

British and Penn Relay Teams Busy on Franklin Field : P. M. C. Faculty and Girls in Overalls

CHINESE GIRLS of New York join the Overall Club. The little tots are Poldi and Mimi Long Tack Sam. These official uniforms need shortening.

AGNEW MacBRIDE, a lawyer, member of Penn's class of 1882, at the age of sixty years, does the 100-yard stretch in 11 1/2 seconds. He is seen on Franklin Field three times a week.

REAL OVERALLS, and borrowed, in a determination to give the high cost of clothing a jolt. The girls are Miss Helen Bradson (left) and Miss Alberta Griffith, the first female members of the overall crusaders in Philadelphia.

SIX OXFORD-CAMBRIDGE SPEED MEN, who arrived on Saturday from England, were photographed as they sprinted at Franklin Field yesterday afternoon. They express much confidence in their relay team.

SCORES OF STUDENTS were on Franklin Field yesterday afternoon watching Penn's relay team in their workout. Several private trials will be made during the week. Eight of the picked men can be seen on the cinder path.

THE NEW BRITISH AMBASSADOR, Sir Auckland Geddes and Lady Geddes, photographed on a coast guard cutter, to which they were transferred from the ship on which they arrived from England yesterday. Lady Geddes once lived on Staten Island, New York.

