FAIRBANKS WEDS MARY PICKFORD

Secret Ceremony Performed in Los Angeles Parsonage Last Sunday

"DOUG" IS 36, HIS BRIDE 26

By the Associated Press
Los Angeles, March 31.—Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks have been married. It became known here yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed last Friday night and the ceremony was performed at 10:30 p. m. Sunday by the Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, pastor of the Temple Baptist Church, at his parsonage.

Those present included Robert Fairbanks, a brother of the bridegroom, who was best man; the bride's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Smith; the Rev. Henry Miles Cook, assistant pastor of the Temple Baptist Church, and R. S. Sparks, deputy county clerk, who issued the license. Margery Daw, a motion picture actress, was bridesmaid.

The bride was dressed in white. After the ceremony the minister read passages from the Bible to the Epistles to the Ephesians.

Spending Quiet Honeymoon
It is understood the couple spent immediately from the minister's home to Mr. Fairbanks' residence in Beverly Hills, near Los Angeles, where it is intended to spend a quiet honeymoon.

Mr. Fairbanks was divorced by Mrs. Daniel J. Sully, of Rhode Island, about sixteen months ago. Two or three days later Mrs. Fairbanks was married to James Evans, Jr., a broker in Pittsburgh.

Miss Pickford divorced Owen Moore also a motion picture star, about six weeks ago, on charges of desertion. Neither Mr. Moore nor Mr. Fairbanks appeared today. The suits brought against them, nor were they represented by counsel, although Mr. Fairbanks filed an answer denying his wife's allegations.

On the night of her return here from Minden, Nev., after two or three days devoted to the trip home, passed largely in doing newspaper interviews, Miss Pickford gave out a statement that she "would never marry again, but would devote the remainder of her life to motion pictures."

Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks were married late Sunday night at the home of the Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, pastor of the Temple Baptist Church, Los Angeles. Mr. Fairbanks was divorced November 30, 1918, while Miss Pickford divorced Owen Moore six weeks ago.

FISKE INTIMATES DANIELS IS UNFIT

Lacks Broad View and Concentrates on Details, Admiral Tells Senators

FLETCHER STAFF AT ODDS UNDER BOROUGH CHARTER

By the Associated Press
Washington, March 31.—The navy was unprepared for war in 1917 because of the "mental and temperamental characteristics of the man at its head and of the policy he pursued as the result of those characteristics."

Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, retired, declared today before the Senate committee investigating the navy's conduct of the war.

Much of Admiral Fiske's statement was devoted to a review of his differences with Secretary Daniels.

"Previous training" of Mr. Daniels, he said, was such as to prevent a "broad and profound view" of the needs of the navy as a whole, adding that the secretary devoted too much of his attention to details, usually relating to personnel.

"To prevent unpreparedness in the future the most important step is for the public to insist that the man at the head of the navy shall be imbued with the spirit of the navy, highly educated, open-minded and acquainted with the principles on which naval readiness is based and by following which preparedness can be secured."

Friction in Rear Admiral W. B. Fletcher's staff at Best "necessarily affected the efficiency of operations," Lieutenant J. A. Carey, the admiral's flag secretary, testified today at hearings before the naval board investigating Fletcher's removal from the fleet command by Rear Admiral Sims.

Captain Thomas P. MacGruder, Fletcher's chief of staff, apparently never became fully reconciled to shore service, to which he was ordered, Carey said, and the friction resulting from this prevented close co-operation.

"The atmosphere never cleared up to the time of Admiral Fletcher's detachment," Carey said, adding that he believed Fletcher did everything in his power to smooth out the differences.

GLASSBORO VICTORY CLAIMED BY MEAD

Former Township Chairman Says He Has Lead of Three Votes for Mayor

Robert Mead, chairman of the former township committee of Glassboro, N. J., claims re-election over Captain E. M. Duffield, in one of the hottest elections in the history of the town. Mead claims a plurality of three votes. A total of 656 votes was polled. The election was the first held under the recently granted borough charter.

