

CHAMPIONSHIP VICTORY OF PENN BASKETBALL FIVE TOOK WIND OUT OF WINDY CITY TEAM

FOUL SHOOTING WON U. S. TITLE FOR PENN

Victory Margin Over Chicago Possible Through Sweeney's Tossing; Tied in Field Goals

DANNY McNICOL HERO

By EDWIN J. POLLOCK THE importance of playing clean and living up to the rules of the game, no matter what the sport, was never more clearly emphasized than in the series for the collegiate basketball supremacy of America, which was won by Penn Saturday night, when the Quakers handed the quintet of Chicago 23-21 reverse at Princeton.

MIKE SWEENEY Penn's star forward, who led all the players in scoring in the series with Chicago. He made 44 points

It was just by the margin of fouls, called and successfully shot, that Red and Blue was raised to the highest point in the indoor game. The two teams were evenly matched in goals from the field, but by one-point more the 1920 Quaker five was able to accomplish what the 1908 quintet failed to do at Chicago.

Twelve years ago Pennsylvania took the intercollegiate championship in the East and challenged Chicago, the title-holders of the Middle West. The Maroon won both.

1908 or 1920? This is the open season for arguments concerning the relative greatness of the 1908 and 1920 Penn teams. Down through a drift of twelve years they still are talking of the Maroon team as their supporters, perhaps through a habit of the tongue. After another dozen campaigns have passed over our heads they still will be talking of Danny McNicol, Mike Sweeney and others. Both teams have their supporters, perhaps through a habit of the tongue.

But to get back to fouls. It is impossible to play a basketball game without having some fouls called, and usually the swifter the play the more fouls are committed, more so the personal than the technical. This has been a lesson to Chicago.

The value of a good foul shooter is another point brought out in boldface in the series. Birkhoff, the blond-haired Chicago forward, is good from the fifteen-foot mark, but he can't compare with the king of 'em all—George Sweeney.

Hubert Pack also will receive his diploma this coming June. It is fitting that his final year should be crowned with a championship.

with an American championship. He is a great guard. Of the regular five, McNicol, Roseman and Grave will be with us again next season.

Grave Surprises The insertion of Grave into the game Saturday was a real surprise and one which went a long way toward breaking down Chicago. Grave up until a few days ago was in the University Hospital with a case of measles. He was discharged, was frisked away to Atlantic City under cover. In the first two games Huntington proved his nerve and there are those who emphatically declare that he has it on any of his stellar brothers. It's a 10-1 shot that Danny will be elected captain of next year's five.

Roseman's playing in the series was a distinct surprise. The Penn forward came through in a manner that was entirely unexpected. He played like a veteran of years' experience. He caught six field goals, which were good enough to put him in a tie for third place in two-point shooting with Birkhoff.

Lois of credit for the showing of the Penn team this year and in the last several years belongs to Lon Jourdet, a coach who has produced more results than any other Quaker tutor. This season he has been ably assisted and advised by Eddie McNicol.

TEAM SCORES: Penn 23, Chicago 21. Individual scores: Sweeney 44, McNicol 23, Roseman 12, Gravel 10, Birkhoff 10.

HAGEN FAVORITE IN GOLF TOURNEY

Galaxy of Pro Stars Off Today in North and South Meet at Pinehurst

By SANDY MENIBLICK Pinehurst, N. C., March 29.—Walter Hagen, open golf champion of the United States, is favorite over the field to win the North and South open today and tomorrow by a clean, green margin of 100 bucks, as they say.

The Beau Brummell of the pros sold for $800 in the pool, his nearest rival being Jim Barnes, price $500. Mike Brady, runner-up at the national and famous shortman, sold for $450, with Emmet French fourth at 400 berries.

About twenty were sold in all, the total coming to $2100. All of the purse goes to Freddy McLeod that is won for a little bit. He must finish first. Fred is a former open champion, and the little Scotman from Columbia had a stout admirer in the auction, who paid $175 cash down for McLeod, and said he could have all the money if he won.

Freddy was still in a trance at the first tee this morning. "Twenty-one hundred bucks," he was heard to mutter, "a bonnie sum, laddie, are, a bonnie sum." Then the wee Scotland lilt on his ball as if he would plunk it square into that golden $2100 aurora that beckoned to him in the gloaming.

Never was there a more important open tourney than this in the early season. There was no better season furnished than a look over his morning on the auction, who paid $175 cash down for McLeod, and said he could have all the money if he won.