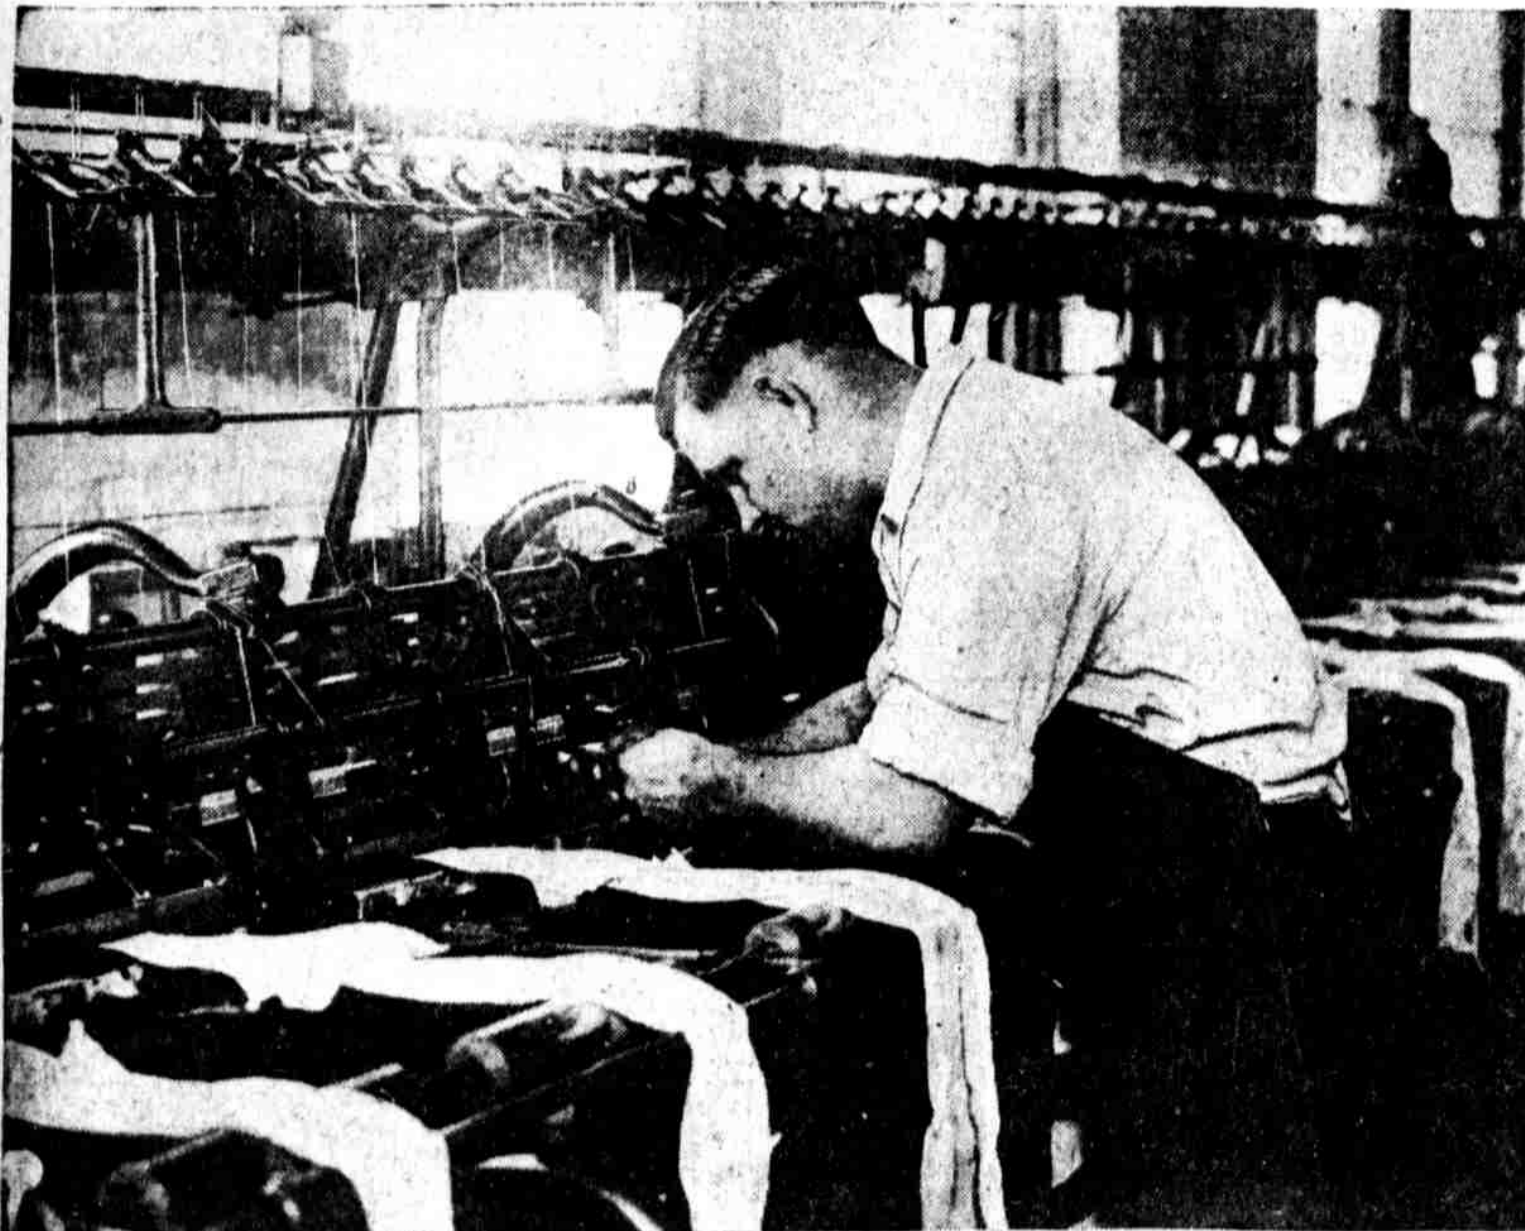

HURDLING a height of 5 feet 6 inches at Pinehurst, N. C. This remarkable jump was accomplished by a horse owned by Mrs. Warner, of New York. The rider was Hegarty.

THIS IS NOT A CHAIN GANG. But it is the Faculty Overalls Club of the Pennsylvania Military College, at Chester. The club was organized just at the opening of the school hour yesterday morning. The faculty group is headed by Prof. Earl K. Wallace (left) and Dr. L. P. Wyman, dean of the college (right).
