Fresh, Delightful Afternoon Dresses —Mostly Samples and All Special at $25

It's great fun to choose from a gathering like this, for you'll find but one, two or three dresses of a kind, so the variety is most interesting. The frocks are of—
 —figured Georgette in dark colorings;
 —plain navy Georgette embroidered in silver;
 —embroidered taffeta and taffeta combined with Georgette;
 —of taffeta trimmed with loose straps of grosgrain ribbon;
 —crepe de chine with a figured Georgette crepe bodice.

Very Fine Tricolette Dresses $39.50 and $55—About Half Price

These dresses are from a house which makes only dresses of the highest types, a house whose influence is so powerful that it can almost make a fashion. Only the very finest materials are used and all the little touches of trimming, lining and finish are perfect. Of tricolette, minuet and Paulette (and a few handsome things of Georgette), these dresses are of the type that will appeal to women who know and appreciate beautiful clothes. The principal trimmings are embroidery done in silk, tinsel or wool, and of most of the dresses there is but one of a kind. They are in brown, tan, navy, peacock, white, taupe and Copenhagen. Sizes 16 to 44 in the group.

And Now Come the Cheery Summer Frocks

Twenty-five delightful dresses of French organdie—quite often figured patterns over a plain foundation—sheer dotted Swiss, trimmed with embroidered net and of linen that is braided or trimmed with white pique. They are fresh as can be and quite special at $25.

Another group is of airy frocks of dotted Swiss, made with vests and apron fronts of tucked organdie edged with lace. These are in blue, lilac, pink, green and maize. Special at $23.50.

In addition there are about a thousand dresses of serge, tricotine, wool jersey and foulard, much underpriced. $10, $15, $17.50, $20 and $22.50.

RICH WIDOW OF 57 WEDS CLERK OF 39

Mrs. David Ireland, Whose First Husband Was J. C. Packer, Off on Honeymoon

LOOKED UPON FAVORABLY

Following the announcement of their wedding in New York, Mrs. James Cameron Packer, of Chestnut Hill, widow of a wealthy lawyer of Sunbury, Pa., and David Ireland, a New York clerk, left today for San Francisco, where they will start on a tour of the western coast. The bride is fifty-seven years old and the bridegroom is thirty-nine. Mrs. Ireland's home is in Chestnut Hill, at 450 West Chestnut avenue, where she lived with her niece, Mrs. Clinton B. Coleman. Mrs. Coleman said today the wedding was looked upon favorably by all members of the family and predicts that Mrs. Ireland will be very happy. Although the ceremony was performed in New York on Tuesday, announcement of it was not made until last night. According to members of the family, the bride always preferred the company of the younger social set and she and her present husband twelve years her junior were the guests of the Rev. and Mrs. George A. Atchison, rector of St. Matthew's Protestant Episcopal Church of that place, following the death of Mrs. Ireland's husband in 1919, closed the Sunbury mansion, and moved to 450 West Chestnut avenue. Sunbury she broke her former ties, receiving thus the widow's share, of $500,000, instead of the $250,000 he had bequeathed her. Her attorney was the late James Searle Dantley, Pa. The bride, before her first marriage, was Miss Mary Caroline Packer, one of the belles of Bristol, Pa. She had relatives in Sunbury, often visited them as girl and there met James Cameron Packer. They were married soon after, though their family names were the same they were not related by blood. Mrs. Packer had just returned from a tour of Europe following his graduation from the Yale law school. His father, John B. Packer, who had succeeded the William Cameron and Packer fortune through marriage, was a leader of the section. The entire fortune of $1,000,000 was inherited by James Packer, his mother and sisters receiving annuities only.

STOWAWAY IS DEPORTED

Englishman, Detained Three-Months at Gloucester, Loses Legal Fight. After three months' detention at Gloucester because he came here as a stowaway, Robert J. Rockford, a young Englishman, was deported today with two other aliens, on the American liner Haverford. Rockford's wife, a Boston girl, when he married in Boston, severed her ties with her parents and remained in Boston until her husband was able to make a legal entrance into the country. Rockford left for England last July to visit relatives. He had to wait six months for his American passport. In January when he wanted to return he feared another lengthy delay and secreted himself aboard the American liner Apples, which brought him to this port. The other aliens deported were Albert Casner, a Russian Jew, and James Angles, a Scotchman. They also came here as stowaways.

DIPLOMAS GIVEN TO 23

Others Receive Certificates at W. I. of I. Graduation Exercises. Graduating exercises of the Wanamaker Institute of Industry were held last night in Bethany Hall. Twenty diplomas and twenty-three certificates were awarded to twenty-three students. It was the thirty-ninth commencement of the institute. Harry E. Paisley, treasurer of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway, delivered the address to the graduates. High Black presented the diplomas and certificates; John McFaul and Albert Kueh, of the public speaking class, delivered short addresses, and the Rev. George F. Pottowat pronounced the invocation.

SALES CLUB ENTERTAINS

Newspapermen Guests and Speakers at Dinner for Co-operation. Newspapermen were guests at a dinner given last night by the Philadelphia Sales Club at the Adelphia Hotel. The dinner was a co-operation of newspapermen and members of the club were urged. Among the guests who spoke were Edward S. Bowman, Rowe Stewart, John H. A. Beamsish and T. J. Young. Mrs. H. A. Beamsish, of the J. H. Young Advertising Agency, and William H. Young, of the St. Clair Advertising Agency, also made short addresses.

There Is a Distinct Trend Toward Capes and Wraps

Little wonder, since their materials are so soft and their lines so graceful! Women who wear the new things first are asking for such wraps every day. Between $25 and $55 there are twenty different styles in serge, velour, goldtone and silver-tone. The accordion-pleated serge capes at $25 are remarkably good. The wrap that is sketched is of suede velour in tan and Pekin, lined throughout with silk. $49.50. From $55 to $125 and upwards you will find the handsome wraps of duvetyne, fortuna, satin, vel de cygne, Bolivia and duvet de laine. Their yoke lines are wonderfully interesting and the arm-openings are often marked by embroidery done in chenille or tinsel. Fringe and fur trim the more luxurious wraps.

New Sports Coats Are Arriving at a Great Rate—Their Prices Start at $15

Every woman needs one black or navy blue skirt. It saves a suit skirt a great amount of wear and is pretty with a separate coat. Well-tailored skirts of serge, Poirer twill, tricotine, wool poplin and gabardine are made in a great many ways. Some are plainly tailored, some are laid in box or accordion pleats. In regular and extra sizes there is an excellent assortment at $7.50 to $35.