Las Vegas, George McLean, 9th National, Charlie Hoffman, Clarence Macken, Eddie J. Douglas, Edgar and, in fact, all of the other Quaker tutors, were swarming about the hole. "The kind of man numbered about sixty. They were as eager as they were earnest."

"I'll bet you I break 75," said Freddy Doyle. "I'll bet," emphatically replied his ever-present buddy, Tom Boyd, so another bet was awarded.

Many of the witnesses are laying odds on Emmet French to beat out the Southern Pines near here all winter and play superb northern game like a friend over the sandy slopes of Pinehurst. He knows the run up and the putting touch needed. "Honey," all shouted, "he's in it. In picking the winners Hagen gets all his distance from the other men on who in picking him, but they roll all over the place on the sun-baked course."

Rain yesterday helped a lot, though it cut out a chance for a full round in the morning. There was a lot of good stuff at the pool-drawing which was held at Barber's cottage, where Hagen is the favorite. "I know the run up and the putting touch needed. 'Honey,' all shouted, 'he's in it. In picking the winners Hagen gets all his distance from the other men on who in picking him, but they roll all over the place on the sun-baked course.'"

Barnes clicked a ball and there was dead silence. The crowd heard suddenly the familiar klip-klip of the golf ball going into the hole. "Honey," all shouted, "he's in it. In picking the winners Hagen gets all his distance from the other men on who in picking him, but they roll all over the place on the sun-baked course."

Had a lengthy interview with Mrs. Barlow and Mrs. Gavin yesterday. Their names were not among those forwarded by Secretary Vanderpool, U. S. G. C., as American entries in the 1920 championship of Great Britain. Results of interview in secret, but whatever happens we have this with it if you want it. The main pairing today were Edgeworth and Walter Hagen and Barnes were not paired.

CONTINUE INDOOR TENNIS TILT TODAY

Tilden Wins Twice on Opening Day in National Event in New York

New York, March 29.—Play was continued this morning in the men's national indoor tennis tournament at the Seventh Regiment Armory. Vincent Richards, the young holder of the title, William T. Tilden, 2d, S. Howard Voshell and other stars were among the winners the first day.

Richards had one and won a match by default. Tilden scored easily in the first and second rounds, defeating H. S. Parker, Cedarhurst, N. Y., 6-4, 6-2, and Jerry Land, the New York junior, 6-1, 6-2.

Voshell, twice champion, was very fast. He, in turn, outplayed A. J. Ostendorf, 6-1, 6-0, and G. G. Moore, Jr., Seventh Regiment, 6-4, 6-1. In the other matches Frank T. Anderson, runner for the junior championship, defeated Dr. William Rosenbaum, New York, 3-6, 6-0, 6-2, and Jay L. Anderson, 6-1, 6-1. In the second round G. C. Shafer, of Philadelphia, defeated Fred M. Letson, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, and Samuel Hardy, former Californian, defeated Gerald Emerson, Columbia University, 7-6, 6-2.

J. B. Fenno, the Harvard star, won twice. He outplayed H. N. Snow, 6-1, 6-2, and C. J. Post, Jr., 6-4, 6-1. B. W. Stahl, New York, defeated J. L. Werner, Princeton, 6-3, 6-4. The upset of the day was the overthrow of Allen Behr, New York, by Benjamin F. Letson, a youngster, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

WINS SWIM TITLE: Miss Irene Guest Stars at Turner's Aquatic Meeting. Another local mermaid made her entry into the hall of fame when Miss Irene Guest, a Philadelphia swimmer, competing unattached, upset the dope by capturing the 100 yard national women's junior indoor championship in easy fashion in the pool of the Philadelphia Turners, Broad and Columbia avenues, in thirty-one seconds. Her opponent, Miss Guest's swim was a splendid exhibition. Pressed throughout the distance by Miss Elizabeth Becker, of the Philadelphia Turners, the new title-holder was forced to the limit before she was able to turn in her victory.

BASEBALL OUTLOOK BRIGHT AT R. C. H. S.

Ninety-five Candidates Report to Coach Ferguson at Cahill Field

By PAUL PREP During the last week ninety-five aspirants for the baseball teams of the Roman Catholic High School reported to Coach Ferguson on Cahill field at Twenty-ninth and Cambria streets.

An Catholic High will enter a team in the Interscholastic League, one in the Catholic League and possibly a freshman team in the Catholic League, each and every man who came out and practiced daily last week has a chance to obtain a position on one of the teams. The three squads will include about forty-two players.

