraph issued by the Bairmount Park Art Commission. I have been unable to obtain, or even the interior plans of the gallery, Mr. Johnson's will, quoted also by Mr. McCain, says he, Mr. Johnson, wished a building constructed in the best way possible to exhibit pictures." So do we all: Why can we not then see the plans of the interior, where the pictures and other collections of art are to be displayed?

I know nothing of what has been done by the architects at our gallery, but I have a cher of the hardsome in the pictures. So do we all: Why can we not then see the plans of the interior, where the pictures and other collections of art are to be displayed?

I know nothing of what has been done by the architects at our gallery, but I played?

I know nothing of what has been done by the architects at our gallery, but I do know that there is not one single decently designed, decently lighted art gallery in the United States of America: and either, then, the architects of our new gallery are men of genius or they are afraid to show their plans. As on the plans the whole future of the adequate display of art in this city depends, we as citizens, and especially the artists and architects of the city, lave a right to see them, and not to may be a thing of beauty without and a dreary, dismal sepulchre within.

Will you, sir, be good enough to publish, or cause to be shown, these interior plans, that we may be spared the artiess catastrophe which has overtaken every American city which has an art gallery?

New, before a stone has been laid, and

Now, before a stone has been laid, and while the plans can be changed, if necessary, is the time to do so—for the minute the galleries are started it will be too late.

JOSEPH PENNELL.

Philadelphia, March 23.

C. L. Borie, Jr., one of the architects associated with Horace Trumbauer and C. C. Zantzinger in drawing the plans for the art museum, said today Mr. Pennell was mistaken in the supposition that copies of the plans cannot be obtained. The plans, he said, have been printed in newspapers and periodicals on numerous occasions, and may be obtained at his office.

Proportional Representation to the Editor of the Evening Public Ledges

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Willi you kindly tell me what is proportional representation?
Philadelphia, March 23.
Proportional representation is a method of electing representatives so that each political party is assured of its fair share of the representatives. This is done by electing the representatives at large or in districts, each of which elects several. In each such district the ballots are so marked and counted as to give each group its fair share of the Factory Trucks - Warehouse Trucks - Freight-house Trucks

No Noonday Boosting

If you are using tractors and trailer trucks you'll be interested in easy running Better Trucks equipped with Hyatt Roller Bearings for they require only 50% as much power as plain friction bearing trucks.

Storage battery tractors can operate all day therefore without the batteries being boosted (charged) at noon because there are no excessive destructive drains upon the batteries.

So little current is required to move Better Trailers at top speed that the overnight charge lasts all day. Order Better Trucks from your regular truck manufacturer.

A Valuable Ten Minutes

In ten minutes a Hyatt Engineer can tell you the essential facts about Better Trucks.

They'll be valuable minutes to your organization because you can learn a positive way to eliminate your internal transportation troubles.

You'll learn that Better Trucks are modern trucks built by modern manufacturers, who realize the value of giving their customers trucks with a higher first cost-trucks which withstand the roughest service for years and constantly save power, lubricant and maintenance.

Better Trucks get a great many of their money saving qualities from Hyatt Roller Bearings.

The Shortest Distance

A simple, natural method of transcribing stenographic notes is revolutionizing the typewriting work of the country's greatest offices. This is the

LINE-A-TIME Method of Transcribing

Not just a copyholder, but a method which correctly fixes the stenographer's reading area. Notes are placed directly in front of her, just back of the machine, on a bee line with her eyes and are raised automatically as required; thus assuring economic production.

No more headaches from eye strain. No more ragged nerves at the end of the day's work. No tired, lame backs or stooped shoulders. Instead a satisfied feeling, mental and physical, throughout your whole office—a happy, healthy, most efficient stenographic force.

Every one of the 60,000 LINE-A-TIMES now in use tells the same story. Ask any stenographer who uses the LINE-A-TIME; or any office manager who has given the LINE-A-TIME a trial.