There is alleged to have been an error in the count of the first precinct, which returned a majority of twenty-seven votes for Mead. A recount will be asked on this basis. Duffield carried the second precinct by twenty-four votes.

Four Republicans on the Mead ticket were elected to Council, while two Democrats on the same ticket were defeated. Two Democrats on the Duffield ticket were elected to Council. The Mead forces claim all the other offices.

The four Republicans elected to Council on the Mead ticket are Lawrence W. Siekler, Samuel D. Beckett, William F. Carey and Courtland H. Shultz.

The two Democrats elected on the Duffield ticket are Oscar F. Carr and Frank Sapplee.

The election marked the wind-up of the most spirited political campaign in the history of this old town, which was founded in 1775 and which up to the present time has been under the township form of government. Yesterday's election automatically ousted the old township committee.

CLEAR BOOKING AGENCIES

U. S. Trade Commission Dismisses Charges of Unfair Methods

Washington, March 31.—(By A. P.)—The complaint of unfair methods of competition against vaudeville booking agencies was dismissed today by the Federal Trade Commission, but it was announced that the evidence in the case had been referred to the Department of Justice.

The commission said the evidence failed to establish violation either of the federal trade commission or the Clayton acts.

"The subject matter of the complaint," its announcement said, "seems to involve the features of combination and restraint of trade rather than individual methods of competition or contracts, and, therefore, possibly is within the scope of the Sherman act and the enforcement of which lies with the attorney general."

MORDEN GETS BADGE

Former Army Associates Give Street Cleaning Chief Gold Emblem

Colonel F. D. Morden, chief of the bureau of street cleaning, was at noon given a gold badge, bearing the inscription "City of Philadelphia," by his former associates in the army.

The presentation took place at the United States army supply base, Greenwich Point, Captain C. H. Larrabee of the quartermaster corps, made the formal presentation, who were associated with Colonel Morden while he was constructing quartermaster in the Philadelphia district, contributed the badge.

Colonel Morden appeared in civilian clothes. He was mustered out of the military service March 25.

PROBES VICE "PROTECTION"

Grand Jury Inquires Into Charge Against N. Y. District Attorney

New York, March 31.—(By A. P.)—A grand jury in New York City today inquired into the charges against N. Y. District Attorney James E. Smith, assistant district attorney, who sought to shield certain persons of the underworld and had proposed to split the proceeds of the sale of such protection were investigated by the grand jury.

The charges were made by Grand Jury Inspector Henry in six affidavits.

The jury yesterday exonerated Mr. Smith of a charge that he had participated in the division of $20,000 bribe for quashing an indictment for gambling against Arnold Rothstein.

It was stated at the district attorney's office that Mr. Smith, if exonerated of the H. H. charges, would present evidence against Inspector Henry to the regular March grand jury with a view to indictment for criminal libel.

WOULD LIFT TAX ON HOMES

Exemption of Buildings and Heavy Levy on Lots Suggested to Mayor

The stimulation of home building by exempting houses and other buildings from taxation and increasing taxation on vacant lots is suggested to Mayor Moore in a letter from Carl Brannin, representative of the Plum Plan League in this city.

"The tax rate on all land should be increased to provide the same aggregate municipal revenue," he wrote. "This would mean that vacant land in the city would pay the same taxes as improved land of the same value. We would stop penalizing citizens for building up the city and meeting the housing needs of the people."

WHITE HORSE PIKE CLOSED

Section From Berlin to Absecon Now Being Repaired

Woodward, N. J., March 31.—The South Jersey schedule of road work here by the State Highway Department follows:

The main shore road will be closed from the present end of the concrete to the road to Avalon, a distance of five miles, probably all summer, except that the lower end will be done first and should be open to the courthouse by June. The White Horse pike will be closed or partly closed from Berlin south to Absecon, so that it will not be practicable for Wildwood tourists to use the pike.