Starting with the catching position three men are working very hard to obtain this position, but at the present time Kennedy, the captain of last year's team, seems to have the call. O'Brien, a substitute catcher last year, will be the most if anything happens to Kennedy. O'Neill will also bear watching.

The pitching department is fairly strong with Colla McGee, Cullen, Retter, O'Connor McGovern, Butrus, Boyle, Crawley and Loughran fighting it out among themselves. Colla, at the present time, looks to be the star pitcher of the staff; he has a world of speed mixed with excellent change of pace. McEntee, a southpaw, promises to be the sensation of the Interscholastic League this year. Last year he was one of the all-scholastic outfielders.

This year he is going to try to make them all hustle to keep him from being an all-scholastic pitcher. The other pitching candidates are of equal caliber. It is possible there will be little to choose among them for the first month. The infield will be virtually new. Gleason, second baseman on last year's team, has been shifted to first, but if Gleason continues to show as well he has been performing, it is possible Carson may be sent back to second. Broadly, Lordan and Kelly, with Letson having a shade better of the argument.

RETAINS TENNIS RATING

Wallace F. Johnson Remains in Fifth Place, Davis Cup Invitations

New York, March 27.—The first ten ranking tennis players, with the exception of Ichihya Kumagae, of Japan, have been asked to inform the Davis Cup committee if they can go to England or Australia to play in the international series, the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association announced at the close of its spring meeting.

The ranking players notified are William M. Johnston, of San Francisco, national champion; William T. Tilden, second; Philadelphia; R. Lindley Murray, Niagara Falls; Wallace F. Johnson, Philadelphia; R. Norris Williams, second; Boston; Roland Roberts, San Francisco; Charles S. Carland, Pittsburgh; Walter T. Hayes, Chicago, and Watson M. Washburn, New York.

Philadelphia Wins: St. Augustine, Fla., March 29.—In the final of the winter championship of Florida on the St. Augustine Links Hugh L. Wilcox, a former champion of South Florida, defeated George W. Moses, of Rutland, Vt., 4-1 up and 2 to play in the morning round. It was purely five and nine, ending on the eighteenth all even.

Joe Welling, formerly of Chicago and now of Philadelphia, won by a wide margin over Pete Hartley, of New York, at the National Saturday night. For two rounds the Dane held Welling even, but in the last four frames Joe set the pace, although many ringers believed that the westerner did not bring his hardest punches nor his best speed into play.

Eddie M. Andrews was knocked out in the second round by Young Joe Berrell. Despite a knockdown for the count of seven in the third round, Frankie Clark came back with lots of speed and ended up matters with Jimmy Jordan. Jimmy Gibbons and Joe Augustis also battled to a draw. Jimmy Cullen won from Flinkey Kaufman.

Telephone Rate-Making: THE day of guessing is gone! Forty years experience is clearly shown that telephone rates must be sufficient to afford a revenue that will pay all expenses, as well as return a reasonable profit to the owners. The cost of a telephone plant is now accurately known, and so is the life of its various parts. Their replacement is a constant expense. Our present rates are based on the cost and expense figures of 1911, 1912 and 1913, and they do not measure up to the present day conditions. They afforded only a small return in those good old days. Today they do not keep "the wheels" of the industry moving. Rates just the same as before the war will not give satisfactory telephone service to the people of Pennsylvania in these times. They must be made adequate in order to enable us to keep the service up.

SPORTS AMONG AMATEURS

ACTION is the word at the new home of the Marshall E. Smith & Bros. famous baseball team. Carpenters are busy putting up the old Harrogate grandstands and bleachers which have been purchased by the store team and when, on May 1, which is the day set for the opening game, the first ball is thrown out by one of Kensington's belles, the grounds will present as pretty and attractive baseball home as is possessed by any of the semipro-clubs in this vicinity.

Manager Carroll has not yet booked his opening attraction, but it will be one of the stronger clubs and on a par with the character of the attractions that have been and will be booked up for the season.

The Smith team will play twilight ball on Tuesdays and Thursdays and at the regular time on Saturdays. Among the teams that have been booked are the Kleis Chocolate, which plays on the Smith grounds on Tuesday, June 22, and the Smith team will play a return game at Elizabethtown on Wednesday, June 23. Manager Carroll's team will play the Brooklyn Royal Giants on Thursday, June 3, the Paterson Silk Stockings on Thursday, June 10; the
