Republicans for Deliberately Failing to Pass Enabling Law

WANT ASSEMBLY CALLED

Harrisburg, April 16 .- Charging that the Republican party of Pennsylvania at the last session of the Legislature deceived the women of the state by leading them to believe that it was supporting the suffrage cause, and then studiously avoided the enactment for legislation making it possible for women to rote, the Democratic state committee vesterday demanded of Governor Sproul the Legislature as soon as the federal equal suffrage amendment is ratified and enactment of needed legislation to enable women to take advantage of to enable women to take advantage of the federal constitutional amendment.

The committee met in special session here for the purpose of opening the way under the rules of the party for the recognition of women in the party's councils and authorized Lawrence H. Rupp, state chairman, to designate a standing committee or appoint a special committee to encourage the women of the state in organizing themselves for the advancement of the governmental principles to which the party is pledged.

The committee last night announced the organization of a women's state committee.

Mrs. George B. Tulladge, of Philadelphia, has been chosen acting chairman and Mrs. L. H. Budd, of Philadelphia, as acting secretary and treasurer. Other women on the committee are Mrs. John J. McCormick, of Bridgeport, and Mrs. Edward Beecher Finck, Mrs. Edward Cassatt, Mrs. Wynne James, Mrs. T. H. Lane, Mrs. Edward P. Davis and Miss Margaret Klingelsmith, all of Philadelphia.

Democratic leaders here yesterday put no faith in the expressed belief of William I. Schaffer, attorney general, that he has found a way to give the vote to jiam I. Schaher, attorney general, that he has found a way to give the vote to women without enabling legislation, and it was said that the expected opinion of the attorney general could not cover the neglect of the Legislature, and that this fact was recognized by the Republical leaders.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the committee, but none of the nineteen anti-Palmer members was present. A resolution offered by Bruce F. Sterling, chairman of the Palmer campaign committee, indorsed the United States district attorney for the states of campaign committee, indorsed the United States district attorney for President, and it was adopted with

Blames Uncle Bim Blames Uncle Bim

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger:
Sir—I hope this will give you some clue of the mystery woman which appears at Gomps's window.

I think that the mystery woman is after money, because when Uncle Bim saw the face at the window he ran away and left the Gumps a suitcase full of money. Uncle Bim must have killed this woman which appears at the window and took the money away from her and gave it to the Gumps.

Hoping this will end the mystery, I ued my brains out to think of this which I am sending you. Again I hope this will end the mystery.

Sees Profiteering in P. R. T. Rentals for the use of the franchises. If we could begin again with new france chiese it would be easy. No one seems to see how we can be freed without at unlawful confiscation.

As a layman in such matters, I raise a question. Is not a franchise property? And when property rights interfere with the development of the state in any of its branches, is not the law of eminent domain applicable? Why cannot these ancient franchise rights be condemned. a proper appraisal be made, and payment given that the city may come back to its own?

The digest given in today's Evening Public Ledger telling of rentals above 70 per cent in two instances and over 40 per cent in several more indicates an outrageous extortion. It looks like profiteering of a scandalous character. There can be no equity in their properties justifying such a charge. Why can we not see such properties condemned in the city's interest? I want to know. ARTHUR C. BALDWIN. Philadelphia, April 8.

Committee of 100 Ignores "Watchdog" Heston in Atlantic City Gambling Probe

HE WON'T BE SET ASIDE

Atlantic City, April 16 .- Possibilities of a serious rift among reform crusaders in the campaign to put Atlantic City's government on a business basis loomed large on the political horizon. It came in the form of a statement from Alfred M. Heston, former "watchdog" of the municipal treasury, one of the first candidates to enter the fight against a continuance of the so-called "City Hall Ring."

Thus far the committee of one hun-

Thus far the committee of one hun-dred, organized this week by hotel owners and church leaders to pick ar dates to fight the machine for election as city commissioners on May 11, have not even mentioned the name of Mr. Heston. Nor was he even referred to in the town meeting on Monday night, despite his leading part in the campaign against gambling in Chelsea and other shore evils which a busy grand jury is probing.

Ex-"Watchdog" Heston yesterday announced he is in the commission fight to stay, no matter whether the commit-