These two sections are the only ones that will be touched this year, so far as is known.

LITTLEHALES QUILTS POST

Resigns as Chief Field Deputy to Enter Business

Thomas Littlehales, chief field deputy of the Internal Revenue Department, retired from his office in the Federal Building today. He is the fifth deputy to leave the government service in this city in the last year.

The others who resigned from federal service are James T. Cortelyou, chief postal inspector; Francis Fisher Kane, district attorney; and Todd Daniel, head of the Bureau of Investigation. Daniel was injured only slightly.

The truck, owned by the Supplement-Willis-Jones Co., 3336 Market street, was coming down a grade on Germantown avenue astride the trolley tracks. Zimmerman, who was employed as a helper on the truck, was in the rear. Quinn tried to clear the trolley tracks and make a corner at the same time. The machine had gained momentum in descending the grade and the force with which it was traveling caused it to turn completely over. Zimmerman was dead when he was picked up onlookers.

Harry Hampshire, twenty-four years old, is in Germantown Hospital with a fractured skull received when he fell under the wheels of an ice cream truck at Thirty-third street and Midvale avenue this morning. William Bonner, 235 South Van Pelt street, was held to await the result of Hampshire's injuries.

HELPER KILLED IN CRASH

Autotruck Overtakes on Germantown Ave. Tracks—Driver Hurt

George Zimmerman, twenty-two years old, 431 Conestoga street, was instantly killed today when an autotruck in which he was riding turned over on Germantown avenue opposite the Pennsylvania Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, Mt. Airy.

Joseph Quinn, eighteen, of 4947 Folson street, the driver, was pinned under the radiator of the machine. He was injured only slightly.

GIVES UP AT BRIDE'S WISH

Penitentiary Fugitive Surrenders. Escaped Three Years Ago

At the request of his bride, an English girl, whom he married during the war, Walter A. Dress, a former Philadelphia, yesterday appeared at the Western Penitentiary, at Rockville, Pa., and gave himself up to the authorities to resume a term cut short by his escape three years ago.

Dress was sentenced to a term of two to three years in Butler county, in February, 1917, for burglary, aggravated assault and battery and larceny. On August 3 of the same year, he escaped; enlisted in the army, went to England and was married in Southampton. After the war he came to this country. His wife, when she learned that he was a fugitive from justice urged him to surrender. She has since been supporting herself in San Diego, Calif.

NEW PLANET REPORTED

Announcement of Discovery Made by Belgian Astronomer

Cambridge, Mass., March 31.—(By A. P.)—The discovery of a planet by the astronomer Solis, of Barcelona, was announced at the Harvard College observatory today in a cablegram from Professor Leconte, of Belgium.

A subsequent cablegram from Professor Leconte indicated that some doubt had been felt at first as to whether the planet was a new one to astronomers or was not, in fact, No. 9, one of the long list of small planets previously mapped.

Perry's—The Store of A Thousand Types!

Many clothing stocks are based on one certain range of sizes, figured like the schedule on a weighing machine:

AGES	25-29	30-34	35-39	40-44
5 Feet, 7 Inches	147	150	152	155
5 Feet, 8 Inches	151	154	157	160
5 Feet, 9 Inches	155	159	162	165
5 Feet, 10 Inches	159	164	167	170

Now, what you ought to be and what you are may be different matters. In fact, usually they are. If human conduct was uniformly good there would be no need for goals. And if all men were built in one mould, you could buy a suit of clothes as easily as you buy a collar. But we haven't been fifty years making clothes without learning that men must be tailored according to type. There are short men and tall, lean men and stout, figures that are young and lithe and figures that are settled, to say nothing of a hundred and one variations in arm lengths, leg lengths, chests, hips, waists, and shoulder blades. These we have provided for in a series of independent models, tailored according to type variations, which reduces to a minimum the need of alterations, no matter what type you belong. You don't have to be a perfect fit when you come to Perry's, but you will be when you go out.
