GRANT LIQUOR LICENSES Renewals Will Be Granted Unless Protested

Judges Brey and Staake, who comprise the liquor license court for the license year starting June 1, announced that all applications for renewals would be granted, unless remonstrances were filed. In such cases a hearing will be held and the case determined on its merits.

The hearings today were on applications for transfer of existing licenses from one person to another or from one location to another. That the saloonkeepers are suffering the same fate as householders who are having their properties sold, compelling them to move out, was shown by the large number of applicants who complained that they were forced to move and asked leave to take the liquor-selling privilege with them.

The "White Elephant," a cafe at 44 North Eleventh street, owned by Harold McGillicuddy, brother of "Connie Mack," manager of the Athletics, was a victim of such circumstances, and Judges Brey and Staake permitted McGillicuddy to remove the license to Twenty-fifth and Huntingdon streets. Owen McGillicuddy, Seventeenth and Market streets, was a victim of high rents, and he petitioned the judges to transfer the license to Fifty-second and Master streets. D. Clarence Gibbonay, president of the Law and Order Society, presented a remonstrance against the removal, signed by fourteen residents of the neighborhood surrounding the new location. The judges reserved their decision as to this application.

HUSBAND FOUND SHOT

Police Catch Wife Running From House—Charge Her With It Clifford Hubbard, forty-three years old, Eleventh street near South, was found in his home early this morning by Sergeant Wirtschafter, of the Twelfth and Pine streets station, with a bullet wound in his breast. He said his wife shot him.

Wirtschafter, who was standing at the corner of Eleventh and South streets, heard a shot about 1 o'clock this morning. He ran in the general direction of the report and caught the wife of Hubbard running from the house. Entering the place, he found Hubbard on the floor, groaning. Hubbard said the shooting followed an argument with his wife.

Hubbard was taken to the Pennsylvania Hospital. The wife will be heard before Magistrate Imber today in the Second and Christian streets station. Hubbard and his wife are negroes.

URGE LEGION MEN TO PAY THEIR DUES

County Committee Will Call for Action by Post Officers Wednesday

PLAN MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

An appeal to officers of the American Legion in Philadelphia to urge post members to pay all the 1920 dues immediately will be made at the monthly meeting of the county committee in the City Club, 313 South Broad street, Wednesday evening.

While the former service men have found themselves in many instances pressed for funds, the posts of the Legion have fixed their dues with this fact in mind, and the dues have been relatively small for this character of organization. The highest post dues in this county, for example, including the $1 national, fifty cents state and twenty-five cents for the county organization, are $6.75 a year. Of this amount the post receives $5. There are other posts, such as Benjamin Franklin, No. 485, in which the dues have been fixed at $3 a year.

State and county Legion leaders want as many as possible of the 1919 membership (which was on a fifty-cent basis) to pay present dues so that in the membership drive from April 17 to May 2, the efforts may be directed throughout the city and state to the obtaining of new members, rather than to the revival of the old ones.

In an effort to stimulate interest in the Sixteenth ward Post No. 306, Commander John F. Rieder has arranged a smoker for Thursday evening, April 22, in the Garfield Republican Club, 1126 North Third street, to which all interested men in that community are invited.

Officers of all posts of the Seventh (West Philadelphia) district of the legion will dine in the Normandie Hotel tomorrow night, and plan participation in the membership canvass. This conference will be attended by officers of the county committee.
