Nancy Wynne Tells of Smart Clothes Seen on Chestnut Street. Princess Cantacuzene to Speak at Home of Mrs. Van Rensselaer Next Thursday

HAVE you seen that perfectly stunning small toque of dark blue leather Mrs. Nicholas Biddle is wearing? It is rather close fitting with a peaked crown and the upturned edge of leather is bound with another strip of the same as a finish. Scarlet velvet poppies are fastened down close to the edge of the toque at intervals of several inches apart. It is most becoming and with it she was wearing a close-fitting dotted harem veil of black. The frock worn with the toque the day I saw her was of dark blue serge, beautifully embroidered in red wool and she had a wide fur stole about her shoulders. She was wearing a pair of earrings with dangling ends of platinum and diamonds.

I WAS so glad to hear that Alix Dolan had recovered from the injury to her back, sustained in a fall from her horse down in Allen this late winter, and was able to attend the party given by Mrs. Neelson Brown, on Wednesday. Mrs. Brown had intended to sail in February, but was obliged to postpone the trip because of the illness of her son, who was hurt, and so she waited until she was able to go with her, as that had been the original plan. Mrs. Brown, who is a resident of Mr. Brown's home, Mrs. Charles E. Cox, and Mr. Alexander Brown Cox, of this city, and a sister-in-law of Mrs. John A. Marko, who has been living in Paris for a number of years. She came over to Newport last summer to visit her daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Cox, who has been staying in Philadelphia and New York most of the time since going South in the extreme weather.

I THINK that meeting at Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer's next Thursday afternoon will be extremely interesting. You know, the Princess Cantacuzene is a well-known and distinguished woman as Nellie Grant, a granddaughter of President Grant, will be there and will speak to an audience of invited guests that has given her house for the occasion, and the talk will be held under the auspices of the Russian committee of the University of Pennsylvania. Mrs. George Wharton Pepper is chairman, and the Princess Cantacuzene subcommittee, of which Mrs. George H. Lorimer is chairman. Mrs. Van Rensselaer, Mrs. Pepper and Mrs. Lorimer, the women who will receive will be Mrs. Dobson Altman, Mrs. George Fales Baker, Mrs. Edward Biddle, Mrs. Constance Biddle, Mrs. Horace Brock, Mrs. J. Gardner Cassatt, Mrs. Robert K. Cassatt, Mrs. William J. Clobber, Mrs. Edward Walter Clark, Mrs. C. G. Groom, Mrs. Arthur H. Lee, Miss Nina Lee, Mrs. Thomas Robins, Mrs. J. Bertram Lipnietz, Mrs. J. Willis Martin, Mrs. Robert von Mowbray, Mrs. H. S. Prentice Nichols, Mrs. Clifford Pinchot, Mrs. Cornelius Stevenson, Miss Caroline S. Sinker, Mrs. J. Madison Taylor, Mrs. Barclay Vanuxem, Mrs. William G. Warren, Mrs. William J. Wilcox and Mrs. Harrison Wright.

The princess will speak on Russia today. I feel that she is a great authority on the subject and am most anxious to hear her.

You know, she had a most wonderful time when the family had to move from one house to another and she was taken to stay at grandma's till they were all settled in the new home. The nurse brought her back, and though she saw mother and daddy there and familiar things about it, it was all terribly strange and she sort of flinched in the doorway, and looked around and then her face lighted up and the little voice cried out, "Oh, baby's cribbie, baby's little chair!"
